The Multnomah County prisoners will continue to work on the county roads while under his control, says Sheriff while under his control, says sheard.

The decision was that the efforts to invoke the referendum on several state laws are tregular, and among these is the petitives on the bill effecting the control. on the bill affecting the control of prisoners. As the initiative petitions are declared irregular, the law passed at the last Legislature giving county prisoners into the keeping of the Sheriff will become effective.

Notwithstanding all of the persecution to which I have been subjected by the County Court in this matter, I am still ready and willing to co-operate with the court and carry out a policy most advantageous to the taxpayers. Under the decision, I will of course expect to have the prisoners turned over to me, but contrary to the reports of those who have been harassing me, they will be kept at work on the roads, Sheriff Will Not Suc.

The report that I would make a claim for alleged profits on feeding the prisoners during the period they were out of my charge is without foundation. To begin with, there will be no profits in feeding them at the figure fixed by the Legislature, and from the beginning of the attack made on me by the court, any posattack made on me by the court, any pos-sible profit out of the work has been a decidedly minor consideration. "I insisted on having control of the prisoners because that was the purpose for which I was elected and under the old law, as generally interpreted, and as made plainer in the new law, I was entitled to full charge of them at all times. Having all of the responsibility for their safe-keeping, I did not care to have them taken out of my control. During the short time I did have full charge of them and at the same rates per meal as was allowed my predecessor, the high prices of all kinds of good provisions prevented any profit, unless I forced on the unfortunate prisoners food which I would not eat my-self. This I would not do then, nor will I do it now, even though I fail to come out even at the rate named in the new County Commissioners, who fathered the petitions to invoke the initiative on the law affecting prisoners, will carry the fight to the Supreme Court of the state. County Judge Webster yesterday declared his intention of appealing the finding and is ready to make a fight before the higher tribunal. Commissioner Lightner said that he would consult with Mr. Webster today, after which he would be ready to say definitely whether he favored carrying the case to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Lightner also asserted that the expense of circulating the initiative petitions was borne by the Commission-ers personally and not by the county, as had been the opinion of some peo-ple. Webster and Lightner will have complete control of the Commissioners end of the procedure, as Commissioner Barnes is now in the East.

It is a disputed woint as to who hould be in control of the prisoners, pending the action of the Supreme Court. In case an appeal is taken. Neither Sheriff Stevens nor Commission-Lightner was ready to make a statement on this point yesterday.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD

Auto "Speed King" Arrested Because of Irvington Race-Meet Fizzle.

WARRANT OUT FOR MOROSS

Racer and Manager Charged With Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses-Oldfield Denies Responsibility for Failure.

PACTS CONCERNING THE AUTO-MOBILE MEET.

Attendance is estimated all the way from 1500 to 4500. Barney Oldfield places the attendance at 1500.
According to Oldfield the receipts were $1500 and he was paid $800 by Manager Moross.

Deducting expenses and the amount paid Oldfield and Seibel, Morosa re-ceived the remainder of the receipts. The use of the track was given by the Fourth of July committee.

Of the nine events advertised only two were given and a third was attempted. Two events not announ were given.

Facing a charge of obtaining money un der false pretenses, Barney Oldfield, professional racing automobilist, whose fame as a "speed-manjac" has been heralded from one end of the country to the other, was arrested in Portland yesterday afterwas arrested in Portland yesterday afternoon. The accusation against the champion driver is based on the meet at Irvington track Wednesday afternoon, in which it is declared Oldfield and E. A. Moross, who was associated with him as manager of the meet, defrauded the public by misrepresenting the character of the exhibition for which an admission fee of $1 was charged. A warrant for Moross was also issued.

Oldfield was taken in custody early yesterday afternoon, at the Hotel Portand by Detective Sergeant Baty. The ar-rest was made on a warrant issued in the Municipal Court and signed by D. W. Hazen, a staff writer of the Evening Telegram. Oldfield was taken to the police station, where he was released after depositing $500 bail. An effort was also made to arrest Moross, but before the papers could be prepared and served he had left the city. coross took his departure on the after-con train at 2 o'clock and it was an-ounced by Oldfield that he had left for Butte. Acting on this information, the police have wired instructions to various cities along the line for the purpose of apprehending Moross.

Accused of Swindling Public.

In the information against the fleet Oldfield and his manager it is alleged that the programme as advertised was not carried out and that, in plain words, the people who attended the races were swindled. It is this charge that Old-field and Moross, if the latter is apprehended, will have to contend with in court, and the merits of the meet and any failure to come up to the standard set in the advertisements will be the grounds controversy. The meet given at Irvington track Wednesday was the third in which Old-field has recently participated in Port-land and it was attended by a large crowd, hibitions previously given. The first two meets were given by the Portland Auto-mobile Club, but this organization had no part in the management of the races Wednesday, although its name was used in the advertisements. In this last meet, only a few of the races were given as announced. In these the entries were meager, the races unsatisfactory and to cap the climax rain abruptly ended the exhibition before the programme had been completed or the main event of the The Speed King himself was greatly societies have been in existence in Baptist Churches, but it was not until 1887 that a plan was formulated for a national organization of the young people of the denomination. Of peculiar interest at this time is the fact that Rev. O. W. Van Osdell, pastor of the church which will entertain the convention this year at Spokane, first published an appeal for a unification of Baptist young people just 20 years ago. Much emphasis was placed upon training in Bible study, missions, Christian ethics, doctrines, any systematic giving—"loyal to

A peculiar feature of the Baptist Young People's work has been the Christian culture course—the "three C" courses as they are generally called. These provide for very thorough sys-tematic study of the Bible, Christian evidences and missions. Examinations have been held each year and diplomas awarded. Banners have been presented at each convention to the states and local societies, senjor and junior, mak-ing the most creditable showing in these examinations.

Other objects of the union are to secure the increased spirituality of young people; their stimulation in Christian service; their edification in Scripture and other useful knowledge; the meet was not all that was to be desired, but disclaims all responsibility in the matter. If there is blame on the management, he says, it rests on Moross, but he is inclined to feel that the poor showing was due to local dealers who would not enter their cars or who with-drew after announcing that they would Oldfield Denies Responsibility.

Before the convention closed the Baptist Young People's Union was fully organized. John H. Chepman, a young business man of Chicago, was chosen president, a position he has filled ever since with marked acceptance.

"My connection with this meet was only ay connection with this meet was only that of a paid participant," said Old-field last night. "There are two plans under which I give my races throughout the country. One is that of which my first two meets here were examples and of which some local organization, such as the Portland Automobile Club, has full charge. When such an arrangement is not made, Moross gives the meet and I race for him for a certain amount. This was the case yesterday. Moross has com-plete charge of all arrangements and if the meet was not up to the standard and the fault lies with the management, he was to blame. "As to my part in the performance, feel I did everything possible. I ran the exhibition three miles on a heavy track in 2:52. rney Oldfield, Who Was Arrested Yesterday on a Charge of Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses,

"As a matter of fact, it is very sel-dom that the programme of a race meet occurs just as it is announced, but wherever I participate, I not only try to give the people all that I am expected to do, but try to do better. I always announce that I will do a mile in less than one minute, and do it, just as I did at Irvington. I have raced before every large automobile club in the United States and in all of the principal cities, and nothing like this has come up before.

"I feel that rivalry between some of the local automobile dealers is large-ly responsible for the shortcomings of the meet. Many who could have made the races a success failed to enter and some who did enter withdrew after handing in their names."

People Were Disappointed.

Although the fact that Oldfield had been arrested was not generally known yesterday, it occasioned no end of comment wherever heard. Practically all who attended the races were greatly disappointed in the showing made, but not all were ready to put the blame on Oldfield. The greater number of those who expressed an opinion were inclined to censure Moross, who had direct management of the events. Harry L Keats added to this impression by declaring that Moross had intimated he would 'job" the 50-mile race unless the drive he desired was allowed to run a particular car.

"Moross told Gill, who is driving for the Keats Auto Company, that he would see that no one won the 50-mile race unless Wallace was allowed to run the Pope-Hartford," declared Mr. Keats. "He said this not knowing it was Gill whom he was addressing, and when the latter told me of the incident I in-formed Moross that I was going to en-ter the Pope-Hartford with Gill as the driver, and I meant to see that I got a square deal.

"After the races were in progress "After the races were in progress, Moross came to me and suid he could not get the drivers entered for the 50-mile race to compete with the Pope-Hartford, which had made such fast time in the previous meets. At his request I offered to withdraw the car in order that there might be a race, but I did not withdraw my car voluntarily, as some have said." is some have said.

R. E. Heath, of the Oregon Motor Car Company, expressed confidence in Oidfield, but he believed some blame for the meet attached to Moross. Mr. Heath had entered in the meet the 22-horsepower two-cylinder Tourist that had won from the 29-horsepower four-cylinder Cadillac in the closest meet of the entire race.

Only Two of Nine Events Given. Of the nine events announced on the official programme for the meet only two were actually given. The third, an exhibition run by Selbel, was tried but was a failure, as his machine was in such poor condition that he could get no speed from it. Two other races, not on the programme get no speed from it. Two other races, not on the programme, were run. When the rain commenced there still remained to be given the $2000 sweep-stakes between Oldfield and Seibel, and the 50-mile endurance test. The poor condition of Seibel's machine and the lack of entries for the endurance test practically assured the failure of these events had an attempt been made to run them.

made to run them.

There are many estimates of the attendance at the meet. It is declared by Oldfield that there were between 1400 and 1500 paid admissions. Of the $1500 in receipts, he says he received $800 from Moross. The remainder went for expenses and to Moross as profits. for expenses and to Moross as profits. Other estimates, however, have placed the attendance all the way from 2000 to 4500. Those who attended were practically unanimous in their censure of the meet. They left the grounds with the feeling that they had been buncoed in paying $1 for the poor exhibition given and were not backward in expressing their views.

Oldfield has retained Chester G. Murphy as attorney to represent him

SKYROCKET STARTS FIRE A TONIC AND SPECIFIC SHORT TALKS BY FLAMES DAMAGE HOME OF THE PORTLAND WOMEN'S UNION.

Women and Girls Lodging at Place Leave Safely, but Some Lose Their Personal Effects.

A skyrocket stick descending on the roof of the home of the Portland Wom-en's Union at 510 Flanders street at 11 o'clock last night caused the most serious conflagration of Independence day and damaged the building to the amount of about $5000.

The rocket stick was seen to fall by several of the neighbors but nothing was thought of it until the roof of the Women's Union home suddenly burst into flames, and fanned by the breeze, the fire enveloped the entire upper portion f the building.

The turning in of an alarm from box No. 9 at Ninth and Everett streets caused trouble for the firemen, for engine No. 3, the nearest company to the scene of the fire, went several blocks out of the way in responding to the alarm, and the delay greatly endangered the entire building. By hard work and the calling of several additional companies the firemen suc-ceeded in confining the blaze to the upper portion of the structure

The 45 women and girls lodging at the me were gotten out without any mis home were gotten out without any mis-hap mainly through the courage and cool-ness exhibited by Mrs. Ellen Rawlings, matron of the institution. Most of them saved their personal effects by carrying them to the street, but a few were unable to get their belongings out and these are supposed to be badly damaged by water. All the rooms on the upper floors are flooded with water and the damage by this means is greater than that done by the flames. While the fire was at its height Patrolman Galbreath had a strenuous five minutes endeavoring to prevent an excited young woman from rushing into the burning building to get some of her personal belongings. The officer caught the woman around the walst and endeavored to carry her back to the sidewalk, but she grasped the rail on one side of the steps and held on Galbreath gave a tug and both girl and rail came as a result, and all three landed on the sidewalk. This evidently impressed the young woman that the policeman was in earnest for she made no further effort to enter the building. The matron said last night that she could not place an estimate of the damage for the reason that most of it was caused by water. She announced that everything was fully insured so that the union would not suffer to any extent. The damage will probably be in the neighborhood of $5000, according to the

The women and girls living at the home were welcomed by neighbors and given homes temporarily. The work of repairing the damage done by the fire will be commenced today.

General debility is due to impure blood. Its causes are worry, overwork, failure of the body to regain its health after a severe sickness, lack of nourishment from a disordered digestion, or some drain upon the body, all of which result in thinning the blood, preventing it from carrying health and nourishment to the tissues of the body. The way to cure it is to build up the blood and enable the various organs to perform their functions.

Mr. John F. Williams, of 911 Lincoln St., Anderson, Ind., who is in the boot and shoe business, says: "In 1897 I was taken sick with typhoid fever, which left me completely run down. A Short Statement by DR. TAYLOR

The Leading Specialist The Leading Specialist

I make definite claims for my methods of treating men's diseases. I claim originality, distinctiveness, scientific correctness and unapproachable success. Every one of these claims is backed by substantial proof. The best evidences of superiority are the cures, themselves. My treatment cures permanently those cases that no other treatment can cure. This test has been made over and over again, and a majority of my patients are men who have failed to obtain lasting benefits elsewhere.
