SPOKANE GREETS CHURCH WORKERS

Baptist Young People's Union Holds International Convention.

MANY OREGON DELEGATES

City in Gala Attire, With Bunting Entwined With Society Colors. Large Armory Filled at First Session - Able Addresses.

BY CARRIE O. MILLSPAUGH, Oregon General Secretary and Field Worker, B. Y. P. U.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 4 .- (Special.)-The O. R. & N. train, carrying 75 Oregon Baptists and 12 or 13 more from California, reached Spokane at 1 o'clock this afternoon, after a very delightful journey. The noon hour was spent in registration, assignment and greetings. At the West-minster Congregational Church, where the Oregon, Washington and Idaho Baptists held their state rallies at 2 o'clock, this delegation was joined by about 25 other young people from Oregon, who had arrived by other trains. The paster of the Westminster Congregational Church is Dr. House, former-ly of Portland, who proved a very pleasant host, greeting with great cordiality his former Oregon friends. C. P. Devereaux presided at the Oregon rally. Re-ports were given from seven associations. was voted to attempt to raise $100 in Oregon for the International B. Y. P. U. work. There was a profitable discussion of methods. Committees were appointed and a state song selected.

Spokane was in gala day attire Thursday to greet the Fourth of July and the International B. Y. P. U. From the window of nearly every business house in town the emblems of the society were dis-played with the red, white and blue of the flag. The Armory in which the convention is held was beautifully decorated with flags, emblems and choice flowers Large bouquets of carnations abounded From east and west, north and south they came, fairly filling the Armory at the first meeting. The music under the direction of Mrs. John Nuven, of Chicago, who is assisted by soloists and choirs, was inspiring.

opened the convention with fitting words. An address of welcome to the city was given by Hon. C. Herbert Moore, Mayor of Spokane. This was followed by an address on behalf of local Christian En-deavor Societies by W. F. Miur, of Spo-kane, and this by one on behalf of local Epworth Leaguers by H. M. Fried, of Dr. O. W. Van Oradel, Spokane, followed in behalf of Spokane Baptists.

Dr. J. N. Conley, of Omaha, responded very happily. The report of the Board of Managers was read and adopted. In the absence of Dr. J. W. Brougher, of Portland, Dr. W. H. Main and others wave 10-minute addresses. Rev. W. 10-minute addresses. Rev. W. B. Merrill, general Sunday school superintendent for Ontario and Quebec, delivered a fine address on t relation of the Baptist Young Pe ples' Union to Sunday school won He defined the Sunday school as the church at work with its youth, shap-ing character for all eternity. Our young people, he said, should thoroughly appreciate the importance of this work, that they may relate themselves to it most helpfully, for their society is not a self-centered organ-ization, but is altruistic in its alm. The motto of the society, "Culture for Service," requires unselfish ministry, a ministry finding splendid opportun-ity for expression in Sunday school

Scope of the Union's Work.

The Union is essentially a training school for service, and must some-times part with its members, that they may fill important positions in other may fill important positions in other departments of church life. The Sunday school worker is an artist in character, and must be a man of spiritual vision and power. Where can we turn for such a worker with surer promise than to the society which has for its avowed object the increased spirituality of its members? Where shall we turn for the executive ability needed in Sunday school work. ability needed in Sunday school work with surer hope than to the society, which is constantly thorough in its devotional and business meetings train-ing leaders? The Sunday school is the Bible school for the church. Teachers need a broad, comprehensive working knowledge of the Bible, a knowledge gained in the Bible readers' classes of the B. Y. P. U. Sunday school teachers need an appreciation school teachers need an appreciation of the principles for which the denomination stands. Through the sacred literature course of the B Y. P. U., Baptist young people have received a magnificent course in denominational history and polity. Sunday schools should give missionary instruction. Through the conquest mission is received the requisite knowledge for giving such instruction. The Baptist Union is as intimately related to the

Other Able Addresses.

Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, D. D., of Lowell. Mass., gave a masterly address on "The task of the pastorate." The pastor must be a teacher, student and preacher, he said, but above all he should be a good shepherd, like the shepherd of the twenty-third Psalm. His spirit is described in the tenth chapter of John He is not to be the pastor of one class but is not to be the pastor of one class but scribed in the tenth chapter of John. He is not to be the pastor of one class, but of every class. His task is made harder in these days by a seemingly lessening sense of the supernatural by a partial dethronement of the Bible, and by the supplanting of the old Puritan ideal fly one less pure, less honest and less revorent, an ideal which recognized the exceeding sinfulness of sin. There are three qualifications which a preacher should have—a conviction that men must be reconciled to God, an irreproachable character and an unquestioning belief in Jesus Christ as the revealer of God and the Savior from sin. The address closed the Savior from sin. The address closed with a touching appeal to young men to give their lives to the work of the Successful Day at Astoria.

ASTORIA, Or., July 4.—(Special)— Pleasant weather and large crowds in attendance rendered the celebration of the Fourth in this city an unqualified success. During the morning there was a parade, participated in by two companies of regulars from the forts, as well as civic organizations. Following this the regular exercises were held, the address being delivered by Hon. John McCue. The afternoon was devoted to sports, including a baseball game. In the evening there was a ball and a display of fireworks.

HOW SHALL NATIONAL DELE-GATES BE SELECTED?

Chairman Westgate of Republican Central Committee Wants Meeting of Party Leaders.

ALBANY, Or., July 4 .- (Special.) -- No efinite plan has yet been selected whereby the Oregon delegates to the National Republican convention will be chosen, but they will probably be elected at a convention to be called by the Republican state central committee. George A. Westgate, chairman of the committee said today that the matter had been the subject of considerable recent correpondence and discussion among the embers of the committee and that the plans were as yet embryonic.

Opinion among the members of the committee, however, is said to be in favor of a state convention to name delegates to the National convention and siso to nominate Presidential electors. Delegates to this state convention would be chosen on a basis of representation similar to the legislative apportionment, but how to choose the delegates from the different sections of the state is the dif-ficult question. It is the desire of the committeemen to observe the spirit of the primary law, but it is also desired to have a convenient method of procedure Regarding this matter, State Chairman

'In my opinion, delegates to the National Republican convention should be chosen through a convention called at the proper time by the state central com-mittee. The county apportionment delegates to such convention would be on the usual legislative basis. The law making no direct provision as to details in this matter, some plan, not yet worked out, must be had, quite in the spirit of the primary law, to the end that the important work shall be fully representative of the Republican voters

ALL OVER STATE

Celebration of the Fourth More Elaborate Than Ever Before.

NO ACCIDENTS REPORTED

Everywhere There Were Large Crowds and Successful Programmes With Usual Features of the Day.

All Oregon and the entire Northwes oined in a celebration of the Fourth yeserday. A chief feature of the day in Oregon was the entire absense of accidents and fires, and from all parts of the state come reports that the crowds were greater than in former years.

At Pocatello, Idaho, the celebration was unique in that six nationalities participated in the exercises, 600 Italians marching in the parade in honor of Garibaldi's birthday. At Pendleton, the Umatilla Indians in war paint and cowboys on bucking bronchos gave a realistic picture of the "Wild West" that once was,

TEN THOUSAND AT DALLAS

People of Four Counties Participate in Grand Celebration.

DALLAS, Or., July 4 .- (Special.)-Ten thousand people gathered in Dallas today and participated in the grandest celebration ever held in Polk County. From early morning until midnight the streets were thronged with a good-natured, orderly crowd, composed of citizens of Polk, Marion, Benton and Yambill Countles, all bent on enjoying the day to the fullest extent. Excursion trains from McMinnville, Airlie, Independence and Falls City came laden with people.

The morning painde was a revelation to all, and the opinon was freely expressed that never before had such an imposing spectacle been witnessed in a Willamette Valley town. Three brass bands, a beautiful Liberty car, numerous floats and a long line of handsomely decorated automobiles made up the procession.

Judge H. L. Benson of Klamath Falls, delivered the oration, and held the close attention of the wast multitude with one of the mest thoughtful and appropriate talks aver beard ful and appropriate talks ever heard in the county on an occasion of this kind. The Declaration of Independence was read by Miss Rowena Berry, of Independence. J. B. V. But-ler, of Monmouth, was president of herry, of independence. J. R. V. UNDER CATHOLIC AUSPICES

Celebration at Roseburg Most Successful Ever Held in That City.

ROSEBURG, Or., July 4 .- (Spe cial.).-One of the most successful and largely attended celebrations ever held in Roseburg was enjoyed today under the auspices of the Catholic Church. Citizens of the town have joined with them in making it the success it was. Hon. A. M. Crawford, Attorney-Gen-eral of the state, delivered the oration which was replete with historical data and patriotic sentiments. A dinner was served by the Cath-olic ladies, at which it is estimated fully 1500 people sat down.

The afternoon was devoted to sports of all kinds, consisting in the main of foot races, horse races, catching the greased pig, climbing the greased pole, pony and Sheiland pony races. The most interesting feature of the afternoon was an automobile race consisting of five relays of one mile each. At each mile four new young ladies were taken in and a prize was given to the young ladies riding in the fastest mile run.

The evening witnessed a contest be-tween the two hose companies of the volunteer fire department and a dance at the Armory closed Roseburg's most successful celebration. The day was an ideal one, being neither too hot

CORVALLIS' LARGEST CROWD

Nothing Like It in Benton County in 50 Years of History.

CORVALLIS, Or., July 4.—(Special.)
—An enormous crowd atended the celebration here today. Old-timers who have ben participating in celebrations here for 40 and 50 years say the attendance was by 20 or 20 per cent the greatest in the history of cent the greatest in the history of Corvallis. Congressman Hawley was orator of the day and G. A. Peterson reader. The exercises took place in the Courthouse Square, where a vast assemblage heard the orations.

The afternon was devoted to athletic sports on Main street. The day was delightfully cool and late showers eliminated dust, so that every environment was pleasant.

This city was the only one along the line of the Corvallis & Eastern Railroad to celebrate, and special trains from both ends of that road came in with combas crowded like sardines in with coaches crowded like sardines in a box. The day passed off without accident in spite of an incessant fire

INDIANS IN THEIR WARPAINT

Real Wild West Scenes Are Features in Pendleton Celebration.

PENDLETON, Or., July 4 .- (Special.) -With the largest crowd ever seen in Pendleton and with the weather ideal, the celebration of the Fourth in this city was perhaps the most successful one ever held here. The features of the day were the bronco busting and the parade, the band of Umatilla Indians dressed in warnaint and honnets. dressed in warpaint and bonnets, Fully 5000 people witnessed the bronco busting, which was attended by a runaway in which one man was run over and two riders thrown, one taking the saddle with him. The number of cowboys with wild horses was the largest boys with wild horses was the largest ever assembled here, and the bucking was the real sort. The baseball game between the team from the Fourteenth cavalry of Fort Walla Walla and the Pendleton Boosters resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 9 to 5. The celebration was brought to a close this evening by a monster illuminated parade and fireworks.

Following are epigrams from the address by Congressman Francis W. Cushman:

We, as a Nation, owe much to the American pioneer. Our land was bought with his blood, and our civilization was founded on his bones. As a specimen of patriotic penmanship the Declaration of Independence has never een equaled. The first American blood was shed at Lexington, and it was a costly sacrifice. But, save and excepting the blood that was shed on Calvary, none other has ever produced such stupendous results for the children of men. The American Revolution taught the world that in the hearts of the just, cause counts for more than cannon; and that right means more than regiments. That war taught the world that the heights of courage to which a man will rise when he stands with his home and his freedom behind him, and naught but des-potism and the invader before, cannot be calculated by any instrument which the hand of man has devised for measuring the hand of man has devised for measuring the heights and sounding the depths.

Two things are essential in all enduring human government: First, the government should be good enough for the people; second, and equally important, the people should be good enough for the government.
