COURT EXCORIATES GUILTY

Many Business Leaders of Toledo Are Reconciled to Expiate Offenses in Prison-Plumbers Are Still Fighting.

TOLEDO, O., July 12.—(Special.)—Just one year from the date upon which may be accused of injecting politics Judge Kinkaide made the Lucas County into this Christian Endeavor meeting, TOLEDO, O., July 12.-(Special.)-Just Common Pleas Court famous by sending the ice trust barons to the jall and workhouse for violation of the Valentine and anti-trust law, Judge Lindley W. Morris, of the same court, overreached the famous ice trust cases by sending 23 still more representative and more wealthy and prominent business men to the work-house for six months, and fining nine others $100 Seach and costs for the same others. The wholesale, sentencing of offenses. The wholesale sentencing prominent social and business men the result of the investigation by the grand jury last April, which found the lumber dealers, the brick manufac-turers, the plumbers and the bridgemen in a trust conspiracy, in violation of the anti-trust law. The brickmen, the lumbermen and the bridge agents pleaded guilty. The plumbers decided to fight, and are still in court.

Judge on Warpath.

Judge Morris spent two months inves-vestigating conditions, as he stated in court this morning, and at the end of that time he says he feels that the only effective remedy that society now has in preventing this unlawful combination of capital against the commonwealth is by enforcing the laws to the very letter. So he passed sentence, following a most scathing denunciation, which made the en, who have been identified with me city's growth for a quarter of a century, who are rated in the hundreds of thousands, fairly squirm and cringe in their

The defense stated that they will attack the sentence by attacking the constitu-tionality of the law. This can be done at any time. So the case devolves upon the decision of the Supreme Court of the state, in whose hands the ice cases now-rest, and upon the validity of the Valen-tine law devends whether or not the tine law depends whether or not the go to the workhouse for their full

Bound for Workhouse.

The ice men took that point into con-

The ice men took that point into consideration, and decision will be made at the Fall term. There is not a man who can be found that has any idea but that the law is constitutional, as it has been decided in every section to be so.

According to all the officials, and according to the sentenced men themselves, they are bound to go to the workhouse. They are anxious to get the sentence cut down, and realize that if they cause any more trouble they will eventually serve trouble they will eventually serve

Because of the fact that the work-house is infested with smallpox, vermin and tuberculosis, execution of sentence was deferred ten days.

SEATTLE FAIR FUND SAFE

COURT DROPS SUIT AGAINST SALE OF SHORE LAND.

Scheme Planned by Senator Piper for Raining Money Will Bear Fruit at Once.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 12—(Special.)—Federal Judge Edward Whitson today sustained a demurrer of the state to the suits brought by the McGilvra heirs and Peter Bressler to prevent the appraisal and sale of shore lands on Lakes Union and sale of shore lands on Lakes Union and Washington to raise the $1,000,000 Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition fund granted by the Piper bill.

Judge Whitson decides squarely that the upland owners never had any title to the shore lands; that the Federal Government held these interests before the state, their disposal to be made according to the laws of such state.

The McGilvra heirs raised the point that the Oregon country, having been acquired by exploration and occupancy, was not subject to the shore land policy as other acctions of the United States, but Judge Whitson cites the Oregon case of Shivley vs. Bowlby to show the United States Supreme Court uphoids the state's States Supreme Court upholds the state's

The state courts have already sustained the state's claim to the shore lands and the special commission named in the Piper bill has appraised the shore lands of Lake Union at a total of $870,-000. Upland owners who are given the preference right of purchase have until July 20 to file their applications.

The effect of Judge Whitson's decision today will be to estimulate upland owners to apply for the shore lands and to guarantee the raising of the exposi-tion fund. He denied the right of other objectors to intervene on the McGlivra and Bressler suits, compelling them, if they wish to contest, to file in-dividual suits, which will be more expensive than the purchase of the property.

The platting and appraisal of the Washington shore lands will be

NO REST FOR FAIRBANKS

Kept on the Go by Seattle Folk. Cheered by Methodists.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 12 .- (Special)-From the time he reached Seattle until midnight, Vice-President Charles Warren Fairbanks got no time for rest today, and the programme arranged for him to-morrow is equally as strenuous, though it is to be relieved by an excursion on the ound in the afternoon and a banquet in

A big delegation of business men and Endeavorers received him at the depot at 9 o'clock, one hour after the time set for his arrival. He was taken immediately to the Lincoln Hotel, where scores of callers were received informally. John P. Hartman, a former classmate, inspected and then introduced each caller to the Vice-President. The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity entertained Vice-President Fairbanks at luncheon at the Rathskeller, and immediately thereafter he was taken to immediately thereafter he was taken to the new Carnegie Library for a public re-ception, which the State Bar Association attended in a body. The reception lasted most of the afternoon.

Late in the day the Vice-President was hurried to the Queen Anne Methodist Church, where he was introduced as the next President, and vociferously greeted by Methodist clergymen and members of the Queen Anne congregation.

the Queen Anne congregation.

Tonight the Vice President addressed a big meeting in Willston tent, about 10,000 persons hearing him. A short address at the First Presbyterian Church followed, and then he was carried off to the Washington Annex, where the Christian Endeavorers gave a private banquet to the speakers and prominent officials of the Endeavorers who are at the convention

Throughout the day Fairbanks stead-fastly refused to discuss politics and when he was indorsed for that position when he was indorsed for that position by speakers at the Queen Anne Church and the audience applauded so vigorously that there could be no mistake in the attempt to launch a Fairbanks boom, he ignored the demonstration. The Rev. W. F. Wilson, of Toronto, Canada, started the Fairbanks demonstration, saying:

"I am proud of this great courtesy, and hope that your honored Vice-President will at the next election prove to be the worthy successor of the great man now occupying the chair.

man now occupying the chair. Fairbanks is adorned with every attribute to make him fit for the greatest office in the gift of the American

Rev. E. L. Dille, of Oakland, Cal., chairman, added:

but if to indorse a man for the Presidency who believes in purity of the home, the overthrow of vice, destruction of the saloon and purification of American citizenskip is to be called politics, then I am willing for this meeting to go on record as supporting Fairbanks for the Presidency."

TO ADVANCE LUMBER RATES

Northern Pacific Finds It Is Not Getting Enough Revenue.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 12-(Special.)-President Howard Elliott, of the Northern Pacific, today confirmed the statement that the Northern lines would decrease the rates on lumber and shingles on October 1, in a telegram to A. F. Specht, of the Lumbermen's Law Department. The increase is not fully worked out, and the only reason for the change is the decision of the directorate that the road is not receiving sufficient revenue from the lumber traffic.

It was authoritatively announced by the mill interests today that the advance in rates would be fought before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Lumber-men claim yellow pine is now being sold in their territory 14 a thousand cheaper than they can lay down fir, and that the increase in rates will make fir $7 a thousand higher than yellow pine, and will drive Northwestern millmen out of the 700 of the prettiest White Waists ever manufactured, on sale today for less than $1.00 each. A Waist sale that must surpass all others in this or any other store, on account of the immensity of the assortment and the startling values given, as well as the desirability of the merchandise offered. A Waist bargain caused by the backwardness of the season in the Eastern States. Waists that we bought at mere fractions of their worth. Because the Eastern merchants found no sale for thin bodices, we took what they had planned to sell, and got them at our own price. These levely Waists come in the sheerest batistes, the finest lawns, and the most exquisite allover embroideries. They are trimmed with small tucks, with plaits, with beautiful embroideries and filmy laces. They come with elbow, or three-fourths length sleeves. Some open in the back, some in front. The most of them are regularly worth $2.00 to $3.00 each; there are a number worth $3.75, and there are a couple of dozen worth as high as $5.00. We will fill two tables with them, and offer a Waist bargain that will make every woman in Portland want two or three. CHOICE .....
