Portland Wins Game in Tenth Inning After Overcoming San Francisco's Lead and Tying Score in the Ninth.

Standing of the Clubs.

"Pop" Derrick, the umpire delegated to officiate at Portland by the powers that be at the San Francisco headquarters of came within an ace of being mobbed at the Vaughn street grounds yesterday afternoon. The decision that elicit-ed the wrath of the fans was rendered the ninth inning after Portland had tled the score.

Derrick gave his opinion that Lovett was out at first base, when the play was so close that the players of both teams were in doubt, and according to the rules of umpiring, all such decisions should be rendered in favor of the baserunner. In the tenth inning Portland managed to squeeze across the run that netted the home team a victory after a seemingly interminable series of defeats, The score was Portland 7, San Francisco 6.

Derrick's decision in the ninth was probably right from his own standpoint, but he was stationed behind the plate, when the play was at first base. Nevertheless, he declared Mott out when the dust was so thick that he could not tell whether Williams held Henley's hurried Portland Wins in Tenth.

It was ladies' day, and the presence of the large gathering of feminine ad-mirers of the great National game probably imbued the Portland players with an extra supply of exertion, for they fought their opponents hard dur-ing the entire game and won out in one extra session at bat.

The Beavers started the run-getting scoring three runs in the second in-ng, when they effectually compelled Eddie Quick to take a balloon assen-sion. In the Seals saif of the third they managed to score a trio of runs and tie up the score. This was accom-

Wil-liams hit to Schimpff who was still rattled and messed up the play. Result, three on bases and none out. Spencer singled out the "shrimp" as an easy mark, but reckoned unwisely, with the result that Hildebrand was morgued at the plate. Street falled to make Spen-cer's mistake and laced one out for two bases that chased all three base-

Henley, who replaced Quick in the fourth, was engaged in the pleasant task of sending the locals to the bench in one-two-three order, was keeping this work up until the seventh, when two Portlanders got on the sacks, but no re-sults. In the eighth Manager Mac led off with a safe hit which was followed. off with a safe hit, which was followed by similar swats by Lovett and Dono-hue, which put Portland in communica-tion with the register for another run.

In the tenth Kinselia, who replaced Hartman, disposed of the Seals handily, and it came Portland's turn. Schimpff, the first man up, was safe by virtue of Irwin's error. He took second when Kinselia was passed by Oscar Jones, who succeeded Henley, Bussey saved the day by a clean and timely hit to center field, which chased the little shortstop over for the winning run. Fandom at Random.

Derrick is old enough and professes to have umpired basehall long enough to know that a close decision where there is a doubt should be given in favor of the baserunner, and his failure to do this yesterday and in light of many previous such occurrences, looks queer. Schimpff again had a busy day around second base. His record for the game shows 11 chances handled cleanly. The little fellow forgot himself in the fifth inning and failed to cover second. Casey called him roundly and he became a called him roundly and he became a trifle nervous and messed up his next chance. He soon settled down, however, and used excellent judgment on Spencer's hit by throwing accurately to Donohue and morgueing Hilderbrand.

Nick Williams, the slugging first baseman for the San Francisco team, is the star batsman of that aggregation this season. Nick got four wallops that count in his average out of five trips to the plate in yesterday's game, and has been rapping out safeties galore all week. He also has 1s chances at first base, all of which he handled cleanly.

of which he handled cleanly.

When San Francisco scored the trio of runs in the fifth, Oscar Jones amused the feminine fans by turning innumerable flipflops. He made a big hit in the big league while with Ned Hanlon's Brook-lynites in 1903 by the same antics. He succeeded Henley on the mound in the tenth, but in spite of his previous good luck against the locals, was unable to prevent the registering the winning tally. Casey emulated Barney Oldneid's efforts at annihilating speed records when he dived into second in the third inning The little fellow raised as much dust in gaining the sack as the famous "bubble" enthusiast would in a five-mile career against time.

In the second inning when the Scale be came threatening, Casey, Schimpff and Atherton pulled off a double play of the lighting variety which sent the visitors back to the sungardens. With Irwin on third, Williams on second and Esola on first, Quick hit one to Casey who tossed to Schimpff and the latter hurled the sphere to Atherton yards ahead of Quick, completing the double in the neatest

Win Exciting Contest From Brainard

Cubs by 7-to-6 Score.

OREGON CITY, Or., July (Special.)—In a widiy exciting baseball game this afternoon at Gladstone Park between the Trunkmakers and the Brainard cubs of the Tri-City League, the former aggregation won in the eleventh inning by a score of 7 to 8. The game was watched by a large crowd, and it looked like a cinch for the Cubs until the eighth inning, when the Trunks tied the score. Streit was apparently not himself this afternoon, for he was bata dinky hit by Shaughnessy, Mott's error and a timely clout by Williams.

In Portland's half the home guard again assumed the lead by chasing Casey over with a tally that below

Then came the exciting ninth inning. Pokorny was sent in to bat for Hartman and obligingly fanned out. Not so with Bassey, who beat out his infield tap by a slide to first. Mott hit to Mohler, who threw to Wheeler to catch Bassey, but George muffed the toss and both were safe. Casey's out put Bassey on third, and he scored when Atherton heat out his infield poke to first. Then came Derrick's bad decision.

With the bases full, the score tied and two out, Lovett decided to try a bunt, which he successfully laid down. Henley fielded the ball, and while off his balance made a toss to Williams. Lovett sild into the bag and raised a cloud of dust, arriving there apparently at the same time as the ball. Derrick called him out to the utter diagust of the fans, who were positive that Mott should have scored the winning run.

ABERDEEN, Wash., July 19.-(Special.) Butte was at the wrong end of a 15-1 game this afternoon. The locals landed on the bandit pitchers and pounded them all over the park. Eddie Householder and his tree figured extensively in the slug-ging, two three-base hits and one two-ply drive being secured by him in three lanings. Julie Streib connected safely. Brinker pitched great ball, and had he not deliberately eased up in the fourth would have scored a shut-out. Three singles filled the bases and he walked Wilkins for Butte's lone tally.
