

WOULD PIT LABOR AGAINST SALOONS

John G. Woolley Believes That Unions Could Exterminate the Liquor Business.

EMPLOYERS ALSO FACTOR

Rules of Railroads, He Says, Are Working Toward Desired End. Let Women Assist Prohibition With Their Votes.

John G. Woolley, one of the leading temperance workers of America, spoke yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. meeting. He told of the evils of the liquor traffic and said that the citizens of the country are responsible for it, and that it is within their power to banish such an evil from the land. Mr. Woolley spoke in the morning at the Taylor-street Methodist church, and at night at Hawthorne park and the First Christian church, where a union meeting was held. "Christian citizenship as related to liquor traffic," was the subject in the afternoon, when Mr. Woolley said in part:

The Y. M. C. A. was originally established for the purpose of rescuing those who had fallen under the curse of the drink habit, but now I believe the work of the Y. M. C. A. is not so much to lift up the individual man as to make good citizens of the great mass of men throughout this land and in foreign countries. I congratulate you on the great progress you have made in doing this in this city.

When the prohibition movement started we organized our band the same as the Democratic or the Republican party, and I went out making 30 speeches a day. We calculated on 800,000 votes at the first Presidential election, but when they were counted there were only about 200,000.

Give Women the Ballot.

After our defeat I received a letter from a woman that said: "You are throwing your life away. You are in a good work, but you have tackled too big a job, and it is useless to attempt to finish it. I am tired of remaining here at home and having people wonder why I am a widow or a divorced woman. I stand on the porch in the evening and see the men coming home from work, with their families standing on the porch to greet them; but what is there in one coming home to our house. I am married to a reformer." I immediately wrote back: "I can understand how it would thrill your heart, or any woman's heart, for that matter, to see me coming home; but would you have me give up the battle because it is hard? Would you have me come home at night when you could say that I was the kind of man that shrank from difficult things?"

I received a letter about as soon as the mail could carry it that said: "My darling, I hope you will never come home—except to rest yourself and go again."

For every reason that a woman should have a good home the saloon business should die; and if the men of this country want it to die, for God's sake, why don't they convince the women and let them have a chance to help kill it? This matter must be taken into the Legislature and the laws which will govern it. The laws must be enforced against the unwilling and in favor of the weak.

I believe labor unions would kill the thing if they would do it. I have seen a time when the unions would meet near saloons, but that time has passed. They did not do it because they liked the saloon better than any other place in the country, but because some liquor seller offered them a room over his saloon or near it.

I believe all the great capitalists of the country will turn against this thing. It is fact, very many of them have already done so. It is a rule of the great trunk railway lines of the country that no person who uses intoxicating liquors shall be eligible to a place in operating the trains.

Bear on Honest Labor.

The saloon-keeper always gets the cash when he dispenses the liquor over the counter, but the honest industry of the country is often compelled to charge its bills, sometimes repaying its reward in the next world. It is the business of the church to get the scalp of this soul-destroying traffic, and to lay it at the feet of the Lord. The people of the country are the real rulers, even though the politicians sometimes think they own the whole country.

Looking at frankness from the drunkard's standpoint, it is much worse than some things that so-called good men do. If dirty politics, and envy and hatred, would show up on people's noses as drink does, what a sight we should see. The trouble with the drink habit is that it is such a showy thing it is obnoxious.

I would not say that every man who drinks is a failure, but every man who is even a moderate drinker will not reach the highest pinnacle of success. The Salvation Army and the W. C. T. U. have done great things, but you know that the saloon is beating them to death. Nobody gets anything good out of the traffic, not even the drinker's wife, she gets the small which is not very nourishing. The saloon man gets a troubled conscience, so it is bad for him. I certainly do not admire the men who think they are too good to buy whiskey, too good to sell whiskey, but none too good

Preacher Says Hospitality Without Intoxicating Liquor Is Not Only Possible, but Preferable—Dinner to Vice-President Proof.

The Portland Press Club was warmly commended from the pulpit of the White Temple last night by Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougner, who presided at the banquet for making the banquet to Vice-President Fairbanks last Tuesday night a temperance affair. In part he said:

"More or less fun has been poked at the Vice-President for his so-called 'buttermilk cocktails.' The action of the Press Club in harmony with this spirit has been commented upon as a rather strange and unusual affair. Why should it be considered a strange thing for young men who are doing more today to influence public sentiment than any other class of individuals in the country, to give a banquet without the use of liquors? It is only strange because society, whatever it may mean, is set up a custom whereby it is considered the only proper thing to serve liquor at banquets.

"I am glad that this company of young men had the courage to break the customs of society and set a precedent for other banquets in this city. I have talked with a number of the young men who were present on that occasion and they have declared it was a far more delightful occasion than if they had served liquor. The newspaper men of this city are a mainly crowd and are a fine set of fellows, but I am prouder of them than ever.

Reasons for Admiration.

"In the first place, every one was master of his own mind and did nothing for which he would be ashamed afterwards. At every banquet where liquor is served there are always a number who drink without regard to the world, and not from the corrupt debauchee of the upper and lower 'Four Hundred.' Let us do away with the custom of ever serving liquor as a beverage.

"In the name of the trust manhood; in the name of the purest womanhood; in the name of the love of motherhood; in the name of all that is high and holy in the world, let us obtain from the use of the intoxicating cup, and let us drive the accursed stuff as a beverage out of society."

UNION DEPOT FOR ALBANY

IMPROVEMENT LONG NEEDED ORDERED BY COMMISSION.

Indications That Traffic of Corvallis & Eastern and Southern Pacific Will Be Centralized.

ALBANY, Or., July 21.—(Special.)—Albany is rejoicing over the decision of the State Railroad Commission that a new depot must be constructed here, the work to begin before the end of the year. To secure a depot on the city side of the railroad yards has been the purpose of the Albany has maintained for many years.

It seems, however, from the testimony of Superintendent Fields and other railroad officials at the recent hearing, that a new depot will be placed under the old here any way within the next year. Plans for a change in the yards had already been drawn and approved.

The recent purchase of the Corvallis & Eastern by the Harriman interests is almost an assurance that the new depot will be a union depot for the use of both roads. This will also be a welcome change, for while the depots of the two roads are not far apart, considerable time is lost in transferring baggage, particularly during the summer, when the traffic here is remarkably heavy.

Presbyterian Church Dedicated.

ALBANY, Or., July 21.—(Special.)—The Presbyterian church at Seaside was dedicated today with appropriate ceremonies, conducted by Rev. W. S. Holt, D. D. of Portland. This congregation was organized last November and has secured and refitted the church edifice formerly used by the Cumberland Presbyterian congregation, the remaining members of which have now affiliated with the new congregation. Rev. I. M. Boyles is pastor of the church.

Sawmill Is Burned.

M'INNIVILLE, Or., July 21.—(Special.)—The sawmill of the Smith Lumber Company, located on Panther Creek near this place, was burned late last night, together with the lumber in the yard. The loss is total with no insurance. The cause of the fire is supposed to have been a smoldering spark from the smokestack.

Empress of China Arrives.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 21.—The steamer Empress of China arrived today after a fast run of ten and one-half days from Yokohama with 753 passengers, 130 in saloon and 623 Chinese, and 1534 tons cargo, including 1336 hales of silk.

SALEM, Or., July 21.—(Special.)—A group of youngsters, ranging from 5 to a dozen years in age, loaded a gaspelle cannon with a heavy charge of powder and a rock and fired it off from the residence of Alderman E. C. Churchill, in Englewood addition to this city, between 5 and 6 o'clock this evening. The missile in the course of its flight barely missed several pedestrians and struck a pole in the porch at the residence of Frank Hogg, about three inches in diameter. The missile cut in two as from a blow of an ax. It then ricocheted in front of the adjoining residence, where a half-dozen people were seated at the table. The stone covered a distance of fully 1300 feet. One of the youngsters is the son of Alderman Churchill, who has not been placed under arrest as yet, and the others are his playmates whose identities are not known. Luckily no injuries resulted from the accident.

BETTER SERVICE THROUGH VALLEY

Railroad Commission to Order Another Stub Train to Roseburg.

RUNNING NOW TO ALBANY

Commission, However, Thinks Service Should Be Extended and Will Make an Order to That Effect.

SALEM, Or., July 21.—(Special.)—As a result of the hearing before the Railroad Commission of the complaint made upon the Commission's own motion, against the alleged inadequate passenger train service of the Southern Pacific through the Willamette Valley from the south, to all probability an order will be made requiring the company to run a stub passenger train from Roseburg to Portland on No. 12's time when that train is reported an hour late at that station.

This order will be made to satisfy the demands of the traveling public for a more satisfactory service through the valley, especially by northbound overland No. 12, which, up to two weeks ago was from one to six and eight hours late. Doubtless in anticipation of the filing of this complaint, which has been held in abeyance by the Commission for several weeks, the Southern Pacific Company put on an extra train which runs out of Portland about No. 12, which runs as far south as Albany and then doubles back as the first section of No. 12.

Strangely enough this change was made upon the same day the complaint was filed, without notice to the Commission and without the latter's knowledge. Ever since this extra was put into service, picking up the heavy local express and baggage shipments, No. 12 has been on time and complaint has ceased upon this score; the Railroad Commission, however, believes this stub service should be extended as far south as Roseburg and an order to that effect will probably be made. It is expected that the Southern Pacific will endeavor to show that such an order is unnecessary, but, since no assurance is given that the new train service will be made permanent, the order of the Commission will be a standing one and will make it so.

Beer Prevents Dyspepsia

America has been called a nation of dyspeptics. Were we to drink more beer, there would be less dyspepsia. Where beer is the national beverage dyspepsia is little known. For years Pabst has recognized this food principal in brewing

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality

The Pabst Eight-Day Mating Process, as long as other methods of making malt, but it retains every particle of the food value of the barley-grain in the malt.

The Pabst Brewing Process extracts all of these rich, nutritious, health-giving food values from the malt, and transmits them in predigested form to the beer.

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is therefore an active aid to digestion, and consequently an energetic dyspeptic. Drink Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer regularly at meals and between meals—your digestion will be better, your health better, and your strength greater.
