Bishop Scadding Moves Audience With His Powerful Address.

MUST STUDY GOD'S WORK

Dr. Wilson Says Man's Duty Is to Become Conscious of the Power That Made Him-Profitable Session.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 21 .- (Special.)-Two noted divines, Right Rev Charles Scadding, Episcopal Biehop of Oregon, and Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, were the central figures at the closing day of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association. The dreds of people gathered to hear the musical programmes rendered by the Chemawa Indian School Band, the Chautauqua chorus, and the soloists, Miss Jennie F. W. Johnson, Dr. R. A. Heritage, Arthur von Jessen and sevsingers from the Portland

Rev. Hiram Vrooman led the detional exercises this morning and iked on The Right Conception of Love and Truth." Mr. Vrooman is a student and his sermon was carnest and impressive. President R. R. Steele, of the State Sunday School Association, directed the Sunday school this

Bishop Scadding is new to Oregon and new to the Chautauquans, but his sermon tonight was a powerful exhortation and its effect was profound. His words were simple, carrying truth with them. The Bishop's sermon was at times tender in its advice, and again forceful in its condemnation.

Dr. Wilson Talks on "Man."

Dr. Wilson's topic was "Man," and his text was from Gen. 1-26, "And God said let us make man in our own after our own likeness." He

It is said that one of the exaggerations of our Christian civilization is the prominence which it gives to man. The age is doubt ing whether or not man is important in the sight of God and in the scales of the uni-verse. Now, Christianity, the prevailing religion of this land, is a religion of ideas. within him: that he must not be satisfied with mere faith or hope, but must rest his confidence upon reason and fact. Now, if we are like God in our thought life, we ought to be able to follow to some extent creating the worlds, the flora, the fauna, and even his motive in forming us, the most singularly constituted beings in the scale of heaven's mysterious workmanship. The only way we can understand God's thoughts is to study them as though they were man's, for the laws of thought are universal. And we judge of men's purposes by their actions. In a law court a man is supposed to have intended to do just what he actually ac-compilshed, so if we would know God's thoughts and purposes concerning us, we must follow the outworkings of the divine mind as seen in his works; we must trace the progress of the creative flat from the time when the Eternal Trinity broaded upon the face of the deep until man was formed as the crown of all existence.

Scientific evolution unites with the Bible in placing man upon the topmost round of the ladder of development. The God of nuture and of revelation has made him but a little lower than the angels, and crowned him with glory and honor. Spirit is high-er than matter in any possible combination and man is essentially spirit. He is the being for whom the sun shines, rain falls, breezes blow and all nature waits. Man is not the drudge of today; not the form that goes with weary feet to the busy mar ket; not the toller with hard hand and bronzed face. Man is the angel in the human breast, born of God; born in the Image of God. No wonder the hand of the almighty was busy fitting up a home of palatial aplendor. He adorned it; he hollowed the seas for man's highway, reared the mountains for his observe tory, stored the mines for his magazines, poured the streams to give him drink, fer-tilized the fields to give him day by day his needful brend. All this was but a prep ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life that he and his posterity

Close With Surplus in Treasury.

The fourteenth annual session of Chautauqua that ended tonight was one of the most successful ever held, and the attendance, especially during the last week, was gratifying. The management has a balance of about $250 in excess of the expenditures that will be used to better the programme next year. The Assembly has been particularly remarkable for the evenness of the daily work, the programmes having been unusually well balanced.

NEW ARMAMENT FOR O. A. C.

Government Furnishes Guns and Rifles of New Pattern.

CORVALLIS, Or., July 21.—(Special.)— Oregon Agricultural College cadets will hereafter be armed with Krag rifles of the 1838 pattern. They will also have for Grill purposes two 3.2-inch breech-loading steel fieldpieces, which will supplant two old-fashioned muzzie-loading cannon that have hitherto been in use. The arms are supplied by the War Department, under authority of the act of Congress makof the land grant or agricultural and mechanical colleges of the various states. The new rifles are a lighter gun than the old antiquated Springfield rifles that the cadet regiment has hitherto been sup plied with. Of the latter only 30 were available, while there were over 50 cadets in the regiment, with the result that only a part could be under arms at the same time. Of the new guns 480 are supplied, but even this number is likely to fall short of requirements. The regiment is divided into six companies of infantry, a signal corps, artiflery corps, hospital corps and a band of 30

Last Year's Indebtedness Wiped Out and Money Turned Into Building Fund-Billings Re-elected.

ASHLAND, Or., July 21 .- (Special.)-The fifteenth annual Southern Oregon Chautaugua Assembly, which closed last night here, was the most successful financially in the history of the association, and the programme was a highly pleasing one throughout. Last year a deficiency of several hundred dollars was faced at the end of the ten days. The larger receipts of this year enable that old indebtedness to be cleared and leave a tidy sum to be turned into the building fund against which there is a small indebtedness incurred for enlarging the tabernacle three years ago. At the busi-ness meeting of the association last evening G. F. Billings, who has been pres-ident and manger of the association for some 13 years past, was re-elected for

WIFE OF ONE IS COOK

She Sets Splendid Table in Jurors Home-In Court, Men Always Give Close Attention to the Proceedings.

BOISE, Idaho, July 21.—(Special.) Though two of the jurors in the Hay-wood case have been locked up since May and the others since dates ranging s, and the others since cates raising from that time up to June S, there is no indication of impatience on the part of the men called upon to decide the great issue. Two of those who came into the box from the regular panel are still there. These are Samuel D, Gilman and S. F. Bussell who were called when the there. These are Samuel D. Gilman and S. F. Russell, who were called when the case opened. The jury was finally com-pleted on June 3.

There have been some minor complaints, but the jurors have borne their long seclusion without anything that could be designated as serious complaint. could be designated as serious complaint.

Early in the proceedings there was a demand for more reading matter, but that was quickly supplied. They get the daily papers with all matter relating to the trial eliminated, and many magazines and other publications.

Their Whims Are Humored.

At one time one of the jurors stated court he thought the balliffs were not giving them all their rights, but no more was heard of that. It is necessary for the balliffs, of whom there are six, to be strict, but they have performed their duty without arousing resentment. At the time the juror complained they were not getting their rights there was some friction among them because all did not want to do the same thing at the same time. Some wished to walk when others desired to sit in the shade, and so on. The balliffs, with great tact, have humored all their whims and everything has been running very smoothly. The county rented a furnished house or the use of the jurors and bailiffs, this for the use of the jurors and ballins, this being just across the street from the Courthouse. There everything possible is done for their comfort. They are fed on the best, the grocery bill for June reach-ing $476. The wife of one of the balliffs takes care of the cooking and sets a splendid table. There is a lawn about the house where the jurymen sit when they wish. As they must always be in a body, it makes it a little awkward at mands of their situation.

In court the jurors are always attentive, there being nothing to indicate impatience, even when time has been wasted in what has seemed like useless pro-

Give Close Attention to Court.

At no time has any member shown anything like sullenness or lack of at-tention. They all come into court each norning bright and alert, and throughout the proceedings keep their attention fixed upon what is taking place. When thits have occurred resulting in caustic or witty passages between attorneys, the jurors have shown keen appreciation, and during the dramatic periods of the great trial their demeanor has mirrored their recognition of the significance of what recognition of the significance of what was taking place. It has been a trying ordeal for the 12 men, but they have been discharging their duty in a manner reflecting that deep sense of duty which characterizes Americans under such cir-

Early is the proceedings an agreement eached that members of the jury be permitted to see members of their families when necessary in the presence of two balliffs, and that they night, when absolutely necessary, confer with business associates under similar safeguards. This has contributed much toward making jurors feel at ease about their business and domestic matters.
