TELLS HIS ILLS TO DR. CAMERON

Exercise, and Plenty of It, Prescribed for Jack King by Municipal Court.

GOES TO KELLY'S BUTTE

Dispute Over Board Takes J. Applegate and C. Oliver Before Police Magistrate-Costly Fun of Hargrove Brothers.

Jack King stood before Judge Cameron yesterday morning but he saw not the Judge for he was recalling to memory some of his experiences in New York state. This deep meditation closed his ears to the court's question as to his guilt,

"What do you plead to the charge of vagrancy?" thundered Hennessy in his court voice.
"Guilty," answered King, "but it is the fault of my physical condition. I am a wounded man."
"Where are you hurt?" solicitously inquired the Judge.
"In my left side, your honor," said King, as he placed his hand over the spot indicated.
"This looks serious," said the Judge.

"This looks serious," said the Judge.
"How did it happen and who hurt you?"
"I was passing by a saloon when the shot was fired that hit me—"

shot was fired that hit me—"
"What saloon," asked the Judge,
"I don't remember the name but the man that shot me was George Johnson."
"Where did this happen?" questioned the Judge, his interest deeponing as King told his story.

King hesitated,
then in a whisper
that was scarcely audible, said:
"Two years ago in New York City." "Two years ago in New York City." The tension of the court at once relaxed.

"H'm," said the Judge, "that story is so old that it's worn out. I think you need exercise.
Do you want to go to the hospital?"
"I sire sich" said "I aint sick," saiding. "I just aint strong."
"That's what thought," said the Judge. "What you need is exercise and plenty of it. I'll give you 30 days at Kelly Butte and perhaps by that time you will have fully recovered."

As a result of a little gun play last Monday night J. Applegate and C. Oliver met again in Judge Cameron's Court yesterday morning and aired their domestic troubles. Mr. Oliver has been living at 209 Cook avenue in a house owned by Mrs. Applegate. By mutual agreement Applegate has retained a room in the house and also hoarded with Oliving the court of th in the house and also boarded with Oll-ver which was to be the pay for the rent of the house. Applegate says the board did not suit him. His complaint referred not so much to quality as to quantity, which finally drove him elsewhere to stay the pangs of hunger.

Added to this he had a longing to live as master in his own house and hence his visit to Mr. Oliver Monday night.

When Applegate reached the front door and demanded entrance room, Oliver denied ments followed and tempted to use the gun."

Applegate gave his version of the affair but since it was not only flatly contradicted by the witnesses for the prosecution and unsubstantiated if not altogether contradicted by his own witness, the Judge decided the case was serious enough for further investigation and bound Applegate over to the grand jury, the bond being fixed at $550. "In fact," added the Judge, "I think the strength of Mr. Oliver alone made it possible for him to appear here today."

C. M. and C. T. "Schall Dr. "Schall

H. H. Newhall, who had been called away on business. Secretary Williamson announced that Mr. Newhall had accepted election as president and expressed himself as fully in sympathy with the purposes for which the club had been formed.

At the meeting last night some stirring talks were made to the effect that the club should stand for something more than mere men, and that it should stand for good citizenship, and work to arouse the public conscience on the subject of good citizenship. J. S. McDonald made a short talk along this line, declaring that he believed the time had come when every one should take part in politics and one should take part in politics and vote for the best men obtainable, also that the office should seek the man rather than the man the office. Mr. McDonaid declared that the greatest danger to this country was in the indifference of the masses and their failure to vote at primary elections, making it possible for the machine boss to win.

On motion a committee of three was appointed to draw up a declaration of principles along these lines, composed of J. S. McDonaid, C. Ben Riesland, L. H. Wells, to report at the next meeting. Another committee composed of H. W. Williamson, J. S. McDonaid and F. J. McMonies was appointed to prepare a plan to reach all the precincts in the ward and report at the next meeting. The object is to secure members from all the precincts of the ward.

The members of the City Council had arranged a trip yesterday afternoon for the purpose of looking over the various sites offered for the new City Jail, but only four members met at the appointed time—Baker, Driscoil, Wallace and Bennet. Bennett, in view of the small number present, dropped out, and Baker, Driscoil and Wallace went without him. They visited the various locations, but will be unable to make any recommendation. Seventeen bids were submitted, and the Council will be asked at its next meeting to select one of the seventeen sites. # AUGUST Fiction

McClure's fiction is always distinguished for its quality and sheer human interest. The August fiction number is no exception. Although introducing a number of writers new to the magazine world, the stories are of the sort that will later bring fame to each. It seldom happens that a magazine has the opportunity of presenting so many new writers with such distinguished work. Note the list and the new names:

THE GREAT NORTH ROAD By MARY S. WATTS EZEKIEL IN TRANSIT By LUCY AGNES PRATT

AN IDYL OF THE YARDS THE POWER OF THE DOG By M. GAUSS THE KNUCKLE-PUSHER

By WILL ADAMS THE LONG SHIFT BY EUGENE RHODE ALI BABA By JAMES HOPPER

Besides this splendid fiction, the August number offers four articles of unusual importance:

THE PHYSIOGNOMY OF LINCOLN By TRUMAN H. BARTLETT This is a singularly uplifting and illuminating study of Lincoln, written by a great sculptor and illustrated with portraits and life masks. As a presentacompanion to Miss Tarbell's "He Knew Lincoln," THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY

AND CONFESSION OF HARRY ORCHARD Only a fragment of the story is to be used in evidence against the three officers of the Western Federation of Miners, but the complete autobiography will be printed in McClure's.

HOW MRS. EDDY'S HUSBAND WAS INDICTED for an alleged conspiracy to murder. How the case created a sensation in Lynn and in Boston, but was nolle prossed and never came to trial.

CAN AMERICANS AFFORD SAFETY IN RAILROAD TRAVEL?

This is the most important contribution to a subject of more than national interest that has yet appeared in print.

When I first sold Cooper's New Discovery I did not know that the medicine would remove this trouble. I have since found that it invariably does so. The following letter is a fair sample of the symptoms as experienced by an individual thus affected:

"I was always tired. My stomach bloated and the slightest exertion made me sick, weak and dizzy. My appetite was variable and a good night's sleep was unknown to me. When I awoke in the mornings I had a bad taste in my mouth and a coated tongue. I heard of the wonderful benefits that were being derived from Cooper's New Discovery, and decided to try it. "The horrible tape worm, 60 feet long, that had been sapping my life away, passed from my system alive and squirm ing after I had taken three doses. Now I have a splendid appetite, every trace of stomach trouble has disappeared and my digestion is good. I sleep well and am gaining in strength every day."
