

WARM WELCOME EXTENDED FULTON

Lakeview People Forget Political Differences to Entertain Senator.

F. W. MULKEY ALSO THERE

Prominent Personages Were Never so Numerous at Inland City. Event a Great Treat for Politicians.

LAKEVIEW, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—Never have the people of Lake County accorded to anyone a more flattering reception than that which they tendered United States Senator Charles W. Fulton this week. Regardless of political faith or factional differences, all joined in entertaining him. The coming of Senator Fulton was the signal for those who have struggled for control of the Republican primaries in Lake County to join hands in preparing a reception for the visitor.

Senator Fulton and Judge Henry L. Benson arrived in Lakeview Sunday evening, coming from Klamath Falls. Despite the long, dusty trip overland, they spent the evening receiving callers at their rooms in Lakeview. Their coming had been announced, and it is not often that Lakeview is included in the itinerary of Oregon's United States Senators.

By a coincidence, Senator Fulton was preceded a couple of days by ex-Senator F. W. Mulkey. Senator Mulkey, who was accompanied by Senator S. C. Linden, of Portland, arrived in Lakeview Sunday evening, and the wise ones immediately began speculating as to why Mulkey's visit should so closely precede Fulton's, whether it was intentionally so timed, or just happened so; whether he was looking for assistance in an effort to disengage the Senatorial toga from the shoulders of the Astorian, and cast its purple folds about his own ample form, or was merely investigating the wonderful resources of this great country.

They Merely Sought Greener Pastures—Other Animals Missing.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—The six horses reported from the old Hackett place last Monday night have been recovered by William Lillie and the theory is now advanced that the animals were not stolen at all, but broke through a fence and ran along the county road until they were corralled. Three of them were seen at Firwood last Friday. It is possible, however, that the supposed thieves released the horses, in order to avoid detection.
