

JAILED FOR FAKING

L. Thielman Gets Into Trouble at Omaha.

FORMER SPOKANE CATCHER

Puts Up Fake Fight and Gets Henry Hazebaum for $1000 Cash and Diamonds of Same Value.

OMAHA, Neb., July 29.—(Special.)—L. Thielman, formerly a catcher in the Seattle and Spokane baseball clubs and a brother of Cleveland's famous pitcher, Jake Thielman, is in jail charged with having a part in faking Harry Hazebaum of Louisville, Ky., out of $1000 cash and diamonds of that value which he bet on a prizefight pulled off by Thielman, E. A. Alstead and a man named Gorman. Alstead is also under arrest, but Gorman escaped.

Thielman's name was Casey and he was touted to Hazebaum as a "sure thing." Hazebaum was in Casey's corner when the fight was pulled off at a Council Bluffs hotel. About 20 bets of $100 each were made around the ring with "foney" bills. Hazebaum took a 2 to 1 bet against Casey, putting up $1000 good money. Later he put up his diamonds against $200 more. In the second round Casey was knocked out and the blow burst a bladder full of red fluid which he had in his mouth, indicating a hemorrhage. Some person said Casey was killed and everybody ran. Hazebaum was scared into taking a train home, but later reported the matter to the police. Thielman's wife and children are in Seattle.

Milton French, who caught several games for Portland at the opening of the season this year, and who was set free when Donahue was called to the coast to play with Dugdale's Seattle club. Joe Walsh, formerly one of the greatest infielders in the country, who played with the Boston Red Sox last year, was seen through Portland yesterday on his way to Southern Oregon. Walsh has been out of the game for 15 years and is at present employed in a bank in Astoria, Ore. A number of the Portland ball team, together with a few of the Los Angeles players, took a day off yesterday and journeyed to the cool brookside, where endeavors to coax the way from the drink were made. Few of them reported any success.

The Frakes team of the Tri-City League has returned from their disastrous session in a double-header at Kelso Sunday.

The local boys say that the Kelso team imported several players from the Northwestern League, including Erickson, the pitcher who was with Spokane, and Graham who played third base for one of the other teams on the Lucas circuit. The Portland fans will recall "Paddy" Shaffer, who first played here so long ago that few fans remember the exact year. He was with the Helena team in 1892 and the next year wore a Portland uniform in the Pacific Coast League. He is now playing first base for Dugdale in Seattle, and supplanted Hugh Kelleckey, who is another old Portland player. Kelleckey took Burnett's place on the Tacoma team when the latter was sold to St. Louis.

BEAVERS VS. ANGELS TODAY

Groom Will Pitch for Portland and Nagle for the Visitor.

Portland and Los Angeles will inaugurate another six-game series at Vaughn street grounds this afternoon, and long Bobby Groom will occupy the mound for Portland, while Adonis Nagle will do the twirling stunt for the visitor, providing Ellis or Cravath is able to get in the game. In the event that the two outfielders are still on the hospital list, Big Southpaw Burnett will do the pitching stunt for the visitors.

The lineup of both teams will be the same as last week, with the exception that Schimpf will probably take a turn on the slab during the present series. Frank Arrelanes, the new Angel acquisition has not yet put in his appearance, but is expected to report today, and should he arrive in time will be used on the slab in tomorrow's game.

The series just past has been most interesting from a local standpoint, as Portland took four out of the six games, and the loyal home fans are hoping to see the performance repeated this week. With McGraw's pitcher's work and in their best there is no reason why the Beavers should not break even on the series if not capture a majority of the games. The battery order of the teams today will be as follows: Portland—Lovett, c. f.; Mott, sb.; Casey, 1. f.; Donohue, c. p.; McCredie, r. f.; Groom, p. Los Angeles—Bernard, c. f.; Carlisle, l. f.; Brashear, 2. b.; Dillon, 1. b.; Smith, 3. b.; Nagle, r. f.; Delmas, 2. b.; Eager, c. b.; Burns, p.

YACHT CLUB CRUISE SATURDAY

Large Number of Boats to Take Part in Annual Event.

The members of the Oregon Yacht Club will have their annual cruise on the waters of the Willamette and Columbia rivers on Saturday, August 1, and the excursion is expected to be signalized by the largest attendance in the history of the club. Secretary H. N. Parks has issued the notices of the proposed cruise and already a majority of the yachtsmen have agreed to be in attendance. Port Captain Woodward is engaged in arranging for the towing of rafts and launches, canoes, sailboats and yachts through the bridges, and this towing will be practically the only expense of the excursion, which will be paid by most of the members own their own boats, and those who do not possess sailing crafts or canoes will form the crews of the larger yachts. The destination of the proposed cruise is Nigger Tom's Island in the Columbia, just opposite the mouth of the Willamette. The excursionists will return to Portland the next day.

The annual Mid-Summer regatta of the Portland Rowing Club will be held August 2 on the Willamette River, and all probability the course will be straightaway, from three-quarters to a mile long, from a point inside Ross island, on the East Side, to a finishing buoy, opposite the clubhouse. Events will consist of four-oar, double and single shell races. Prizes are hung up in each event in the shape of gold club pins with crossed oars. The contestants will consist of mixed crews of Juniors, novices, and a few seniors, including Dick Hart, who will turn out especially for the occasion with old-time patriotism. The races will begin at 2:30 o'clock and there will be four main events, one of which, the single shell race, will be run in heats. The main race of the day will be between a "scintipede" and the champion four-oar crew, victors of the Seattle regatta of July 4.
