Pitcher Califf's indifference yesterday was responsible for the Los Angeles vic-tory over the home team by the score of 11 to 2.

While he cannot be charged with the last four runs acquired by the leaders, Callff gave them their start and by so doing the result was never in doubt. The doing the result was never in doubt. Oregon City wonder, who really should Oregon City wonder, who really should be one of the best and most reliable pitchers in the league was suffering from an attack of indifference which is noticeable in about two of every three games he pitches.

Califf is a good pitcher; has everything the of current and should that any in the line of curves and shoots that any pitcher in the league possesses, but he is visited oft with recurring spells of lazi-

The blame for yesterday's defeat can be attributed to no other cause but the indifferent behavior of the Portland twirler, and he should have been chased to the clubhouse in the sixth inning when he allowed Dilion to hit the ball, when the sixth in the same way were on homes. It two were out and two men on bases. It was plainly apparent that the correct tac-tics at that time should have been to pass the Angel leader who had shown his ability in the early part of the game, and taken a chance on retiring Ellis, who has been hitting poorly of late. Instead Califf placed one directly in the groove and the Angel captain laced it out for two bases scoring two runs.

Not satisfied with this the Oregon City wonder passed Ellis to first and followed up this liberal manner of pitching by hit-ting Jud Smith and issuing a walk to Bert Delmas which forced Dilion over for the third run of the inning. How in the world he ever managed to get Bobby Eager to bite on one of his curves is a mystery that may never be solved, but at any rate the chubby catcher ended the agony by flying to Bassey. Score Los Angeles,3; Portland, 1.

Angeles,3; Portland, 1.

The first run annexed by Portland came in the fifth inning, and view of the spiendid way Califf had behaved up to the sixth, the large ladies' day attendance was jubilant at the prospect of a shutout for the visiting aggregation, and the assuming of the lead by Los Angeles. the assuming of the lead by Los Angeles

Califf probably received a calldown from Manager McCredle, for when he commenced pitching the seventh inning he was smarting from justly administered difference as to the outcome. two Angels filed out, and then the fire-works started. Hits, bases on balls and ome more hits caused a general excurvisitors, and to cap all his poor work, the pitcher stood dumbly in his position while a ball was being fielded by Casey and Pokorny, either of whom could have easily thrown Ellis out had Califf cov-ered first as he should have done. This action on the part of Califf caused Casey's anger to arise and the justly in dignant little second baseman is charged with an error because he threw the ball away after seeing that there was no one at first to retire the batter. This cost two runs. In the eighth Manager McCredie trotted out a new one, John Drew by name, who is not quite as accomplished a pitcher as his namesake is an actor, but the busher nevertheless made a fair impression. He went up in the air in the ninth and the visitors connected for four more runs. Ray Lovett decided to embrace the insurance business immediately and did not show up at the baseball grounds yester-day. Pat Donohue played centerfield and Carl Moore donned the mask and smashed one that sailed over Brashear's head. Brash leaped in the air and tried to pull it down but just barely touched the ball.

Pokorny is given an error in the seventh on a throw from Califf, which really should go to the pitcher, who at the time seemed not to care how he threw the ball. The new first sacker might have stopped the ball had he tried the one-hand racket, but lack of confidence caused him to try with both and the ball caromed off the end of the mit.
