JAIL OR THE POORFARM

The Chamber appointed a committee consisting of B. H. Trumbul, W. F. Burrell, W. J. Burns, M. E. Warrell, F. H. Page, Gordon Voorhies and Mark Levy to represent that organization at Medford, Or., at the Medford Fruit Carnival to be held August 5-10.

It is a most arduous and deceptive course that the road to prosperity follows. One day all is rosebuds and the trail ahead is clear and well defined. The next it is tortuous with many inviting bypaths. And the hapless pilgrim chosing one of these lures drops most unexpectedly into the abyss of

T. S. Sullivan Is Given Bitter Choice

and Becomes County' Charge.

Barely Escapes Prison for Making False Pretenses.

T. S. Sullivan got into one of these bypaths yesterday, just when he thought the trail of fortune was clear to him and not to be lost. He awoke yesterday morning with cheerful interest in confident success was "close at life. hand. He slept last night at the poorhouse, which hereafter will be his home. He is done with the world and its petty struggles.

But Sullivan is fortunate, rather than unfortunate, in that he was permitted to go to the home for paupers. It could been far worse, for it appears that his business methods were such as are calculated to land men in the penitentiary.

Suillvan is 60 years of age, and has been striving for a fortune all his life. It is said he was never content to save on a small scale, but spent all he could earn in risky speculative ventures. His last venture doubtless would have suc-reeded, had his method of operation out become become not become known

Worked Under an Alias.

At the outset of this latest venture he chose two names, one Sullivan and the other McDonald. He then set about establishing credit for McDonald. He bought a number of tents from the Wil-He lamette Tent & Awning Company for $17 each, under the name of McDonald. He gold them for $4 each. This neceshe foid them for sy each. This indees sarily would have been a losing game, but for the fact that Sullivan had es-tablished credit with the company un-der his assumed name and had 60 days in which to pay. This was ten days

Sullivan had similar transactiors with other business houses, each time securing credit under his assumed name. His purchases were tents, tools and such articles as unlawful opera-tors are not usually inclined to trifle with

Complaint was made to the police when Sullivan's methods became known Monday. Yesterday morning early he was arrested. He was charged with ob-taining goods under false pretenses, but it was quickly seen this charge would not hold, since the old man had 50 days left in which to meet his obligations. Plainly, in buying at the market price and selling for a fraction thereof his intentions could hardly have been honest, the authorities argued, but that did not change the law, especially when ished to Portland; but on the other hand, the business men complain that there are wasteful metaods now employed by the Water Department which being done away with will give ample water for household and business purposes. This committee will, at the same time, look into the question of water supply for fire protection purposes. This is a matter which affects every one in the City of Portland, as when a proper de-gree of protection there will necessarily be fewer configurations and the rate for fire insurance will, therefore, be lowered. The saving in property, and even life, would be enormous. At this meeting of the trustees of the MONEY

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Aug. 6.-(Spe-cial.)-Fifty-two thousand salmon were received at the local canneries last night. The Pacific American Fisheries plant got $0,000 and the Bellingham Cannery 12,000. This is the largest catch of the season and cannerymen are encouraged at the prospects. All of the fish received by the Pacific American Fisheries were lifted from the company's traps, and of the number received at the Bellingham Can-nery, 8000 were taken from the traps and 4000 were caught by the seiners. For several days the cannerymen have feared the fish were migrating to the Fraser

"Jim the Westerner" Is Popular.

One of the biggest hits in the history of the Lyric is being offered this week when the Allen Stock Company is presenting the thrilling modern comedy-drama, "Jim the Westerner." The play was presented at the Baker hast Winter and was so well re-ceived that Manager Murphy and Director Allen decided it would be a good bill for this week. Their judgment was pood, as has been demonstrated by the enthusiasm which has greated the performances since the play was first given hast Monday night.

Star Matinee Tomorrow.

"A Bachelor's Honeymoon" will be played at the Star Theater matines tomor-row This is a typical American comedy built on original lines, and the title gives some idea of the fun that is contained in its situations and lines. Earl Dwire is appearing in the leading role, through courtesy of George L Baker, who brought him to Portland for the coming season. "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" is one of the laugh-ing hits of the year and is pleasing the crowds who patronize the Star. There will be three more matinees, Thursday, Satur-day and Sunday. Scats are now selling at the box office. day and Sunda the box office.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"The Two Orphans" Next Week.

The Lyric will make another big bid for paironage next week, when the famous classic, "The Two Orphans," will be the offering of the Allen Stock Company. This famous play is one of the most popular dramas ever presented on the American stage and for years has been a standby. It will be given by the Allen Company in a manner which has seldom been equaled here and will certainly prove a drawing card.
