RAILROAD YIELDS TO ALABAMA LAW

Governor Comer's Victory Over Southern Road in Rate Conflict.

NEW RATES WILL PREVAIL

Struggle for State Rights Ends as Regards One Road, Which Submits and Will Withdraw Plea for Injunction.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 8 .- Governor Comer and the officials of the Southern Railroad reached an agreement late this afternoon and the license of the railroad in Alabama will be reinstated. Beginning September 1, 1907, the railroad and allied lines will put into effect the 24-cent passenger-fare act, and the measure reducing the freight rates on 110 commodities commonly shipped in Ala-

The agreement was not reached without concessions being made by both sides, but in the main it is a victory for the state. The laws in question will not be put into effect permanently. The agreement specifically declares that their operation beginning September 1, is only subject to the final determination as to their constitutionality and their responsibility when a decision on these questions is finally rendered by the court of last resort. Meanwhile the other laws enacted by the Legislature affecting the traffic of the state will remain in

In consideration of the agreement by the railstoad representatives to permit of the operation of these two laws, the one affecting the passenger traffic and the other freight, it was agreed by the Governor that the revocation of the license of the Southern in Alabams should be cancelled and the company permitted to do business without hindrance by the state. The compraraise affects only the one railroad system, the Southern. The other railroads of the state were not parties to the conference. Secretary of State Julian tonight cancelled his order revoking the license of the Southern Railway. VANDERBILTILINE GOES BEHIND

The police were notified, and Captain Slover sent Sergeant Cole, Jailer Endicott, Detective Price and Policeman Graves to the scene. Upon their arrival, the police officers notified Coroner Finley, who took charge of the bodies. "I heard three shots and was looking out my window when I heard Mrs. Sturtevant call for help," said Levi Young, last night. "I immediately rushed over to the house. When we entered the parlor, we found the man and his wife gasping their last breath. They died before a doctor could be called." "I fenred there would be just such a tragedy," said Mrs. Sturtevant. "They never seemed to get along at all together although I do not know what their troubles were. This seemed imminent for several days. I knew that something dreadful would happen. When they me here tonight, I thought I had never seen such a peculiar expression in Mr. Liebe's face before, and I had a feeling that he meant to do just what he did.

Both Seem Embarrassed.

He came in just before Mrs. Liebe reached the house and sat down in the dining-room, where we were at dinner Presently she entered, and both seemed embarrassed, and did not talk of any trouble, in fact they said but very 'Oh. you wanted to see me, did you?" Then they went out, he leading the way.

"It was but a moment, it seems, after they entered the parlor until she rushed to the door and heard the three shots. Then we entered the room and found them almost dead."

Examination of the bodies by Coroner Finley showed that Liebe used a 38-caliber revolver and fired four shots, He had tried to discharge the fifth cartridge, but it had failed to explode. breast, the other in Liebe's head. she was shot and that she fell, breaking off the arm of the chair as she went to the floor. That her husband saw her fall and feeling confident that she was mortally wounded, turned his revolver upon himself, is the theory of the police and the Coroner. Mrs. Liebe was a handsome woman, tall, erect of figure and graceful and dignified of bearing. At the time of

Began Life Auspiciously. From all that could be learned here ast night, Mr. and Mrs. Liebe began their married life under most auspiclous circumstances. to Portland. Coroner Finley learned last night that Mrs. Liebe had made an agreement with her husband that if he would quit drinking and live a respectable life for a year, she would return to him. It was supposed by Liebe's friends that he would endeavo to do this, but apparently he could not carry out his part of the agreement, and desired his wife to resume her former relations with him, notwithstanding that fact. This she refused to do, evidently driving him to desperation. The couple rented the house in which the tragedy occurred on comscreamed to me to come and help her. for Rebating.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(Special.)—The largest bond ever demanded in the history of criminal jurisprudence will be asked of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana tomorrow. It is probable District Attorney Sims, who has been summoned to return from Michigan, will ask Judge Grosscup to fix the bond at $58,600,000. Attorneys repre-senting the Stanard Oil Company, however, are prepared to contest the Government's plea for a heavy bond.

At the same time, the oll company's counsel will renew their plea for a writ of error and a writ of superse-deas, in which they had planned a coup on the Government today, but were frustrated by Assistant District Attor-ney Parkin. Should a writ of error be granted tomorrow, and a writ of supersedeas be issued by Judge Grosscup in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals(the Standard Oil suit, for the present at least, will pass beyond the jurisdiction of Judge Landis and into the upper court, which has it within its power to set aside judgment on the $29,240,000 fine.
