NO EFFECT ON HOPS

Market Was Stagnant Before Strike Occurred.

GROWERS BECOME UNEASY

Lack of Demand and Crop Prospect Bring Sellers to the Front. Picking-Money Question Causes Uneasiness.

The telegraphers' strike is having no apparent effect on the local hop market, for the simple reason that there is no marke to be affected. Orders for spot and future hops had ceased coming in before the strike occurred. Trade was at a standstill, so far as the buying interests were concerned, and Selfers, on the other hand, are coming to the front and showing increased anxiety to do business, but it is doubtful if they could interest buyers, even if wire communica-tion were restored. In fact, a considerable degree of uneasiness is being shown by growers, induced by the generally favorable erop reports and the utter lack of demand. Contracts could doubtless be written at lower figures than have yet been named if

The question of securing picking money is also worrying many of the producers, and there is much talk of leaving yards unpicked, according to reports in the state press, which are confirmed by growers who have come to this city. There are some few hops raised in Oregon every year which should always be left on the vines, but it would seem to be very poor policy to allow thates resulting choice, growths to remain unharvested. There is always a good demand in the buyng season for the best class of hops, and even at current prices these will show some little profit to the grower, or at least permit him to come out even.

Although the prospect is a gloomy one rings may not be as black as they seen when all the returns are in. The crop is not made yet by any means, either here of elsewhere. The trouble in the world's hop market for several years has been overprection, but it is a long lane that has no turning, and it is the unexpected that usual-ly happens in hope. Everything favors good quality in the Pacific Coast hop districts this year, and as quality counts in the long run, the growers should not be discouraged because buyers cannot be found. There will be plenty of demand when the new market opens and prices will then find their real Hops in the bale should sell as wel contract, and they may do better. rate, there is no reason why grower should fret about contracting his hops when no one wants to contract with him. As for securing picking money, this is a matter that will have to be worked out. There has seldom been a year when the en-tire Oregon crop could not be harvested for the lack of finances. A dispatch from Gervain says of crop conditions there:

There have been several sales of hops in this section at about 6 cents a pound the past few days. The crop outlook is not as good as usual, either for quantity, quality or price, and as a result many have neglected their yards, so that it will be impossible to get the quantity or quality. Neglect of the yards has had the effect of causing early maturing of the crop and many will be picking before the month passes. George Kneutson, on North Howell, says his early crop will be ready to pick by August 22 Marion Palmer & Son have a large yard of earlies hear Mount Angel and intend starteing on them about the 23d. There are only a few yards of the early varieties in this section.

CITY BUTTER NOW AT ONE PRICE. Seneral Quotation on Front Street Will Also

City butter of the best grade was sold at a uniform price of 35 cents yesterday, the last of the local creameries having come in line with the advance. On Front street one brand of out-of-town country creamery is up to 35 cents, and today it is probable that most of the sales there will be made at

Manager Vetsch, of the Damascus Creamery, at Boring, announces that today he will raise his price to 374 cents. He reports that the cream supply is rapidly decreasing and the activity of the demand makes a higher quotation justifiable. Some of the city creamery men declare that the late advance from 32½ to 35 cents has in a measure put a check to business by turning their trade to the lower grades of butter, but it is evident there will be no decline in price until the Falt rains come, and it is possible that even that event may not have

PEACH RECEIPTS SUDDENLY FALL OFF Southern Oregon Shippers Sending Their Fruit to California Markets.

Fruit to California Markets.

It is thought likely that bottom has been reached in the peach market for this season. Receipts yesterday fell off about half, indicating that Southern Oregon shippers had turned their shipments toward the California market, where better prices can be realized than here. No. I stock sold at 90 cents to 31 per box, which may be as low as prices will go. There is still an abundance of inferior truit on the market, which brings of inferior fruit on the market, which brings from 50 to 75 cents. A large lot of Roseburg peaches infected with dry rot was con-demned by the market inspector yesterday. An express shipment of Toppenish cantaloupes, the first of the season, will be on hand today. New prunes are coming in from The Dalles, and bring $1@1.25 per

New York Hop Crop.

The Waterville Times of August 9 says of the New York hop crop:

The hop burse on the early varieties are quite sizable and indicate a fair size yield. There is nothing new to report regarding the condition of the late crop. The weather for the past week has been favorable, although the nights have been pretty cool and we have had plenty of rain.

The New York Journal of Commerce e timates the New York crop at from two thirds to three-quarters of that of last year, The following shows the movement hops at the port of New York to date:

Eastern Sugar Market Dull.

The latest trade letter of one of the largest sugar brokers of New York says: With the movement in refined smalle with the movement in refined smaller than the production and reports showing an improvement in the prospects of the growing crops, and without any stimulating advices from European markets, the refineres considered it best to adopt a waiting policy. Holders remained firm in their views until toward the end of the week, when they began to show some anxiety to obtain 2B-16c and f. for 95 degrees test, but withdrew them on finding that the sugars withdrew them on finding that the sugars that the sugars withdrew them on finding that the sugars withdrew them on finding that the sugars withdrew them on finding that the sugars with the s withdrew them on finding that the sugars were not wanted at the moment. In view of the recession of general trade and of the barely steady tone of the markets, it would be impossible to force a large deniand for refined at this time, and it would

Investors Are Tempted by the Low Prices.

NEBVOUSNESS

Buying Orders Are Executed on a Large Scale and a Sharp Recovery in Values Ensues. Gains Are General.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 -The stock market NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The stock market made a fairly satisfactory recovery today. The nervousness of the three preceding days has at length disappeared and the low prices to which stocks have declined have tempted investors to re-enter the market. The result was a good demand today that caused values to rise all through the list. The opening was naturally weak in view of the panicky conditions that prevailed yearleaded to the panicky but as no great desire to liquidate. terday, but as no great desire to liquidate was apparent, the tone quickly improved, and for most of the day the sentiment was fairly builish. Operators on both sides of the market soon began to buy heavily. of the market soon began to buy heavily, and the resultant rally reduced the declines to fractions. With the most pressing buying orders executed, trading quieted down, and the market again sugged to the lowest prices of the day, but at 11 o'clock another rally set in, and a healthy tone was maintained until the close. In the late dealings prices rose to the best of the day, and the close was quite strong. PORK-Block, 75 to 150 pounds, 898%c; packers, 7%68c. the day, and the close was quite strong.

The following report on the New York stock market and range of prices was received by private wire by the Overbeck & Cooke Company, of this city:

New York, Aug. 15.—After an active, nervous and lower opening, the stock market revived and closed at about the highest prices of the day.

Short covering on a very light scale was in evidence, and investors are coming in to pick up the good securities. In looking over the list and taking into consideration the enormous shrinkage of the past few months, it is only fair to assume that a great many unfavorable features, which have not been made public, but as a matter of fact have been factors in bringing about this decline, have been fully discounted. Many of the standard issues are selling on an extremely low basis for those who can an extremely low basis for those who can take care of them during any further depression. The decline has been so severe that in our judgment the list offers an opportunity for investment buyers such as does not often occur.

Meaning of "A Fisher of Men." INDEPENDENCE, Or., Aug. 14.—(To the Editor.)—There is no opinion so eccentric and improbable but that some one may be found to advocate it. I think it extremely unlikely that another minister could be found in Portland or clesewhere who would appear with the minister referred to in last found in Portland or elsewhere who would agree with the minister referred to in last danger, was struck by an ore chute. Monday's Oregonian, who regarded Zebedee thrown from the car and so badly injured that he died.

fishing nets and follow the Master, as did his sons, James and John. I have been in the ministry 50 years, and this is the first time I ever heard of any person holding time I ever heard of any person holding such an opinion.

The fact appears to be that Christ at that time was looking for young men whom he might train to become aposties and preaches of the gospel. This is made evident by what he had said a little before to Simon and Andrew: "Tome ye after me, and I will make ye to become fishers of men." He was not looking for old men to engage in that kind of service, and hence did not ask Zebedee to follow him in that sense at all. I am sure that ministers generally will agree with The Oregonian in the statement that Zebedee was doing his duty in sticking to his calling as a fisherman. They would not agree with The Oregonian, however, in its implied censure of James and John for leaving their nets at the call of the Master. Useful as is the calling of a fisherman, that of a "fisher of men" is more useful and more important, just as the calling of an editor of an influential newapaper is more important than that of a day laborer.

Moving Pears to New York. GRANT'S PASS. Or., Aug. 15 .- (Special.)-All day long teams from the 'nion have been steadily filing into town with Bartlett pears, where they are un-loaded at the warehouse and repacked into small boxes with the union label upon each. Tomorrow the first car from Rogue River Valley, loaded with fruit, will leave here on the through freight for New York. The pear crop is not so large as last year, but the grade is superior to any, and has been brought to a good standard in growing.
