OF COURSE THE SEALS WIN

Outclass Beavers in Hitting, Field ing and Base-Running - Home Team Gets Off First, but Is Quickly Overhauled.

Do not blame yesterday's defeat of the Portland team by the San Francisco out-fit on the fair feminine fanatics, for it was not their fault. The loss of the game should be charged to the entire Port-land club individually and collectively. The score was San Francisco 5, Portland The score was San Francisco 5, Portland 2, and how the visitors missed collecting 100 runs is hardly conceivable when the behavior of the home guard is taken into consideration. Perhaps it was the heat that caused the Seals to slack up a trifle in their exertions after they had tallied a quarter score of the aces required in order to avoid the application of kalsomine.

The visitors simply out-batted, out-The visitors simply outcoated out-fielded and ran the bases in better form than the present Portland aggregation can ever hope to attain. They simply made monkeys out of the Beavers and delighted in showing up the Beavers and delighted in showing up the local players in every department, and all this occurred after Portland had started after the game in royal style by taking the lead in the first inning. An army mule in a stake event is a fit comparison of the Portland team when it once gets started on aerial excursions in competition with the three real clubs in the four-team circuit.

It was a shame to disappoint such a large and enthusiastic gathering of femininity, all arrayed in its Summer togs of the "peckaboo" shirt waist variety, hosiery of numerous and widely differing colors, picture hats perched jauntily over smilling faces and colffures a la Gibson, single faces and colffures a la Gibson, smilling faces and colffures a la Gibson.

That is Pat Donahue was robbed of a nice Pat Donahue was robbed of hostery of numerous and whely disclined colors, picture hats perched jauntily over smiling faces and coiffures a la Gibson. And the girls liked the game. That is more than can be said of their escorts, many of whom had embraced a strong "hunch" that Portland had a chance for disters with the learning of the company of the contract o victory with the lengthy chap, Groom, on the rubber, and had succeeded in lay-ing sundry bets ranging from cigars to number on the outcome of the game, and as the home guard failed dismally in attaining victory, the misguided ones set-first by giving Wheeler a chance, and sat down. Burdette beat one out, and promptly stole second. Esola tossed high and the new outfielder chased to third. and the new outhelder chased to third.

Bassey looked dangerous to "Sliver"
Henley, who, by the way, has been rechristened "Cackle" by his fellow players, and the stubby outfielder walked.
Pat Donahue found a nice one which he sent to the right patch, and Burdette scored, while Bassey went all the way to third. Manager Mac then took a turn to third. Manager Mac then took a turn at the bat and sent a liner directly at "Pa" Irwin, who made the catch and beat Bassey back to the bag, thereby completing an unassisted double play, which retired the side.

Scener led off in the fourth by heating

Spencer led off in the fourth by beating out an infield poke, stole second and scored on Hildebrand's hit to right field, which tied the score. Portland again assumed to lead in the fifth, when Casey ambled, took second on Burdette's sacrifice and came home when "Cackle" heaved one over Esola's head. 'tickled the "fans" immensely, for neat little second baseman is a decided favorite, but unfortunately this gladsome state of affairs was not to last for any great length of time. The so-called "lucky seventh" proved the undoing of the Portland contingent. Hildebrand was passed by Groom. "Pa" Irwin sacri-ficed, and Williams tried a bunt which he beat out a block. At this juncture Donahue held a consultation with Robert Groom and it was decided to pass Chief Groom and it was decided to pass Chief Esola and take chances on Tay Streib. Groom failed to deliver his portion of the agreement, for he soaked Streib with the ball and forced Hildebrand over the register, and the bases remained crowded. "Babe" Willis fanned the air, and two were down. "Cackle" is usually an easy mark for the opposing pitcher, but Groom still retained his wild streak and issued another pass and forced Williams over another pass and forced Williams over the plate. Bobby took a hasty glance at the grandstand and some fair one must have looked her displeasure, for he set-tled down and fanned Spencer on three

So much for Groom's portion of the bad work. In the next inning the sup-porters of the lanky one behaved in the nost schoolish (some persons would call thost schoolish (some persons would call it foolish and harder names), of school-boy playing. Wheeler started it by striking out. Hildebrand seut out a screamer for two sacks. Irwin hit to Mott, who had Hildebrand caught between the bases.

and after joining in the chase with Fay, Casey, Atherton and Groom, finally signally failed to get either Hildy or Ir-win, who had run almost to second while the locals were doing the grandstand stunt of chasing the former back and forth. If Mott could learn to throw the ball instead of making motions, it would accomplish much more for the good of the team. Groom fanned Williams, and with two down, Esola cracked a single to center, on which Hildy rode home. Burdette threw to Donahue too late to get Hildy, but there was no excuse for allowing Irwin to some on the low that followers. win to score on the play that followed. On Burdette's throw Esola started for second, Donahue headed him off, and he was caught between the bases. While the big catcher dodged back and forth, the Portland players forgot all about Ir-win and he simply walked home while the chief was being put out. It was fine "bonehead" baseball displayed in that in-

Pat Donahue was robbed of a nice hit in the third inning, when Harry Spencer pulled his long drive out of the air. The speedy Portland backstop lost another drive in the sixth when George Wheeler assisted in getting him at first by Henley partially stopping the ball in its flight.

McCredie's drive directly at Irwin in the first inning was certainly a hard-luck hit, for had it passed the third baseman it would have scored two runs for Portland. As it was, Irwin turned it into a double play.

Chief Esola lost his grip on the ball as Fay started and instead of throwing to Wheeler, the ball fell from his grasp and rolled along the third-base line.

The game was a hard-fought, closely-contested affair and was decided by the close score of 2 to 1. Each team had scored one run when the last half of the sixth inning was in-augurated. Campbell, of the First Nationals, had reached third base. Young, the United States No. pitcher, contributed a wild pitch and the runner scored the winning tally that brought with it the championship.

Mrs. Stearns, wife of the captain of the victorious team, has promised the players a treat in the shape of a chicken dinner, and the successful ball-tossers are now eagerly anticipating the repast.

was decided not to undertake to hold so important an affair at this time, but to confine the tournament to St. Johns and Portland. However, the two days' shoot will be no small affair, now that the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club has joined the St. Johns club. Most of the members of the former organization have already come in and others are joining. The combining of the two organizations makes a very strong club. The tournament will be held on the Weyerhaeuser tract, which is under lease.

ROGERS TO FIGHT KAUFMANN

Tom O'Rourke's Glant Protege Against Pacific Coast Fighter.

Tom O'Rourke is going to match Joe Rogers, his heavyweight protege, against Al Kaufmann, whom Billy Delaney is going to bring East, says the New York Telegraph. This will be a good try-out for Rogers and will show what kind of metal he is made of. If he should be able to dispose of Kaufmann it will put him in line to meet Burns and the rest of the aspirants for Jeffries' crown. Kaufmann is a good man. He gave Jack O'Brien a great fight as a novice he lost in seventeen rounds, and Berger's aspirations. If Kaufmann gets here in time enough next month to train he next month to train he may be put on at the opening of the Fall meetings of the National Sporting Club of America, October L. It is certain to be interest-ing, as on the Coast they think Kaufmann can beat Burns, and the latter steers clear of him and refuses to give him a match.

Rogers is training every day at Brown's gymnasium in anticipation of a match of this kind. He wants to be tried out with a man like Kaufmann, he says, to what his chances are in the future.

'Excelsior" From Harney County.

Harney County News The past two weeks have brought into Harney County a great number of the class of men whose coming means a great deal in a business sense. We have been getting not only a large number of men and women who are seeking land upon which to make permanent homes for themselves, but among the arrivals have have been attracted here by the evident opportunities for investment, and in every case they have been confronted with con-ditions far beyond their expectations. Many of them have made investments, while others have been taking observations with the intent of reporting to those whom they represent, and all have gone away enthusiastic in praise of what they found here. It is easy to forcast the re-sult of those visits. The Valley is already becoming dotted with new homes in every direction, where industry and thrift are transforming the sagebrush prairies into demand.

All these influences at work in the outside world, as they will be after becoming interested here, will hasten the work of railroad building and will arouse the interest of other capitalists, will also bring in other homeseekers and homebuilders so that the ball of prosperous development, which has been so well started during the past 12 months, will continue to accumu late and take on momentum until its pro-gress will be irresistible.
