PIPES ARE ELECTROLYZED

Decay of Bull Run Water Mains Becomes Serious Menace. GRESHAM, Or., Aug. 22.—(Special).—Considerable annoyance and difficulty are being experienced with the huge conduit which supplies Portland with Bull Run water. Twice lately it has been necessary to excavate a large hole under some sections of the pipe in order to make repairs, and on each occasion a steam fire engine has been sent out from Portland to pump the hole dry so that the work might be done. The cause of the leakage is said by Dr. C. H. Raffety, a member of the Water Board, to be electrolysis, and the whole pipe is seriously menaced wherever an electric line runs near by.
