

State Fair grounds a week ago and the facts came to light today at a trial in the Justice's Court.

It seems there were some races at the Fair Grounds last Thursday, and West attended. Cecil Vaughn was to drive one of the horses in the race and drove the horse out from town hitched to a buggy in which he and a companion rod fast drive to the Fair Grounds was immediately followed by the first heat of the race, and then the horse was driven up and down the track for time before the second heat. In the coring, the horse had cut one of its front feet and in addition was breathing heavily. West thought the horse had been overworked and told Vaughn so when he started to get ready for the second heat. As his suggestion was not heeded. West told Vaughn that if the horse was put into that heat, then he would have the driver arrested for cruelty to animals.

A few hot words followed and in a moment there was a lively fist fight in progress. The crowd did not interpany. fere for some time, but finally the com-batants were separated. Neither was seriously hurt. After the fight, West refused to prosecute lest he be charged with a motive of revenge, but Joseph Baumgartner swore out a warrant. Vaughn was tried this afternoon and On January 9, 1885, the building was burned and until it was rebuilt on the same site, one year later, meetings were held in the I. O. O. F. Hall. acquitted.

was all over his body in patches, but the worst was on his face and head. His face was awfully bad; the eczema ez-tended up to the lower eyelids and I was just about sick for fear it would get into his eyes before I got it stopped. He cried and scratched all the time and could not sleep night or day from scratching. I took him to the best doctors, and one of them said that he would keep the disease till he got all of his teeth; but if I had de-pended on the doctors, I guess my boy would have been laid at rest by this time. My friends told me to try many kinds of remedies, and I pestered the child to death with all the different things, but could see no improvement. Finally I got discouraged, and was just about to give up all hope of his ever getting cured, when I read about the wonderful Cutioura Remedies, which came just in time to save my baby from the terrible torture. I used Cuti-cura Soap and Cuticure Ointment, and gave him Cutioura Resolvent, and I saw an improvement in three days, and in three weeks his skin was as clear as it could be. That was six or seven months ago, and I have not seen any return of the disease since. I should have written long ago, but I waited to see if it would return. I shall promend the use of Cuticura from one end of the world to the other. Mrs. Maggie Smith, 314 W. Crosier St. The applicants who passed the examina-tions will receive certificates as follows:
