Investors in Coos Bay Townsite Property Disappointed.

BRING ACTION IN COURT

Local Purchasers of Stock in South Harbor Development Company Seek to Realize on Holdings in New Promotion Concern.

When Portland people put their money n stock of a certain Coos Bay townsite company they supposed the enterprise would pay the promoters well, for promoters, as a rule, are not in the business

It would appear from the complaint entered in the Circuit Court yesterday with "Amended complaint-South Harbor Development Company vs. E. D. Whitney, C. W. Tower, issac Tower, C. W. Codding, E. R. Robinson, W. I. Latimer and Bennett Trust Company, that recent purchasers of stock in the townsite company are not quite satisfied with the manner the concern was organized. The complaint recites at great length how the individual defendants, or some now the individual defendants or some of them, obtained an option on certain lands near Marshfield, belonging to Stephen and Plesily Lapp, for $11,700. It was the intention of the organizers of the land company to form a stock company to which the land would be transferred, the tract platted into manufacturing sites and sulfding lots and put on the market. In furtherance of this plan, two members of the optionists, according to the complaint, sold stock in the townsite company, the real estate being put in at a valuation of $20,500.

A list of those buying stock in the new company is given in the amended company in the amended company is given in the amended company in the amended company is given in the amended company in the amended company is given in the amended company in the amended company is given in the amended company in the amended company is given in the amended company in the amended company is given in the amended company in the amended company is given in the amended company in t

A list of those buying stock in the new company is given in the amended complaint as follows, with the amount subscribed by each: G. W. Waterbury, $250; John Lamont, $500; P. I. Harris, $400; S. S. Lamont, $100; W. G. Kegler, $1000; Charles M. Hemphill, $1000; J. E. Davis, $250; S. L. Hays, $500; A. C. Gage, $500; F. E. Brockenbrough, $250, and K. S. Mc-Bride, $250. The promoters also appear on the list of stockholders in various amounts.

amounts. When the option was about to expire, when the option was about to expire, so runs the complaint, it was voted to send El D. Whitney with $2500 to Marshfield, there to raise the balance of the money from the original option holders with which to meet the payment and have the deal closed up.

Averment is made that "in order to keep secret from the other stockholders the true amount paid for the property, the optionists had formed the dennet the optionists had formed the mennett Trust Company, and it was to that company the transfer of the tract was made at a figure different from that underbought stock from Whitney. It is charged that with the $2500 voted by the recent stockholders, $4000 was to have been raised by the optionists and Whitney was to put in $1000, thus provising for a payment of $7500 to the Lapps. The plaintiffs represent that but $2000 was paid the Bennett Trust Company, and that the balance was givided between Crematorium were private.

FIRES AT FOREST GROVE

Spreading Rapidly Through Hills North and West of Town

FOREST GROVE, Or., Aug. 22.— (Special.) — Forest fires have been burning at several places in the hills burning at several places in the hills north and west of here during the past two or three days. So far the damage has not been very heavy. The fires have been running mostly on the ground, burning tops of trees that have been cut and weeds and undergrowth among standing timber, but not seriously affecting live trees.

M. W. Patton, of the Base Line Lumber Company, reports today that the fire ran through his logging ground just beyond Gale's Peak where a half million feet of logs was down.

Contaminating a Stream. PORTLAND, Or., Aug. 22 - (To the Editor.)—On Monday last I returned by team from the headwaters of Wind River, Wash. While crossing the bridge over said river, located four miles above Carson, a buggy drove ahead of our team. Its sole occupant drove close to the side of the bridge, lifted a sack, containing some four or five full-grown cats, and weighted by a rock out of his buggy, and threw it into the clear water of the stream. The struggling of the dying felines rolled the sack and contents for a short distance until it lodged in a deep hole in the river, where the decaying carcasses of the cats will henceforth contaminate the pure water of said mountain stream.

Farmers below this point and some 500 or 600 sojourners at St. Martin's and the new mineral springs, are daily drinking this water. I drank it myself a week prior, while fishing on the stream near the springs. On learning who the perpetrator of this dastardly act was, I felt more incensed than ever. His name is Wigel, and he holds the position of a Government forest ranger in the Skamania County Reserve. That such a beast, endangering the health of the people, is able to hold a federal position is astonishing to me. He should be made, per force pump, to drink the river dry as long as the cats in question remain lodged in the stream. Frank Easterbrook, conducting a livery stable at Carson, and wife, and another gentleman residing at that place, but whose name I forget, witnessed the act.

Allow me the query: Is it find a federal offense to contaminate a mountain stream? Or have the county health officers authority in the matter? If so, the County Health Officer of Skamania County should get busy to prosecute this wreton. I am willing to appear as a witness at any time, if subpensed.
