CHURCHES TO MEET

Methodists Hold Annual Conference Next Month.

GRACE CONGREGATION HOST

Delegates to National Gathering Will Be Selected and Oregon Pastors Assigned to Stations for the Coming Year.

Business of much importance will come up at the annual session of the Oregon conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which will convene in Grace Church, September 24. David Hastings Moore, resident bishop, will preside. The members, comprising all the ministers in the East and West Portland, Salem and Klamath mission districts, will be the guests of Portland Methodists, principally those of Grace and Taylor-street churches.

Last year's session was held at Sunnyside, all the members of the conference being the guests of that church, of which Dr. T. B. Ford is pastor. A large tent was used for the greatest gatherings of the sessions, and for smaller meetings the auditorium of the church was used. The book concern exhibited its wares in the Epworth League room.

There are a number of very important matters coming up before this session, one of which is the election of delegates to the general conference of the church, which meets next May in Baltimore. Every branch of the Methodist Episcopal Church throughout the world is represented at the quadrennial gathering, which is one of the most notable ecclesiastical bodies on the globe. The laws of the organization, technically known as the discipline, are made or amended, as the needs arise, and every feature of the activities of the denomination are discussed.

Each conference throughout Methodism is entitled to one delegate to each 45 ministers, an equal number of ministerial and lay representatives being chosen. Therefore, the Oregon conference has had two ministers and two laymen, but it is now believed that it is entitled to one more of each, bringing the number up to six. This will greatly strengthen the delegation.

There are many prominent ministers who may be selected, but laymen are not so easily found. The requirements are many, and it is difficult to secure those who are fully qualified to act and who have time to spare away from their business. That those who go will be chosen from among the following list, seems pretty certain: B. Lee Paget, of Taylor-street Church; A. F. Fiegel, of Trinity Church; R. A. Booth, of Eugene; W. C. Hawley, of Salem; F. D. Sackett, of Sheridan; M. C. Rankin, of Grace Church.

The business of most general interest to the public is the assignment of pastors to the various churches in the four districts that comprise the Oregon Conference. The presiding bishop has the appointing power, and announces the lists about the last thing each annual session. With his cabinet, the presiding elders of the districts, he canvasses the entire situation

INCREASED OWN SALARIES

COMPLAINT AGAINST TRUSTEES OF NOON BAG COMPANY.

Held to Noon Estate Say $26,427 Is Due Them in Dividends, According to Terms of Will.

Emily J. Noon, Viola E. Noon, Lulu A. Werner, Ralph A. Noon and Alma E. Noon, heirs to the estate of the late W. C. Noon, have brought suit in the Circuit Court against T. J. Armstrong, W. C. Noon, Jr., H. M. Calk and the W. C. Noon Bag Company, alleging that as one of the executors of the estate, W. C. Noon, Jr., has failed to pay over to the plaintiffs $26,427, as required by the will. This money is a dividend on 1149 shares of stock in the W. C. Noon Bag Company.

It was the desire of the trustees of the company to apply the $26,427 on debt of the estate, but in a former trial the Supreme Court decided that as the will directed that the money be paid to the heirs, this must be done. It is now alleged that instead of paying over the money, the trustees have applied it in the interest of the bag company of which they are directors.

H. M. Calk tendered his resignation as trustee in June, 1906, and on August 1, W. C. Noon, Jr., also filed his resignation with the Circuit Court, and a decree ordering that it be accepted was given by the court. Then it is alleged, that Noon, Jr., and Armstrong tried to increase their salaries from $175 and $150 a month, respectively, to $250 a month, to commence in August, 1904, at the time of the death of Noon, Sr. A further increase of Armstrong's salary, it is alleged, has been made to $350 a month. The plaintiffs now ask that the decree accepting the resignation of Noon, Jr., be set aside, until he shall have paid over the $26,427 to the heirs, that he then be declared free from his duties as trustee, and that the resignation of Calk be accepted immediately. They also ask that the defendants be enjoined from making any further increases in salary, and that Emily J. Noon and another person named by the court be appointed to succeed Calk and Noon, Jr., as trustees.

The Portland Federated Trades have entered into a contract with Life Pence whereby he is to furnish it with 10,000 cords of fir wood in cord lengths. This is to be sold for $5 a cord at the docks and at $6 a cord delivered. It will not be saved, however, at this price. An offer of 2000 cords of 4-foot fir wood from another source has also been made to the Federated Trades, but that body has not yet closed the deal. It is said that this, too, can be sold for $5 and $6 a cord. P. McDonald, editor of the Labor Press, believes that fir wood can easily be sold for $8 a cord within three months. Box wood to householders living near the mill is now being sold for $1.5 a load, but is said to be fit only for kindling.

WORK ON BURNSIDE BRIDGE

Contracts being let by the County Commissioners for the improvement of the Burnside-street bridge, to cost approximately $20,000. The east approach will be almost entirely rebuilt, and the entire structure will be re-decked.

Brooklyn Excursion Here Today.

A special New York Central train will reach Portland this morning at 3 A. M. over the Northern Pacific, bringing a party of 75 business men of Brooklyn, New York. The excursionists are members of the Brooklyn League, a prominent commercial organization of that place. The visitors will be taken about the city today in special trolley cars by local commercial bodies and will leave tonight at 3:30 P. M. for the return east.

High Jinks. Ever had 'em? Buy a copy of the September Pacific Monthly now on sale and read how the Bohemian Club of California have them annually. They're a good thing.

If Baby is Cutting Teeth
 Be sure and use that old well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, relieves pain, cures the inflammation, and keeps the baby comfortable.

BAKER SEASON SEAT SALE

Line of Purchasers 600 Feet Long When Box Office Opens.

Any one who is skeptical as to Portland's standing as a theater town should have been at the corner of Third and Yamhill streets yesterday morning and witnessed the patiently waiting and slowly moving line of humanity that had taken position at the Baker Theater, beginning with early dawn, for the purpose of making season reservations of seats.

As early as 3 A. M. the eager theater-goers commenced to assemble in front of the playhouse, and by 6:30 A. M. there were at least 500 persons in line. Some had brought cracker boxes, some had camp stools, and others had improvised seats of all descriptions, and nearly all had brought something in the way of eatables. When Manager George L. Baker arrived on the scene shortly after 8 o'clock the line extended around the corner and well toward Second street, and when the box office opened the end of the line had extended south on Second and was over 600 feet in length.

No complaints were heard from the waiting crowd and when the late comers wanted to take their seats, they were politely requested to go to the end of the line and take their places, and nearly all acquiesced. It was the greatest and most orderly opening sale the Baker Theater has ever enjoyed.

The house has undergone a thorough overhauling this Summer and will open with "The Lady" to be followed by "The Woman in the Case."

EDITORS TO HAVE OUTING

Leave on Thursday for Astoria. Clambake at Seaside.

Next Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday will be gala days for members of the "Fourth Estate," the various editors of daily, weekly and monthly newspapers in Oregon comprising the Oregon Press Association. Next Thursday evening the knights of the shears and pastepot will assemble in Portland, and Friday morning will leave down the river on the steamer Telegraph for Astoria.

The party will arrive there about 8 P. M., and at 2:30 P. M. the real business of the association will be taken up in the Astoria Chamber of Commerce. At 8 P. M. a reception will be given, and the evening will be devoted to social functions.

Early Saturday morning the party will leave Astoria and take a special train for Seaside, arriving there at 8:25. The rest of the day will be spent in business meetings and the regular routine work of the association. These meetings will be held at the Hotel Moore, the headquarters of the association during its stay at Seaside. The evening will be devoted to social affairs, the feature being a reception tendered by the people of Seaside. Sunday morning the party will leave the Hotel Moore, and the party will return to Astoria late in the afternoon for lunch.

SAYS HUSTON STOLE HIS WIFE

W. B. Kauffman Asks $10,000 From Pickle Merchant.

W. B. Kauffman, a typotype operator of this city, considers his wife's affections worth $10,000 according to a complaint which he filed in the Circuit Court yesterday, against Francis B. Huston, a pickle merchant and wine-grower of prominence, who lives at the Portland Hotel.

Case for King Solomon.

A case which would try even the wisdom of King Solomon has come before the juvenile Court within the last few days. A little 2-year-old babe known as William Dudley Tomlin and also as Orce Carlton Livingston Rowlee is claimed by Mrs. Sallie Tomlin and Mrs. Norma Rowlee. Until the court decides which woman is the mother of the child it will be retained in the care of Matron Graham of the Boys' and Girls Aid Society. Judge Peralta will hear the case next Friday.

Sues Railroad for $400.

A. A. Cunningham claims that the injuries he sustained in a wreck on the Klamath Lake Railroad on June 15, last month, have been caused by the negligence of the engineer, and that his head and arm were pinned down by a broken door.

Sues to Recover on Check.

In a suit filed yesterday in the Circuit Court it is alleged that A. J. Enderlin, of the International Post Card Company, did not have funds enough in the defunct Oregon Trust & Savings Company to cover a check for $245.63, which he wrote in favor of F. Von Bardeleben. The plaintiffs are William Knauth, Frederick Schuch, Othmar Kuhne, Max Hesseberg and Max Jaffe.

GRAZING NEAR PESTHOUSE

Wander Unmolested About Hills and Come in Contact With Refuse Thrown Out From Hospital.

Infected from contact with a small-pox patient, and cited the discovery of vaccine by Dr. Jenner through such communication. He added, however, that the posthumous is a model of cleanliness and that nothing is thrown out that in any way could be a menace. All bandages and clothing that had been used by a patient suffering from a contagious disease are either thoroughly fumigated and rendered innocuous or destroyed entirely.

He was rather dubious about the matter of cows contracting disease in grazing near the pesthouse, but said that as a precaution the county authorities should erect fences so that cattle could not approach danger. There had been no epidemic of smallpox, he said, that would cause his department to make an examination, and he was of the opinion that conditions at the poor farm were satisfactory.

"If there are milch cows prowling around the pesthouse, the State Food Commissioner, Inspector Will, is getting after them in short order. I should say," concluded Dr. Yennet.

Colonel Crooks Is Ill.

Colonel William Crooks, assistant to General Manager O'Brien of the Harri-man interests in this territory, has been taken sick again and is confined to his rooms at the Imperial Hotel. Colonel Crooks recently returned to his desk after an illness of several weeks and his former trouble, a combination of stomach disorders and rheumatism, again attacked him. It is believed he will recover after a few days rest.
