MAIL OF THE AUTO

Dr. G. E. Watts Writes of the Drivers' Troubles.

WANTS WAGONS NUMBERED

Thinks Same Penalties Should Attach to Careless Equine Drivers as to Motorists—Some Defects of the City Government.

PORTLAND, Or., Aug. 26.—(To the Editor.)—If you will allow me a little space I would like to say a word in defense of automobiles and auto users.

A great deal has been said about automobiles, reckless driving, speed laws, etc., by people who were not entirely familiar with the subject they were trying to handle. This has been demonstrated by their change and use state numbers.

Now, supposing I am driving on Washington street behind a car and wish to turn to the right, I should be compelled to wait until the car in front of me has turned to the right, and then I should pass wherever it is clear, to the right of the up-bound car if possible.

Another thing that needs attention is the street crossings. Most of them if new are four inches too high, if old they are six inches too high.

There have been very few accidents, considering the number of autos in use and the number of drivers who are amateurs, and when they do occur you will find that in 99 per cent of the cases both parties are equally to blame.

No arrests have ever been made in the thickly crowded streets like Fifth and

Washington, or Third and Morrison, but away out at the edge of the city limits, at Montavilla, or away up Washington street, where one might drive 60 miles an hour and not hurt anybody except himself, except by a rare chance.

There are many things that need touching up more than automobiles. For instance, teamsters who drive along in front of cars, block after block, and will not pull out or let them go by.

and their mouths open and are not able to look out for themselves. Of course they have to be protected, not from the ordinary auto driver, but from one of their own kind or class who happens to be driving an auto, for you will find a few of this class in all pursuits of life, and they have got to be protected from one another, but in the effort made to protect them the rights of those competent to look out for themselves have been infringed upon.

IRISH REJECT COMPROMISE

REDMOND THREATENS MORE MENACING AGITATION.

British Cabinet's Surrender to Lords Causes All Nationalists to Leave House of Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Chief Secretary for Ireland announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the government is prepared to accept some of the Lords' amendments to the Irish evicted tenants bill, whereupon Redmond, chairman of the Irish party, declined to participate in the discussion of the measure.

Mr. Redmond accused the government of breaking its promises by failing to afford tenants an opportunity to return to their homes wherefrom they were evicted.

The Irish Nationalists thereupon left the house, which then appointed another committee to confer with the Lords and see what could be saved of the mutilated measure.

Mr. Smith spent three months in China and was greatly impressed by what he saw. He found that in parts of China newspapers innumerable were being published and widely read.

LIKES BULL RUN WATER Ringling, the Circus Man, Praises Portland's Water Supply.

"This Bull Run water you have in Portland is the best to be found in a month of travel," said Mr. Ringling, manager and one of the owners of Ringling Brothers' circus, as he stood giving directions in the mammoth show tent after the performance yesterday afternoon.

"I like to have the show lay over Sunday here for several reasons," he continued, "and one of them is that not only the members of the company but also the animals, both wild and tame, may have the benefit of this superb Bull Run water. You see, in going from place to place as we must we strike all kinds of accommodations. We can usually secure good, or at least, fair shelter and food, but the water we must take as we find it. And some of it is so bad that it is almost impossible to drink. So you can readily see why we travellers consider this Bull Run water, clear, cold and pure as that of any mountain brook, a treat that you Portlanders do not always fully appreciate.

Four out of every five pounds of weight both in men and animals is nothing but water; so you see how necessary it is that we secure it as pure as possible. Our people here must be in the pink of health to do their dangerous work, and wild animals in captivity are especially liable to sickness. Good food, fresh air, exercise, and pure water are necessary to health. Every one owns that, even if most people do not act on it. With wild animals exercise is of course extremely important, and it is up to you Portlanders to do your best for the other requirements. Nothing will sicken man or beast so surely and so quickly as that it is not given the best. Nothing will cure him so certainly and so rapidly as the pure water you have here in Portland.

Mr. Ringling chatted pleasantly this afternoon, and expressed himself as more than pleased over the reception given to his show in this city. "I only wish we had seats for all who came today," he added. "Of course we would like the money that the extra seats would bring in, but above that it is our duty to see that people turned away disappointed, especially children. A circus to a boy is an event, and when he has his dime in his hand and can't get in his troubles are more than he can bear. But if it hurts him it does me too. All those we had to turn away today I would gladly ask within the tent free if I could."
