Worn and exhausted from his hurried trip across the continent, suffering from the severe strain he has been under since the first news of the fail-ure of the Oregon Trust & Savings Bank reached him at New York last Bank reached him at New York last.
Wednesday, Cashier W. Cooper Morris

ried home to get rest. He has had no opportunity to talk with any one connected with the bank and knows nothing further about developments in the case than he has learned from newspapers snatched hurriedly on his way home. Mr. Morris made a signed way home. Mr. Morris made a signed statement, however, saying he will use every cent he has in the world to make any loss to depositors. Morris is rested and learns what has transpired here during the past week.

As to blaming his fellows in the bank management for their part in conducting affairs or to retaliate for their statements that the crash was due to his own mismanagement, Cashler Morris has as yet not a word to say. He wants first to learn the real situation here, and then he may express himself. It will be useless for brokers and local shylocks to buy up claims of depositors in the defunct Oregon Trust & Savings Bank, for Receiver Devlin declares he will not pay assigned claims for a cent more than the cost of the claim. Re-ceiver Devlin is aware of the work these brokers are doing and says every effort is being made to discourage depositors have heard no word from Mr. Morris. We have no doubt but the bonds he took away with him are now en route to Portland by express, but they have not arrived as yet. We know that a portion of the bonds that were in the East are on their way back, for we had a message from the First National Bank, of New York, that a quantity of bonds examined by it with the intention of purchasing have been shipped back, but have not

It is believed that the slow delivery of the securities taken by Mr. Morris is due to the fact that one day is lost in Chi-cago by the transfer of express to the Pacific Coast trains. The package of bonds is expected to reach Portland to-day. The securities Mr. Morris took with him in the hope of saying the bank by him, in the hope of saving the bank by raising money on them, total nearly $300,000 in value.

MEAT DEALER IS FINED

F. L. Smith Convicted of Selling Spoiled Meat, but Will Appeal.

F. L. Smith, a meat dealer, was fined $50 in the Municipal Court yesterday norning for selling bad meat. Mrs. Anna Straub the complainant bought a beef tongue at Smith's Meat Market August 16. She testified that the following morning when she began preparing the tongue she noticed some spots on it, also that a piece had been cut off. Having carefully salted it the night before, Mrs. Straub knew it could not have spoiled since she had pur-chased it and at once reported the case to Mrs. Sarah A. Evans. Market In-spector, who caused Smith's arrest.

Mrs. Evans verified the statement of he complainant concerning the conthe complainant concerning the condition of the tongue.

The defense contended that Smith himself had no knowledge of the sale of the spoiled meat and that his orders were strict concerning this very thing. It was also declared that it had not been proved that the tongue was bought at Smith's.

The court held that Smith was responsible for all meats passing over his counters and that he should see to it that none of his assistants sold any that was tainted.

that was tainted. "I consider this a very serious case," said Judge Cameron. "The weather has been cool and there is no reason why this meat should have spoiled. I'll make the fine $50." The case will be appealed, Smith giving a bond of

The road improvement question was can drive into Tillamook within a few hours would be mutual to both Portland business men and the citizens of Tillamook, for the latter are practically cut off from the world during the heaviest portion of the rainy season. The roads leading into the rich Coast country are almost impassable in Winter and traversed only by the stage from Thiamook to Sheridan. During the rainy season a great deal of the travel into Tillamook goes in by way of the little steamers running from Astoria, but within a few

The coming of the railroad does not materially affect the demand for a good thoroughfare to the Coast, for the reason that an automobile can travel to Tilla-mook from Fortland in practically the same time as does the train. It is much more convenient, according to business men, for the reason that one can jump into a machine at any time and start without waiting on a schedule.

While a great portion of the roads traversed to and from Tillamook were splendid thoroughfare, and prove of great While at Tillamook the Portland party

See Bayocean Park.

Last Saturday the party was taken ove to Bayocean Park in steam launches provided by the Tillamook recep-tion committee, and after viewing the splendid scenery in the vicinity of the new seaside resort, they sat down to a splendid luncheon prepared by the Potter-Chapin Realty Company. R. D. Inman was chosen toastmaster, and toasts were drunk to the success of Bayocean Park, which is designed to be a leading Summer resort for Portland people. Mr. Inman in his speech lauded the enterprise of the promoters in selecting such a beautiful spot, and announced that he would do all in his power to make the proposed auto-mobile road to Tillamook and Bayocean Park a success. Mr. Inman's sentiments were echoed by all present.

The unique feature of the trip was the fact that barring a few loosened bolts caused by an exceedingly rough portion of the road, and the running out of water and gasoline by two cars, the trip was made by all machines without the slight-est injury. The drivers of the machines tightened up the bolts without delay and the needed water and gasoline was fur nished by the other cars, so that no great 95.00 delay was experienced by any of the ex- | water

Peter Pan Will Not Race Again. NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—James R. Keene has confirmed the statement that Peter Pan, his great 3-year-old champion, would positively not fill his Fall engagements at Sheepshead Bay, Gravesend, Brighton and Belmont Park, and that there is hardly a chance of the horse being seen in a race again. Peter Pan's retirement from the turf is due to the impossibility of getting such an abnormally big hors in condition to put up a first-class rac without risking a complete breakdown.

Contest Likely to Be Carried to Higher Courts and Into Next Session of the Legislature.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 28.-(Spec.al.)-The church element has won its first fight against the Meadows. Today, Frank Clancy closed the bar at the racetrack and announced he would stay closed until the courts determined whether or not he has the right to sell liquors.

As explained heretofore, the Meadows track is within the mile radius from this city, wherein liquor licenses are barred, and Clancy has been running without a municipal or county license. As the first step toward closing the Meadows, the church organization has tried to close the bar and after a fight extending almost bar, and after a fight extending almost 60 days has succeeded, through Clancy's arrest for illicit liquor traffic.

If Clancy waits until his case is decided, the meet may close before a decision is had. Clancy pays the track association $13,500 for his bar privilege for the season. If he can sustain his position he If he can sustain his position he will prove that he can sell to jockey club members and that county authorities have no right to interfere with nim. Irrespective of the outcome of the bar fight, the church crowd, aided by disgruntled gamblers, will take up the projet of closing the track at the next Legislature. The bar fight is principally im-portant, in that it foreshadows the next

Clerks received all business offered and the click of ma-chines in the back rooms had scarcely a break. No new men were put to work, but the files were pretty well cleaned up.

The local office of the Associated Press received information of a satisfactory nature from the head office. One statement follows: "So far as the East is concerned the strike is practically broken. The Associated Press is making slower progress in the West, but at the same time some improvement is noticeable." The Associated contends it is bring-ing in as many items of news as before the strike, but in somewhat abbreviated form.

At the Portland strikers' headquar ters the men on duty were much grati-fied to receive a communication from a merchant in Jacksonville enclosing $20 and saying in his letter:

"I think your cause is just, your labor being mental and therefore hard. The corporation you are in trouble with is amply able to pay the men liberally for the service rendered. I hope they will be successful in their efforts. A letter was also received from

WHAT IT IS

Composition of the Famous Food. A wide spread interest has been created among good livers, as to the created among good livers, as to the composition of Grape-Nuts, the food that has become popular and famous the world over.

It has long been known to physicians, chemists and food experts, that the starchy portion of entire wheat and barley flours is transformed into a true and very choice sugar, by the act of intestinal digestion in the human body. This sugar is identical with, and is known as grape-sugar, and it is in condition for immediate transformation into blood and the necessary structure from which the delicate nerve centers are built up. A food expert followed a line of ex-periments until he produced the food called Grape-Nuts, of which grape-sugar forms the principal part, and it is produced by following Nature's pro-cesses in a mechanical way. That is, heat, moisture and time are the methods employed and directed by scientific facts gained in research.

Grape-Nuts food is probably en-titled to the claim of being the most perfectly adapted food for human needs in existence. Certain it is that the user's delight in the flavor and the perfect action of intestinal digestion during the use of Grape-Nuts is satisfying, and the added strength of body confirms the fact.
