TWO MEN CLAIM ONE BLUE RIBBON

First Prize on Milch Cows Awarded, Then Recalled, but Hinkle Stands Pat.

JUDGES MIX THE NUMBERS

Roseburg Man Holds Ribbons, Frakes Got Premium and $40 in Cash-Bad Tangle.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 2 .- (Special.) -- Notwithstanding the fact that the record shows P. A. Frakes to be the winner of the first prize for milch cows at the State Fair, A. E. Hingle, of Roseburg, has possession of the blue ribbon and declares that he will hold it until the State Fair Board takes it away from him in a legal manner. Frakes, however, will get the premium, $40 in cash, and his cow will be officially recorded as champion milk producer. Frakes not worrying about the blue ribbon, but will expect the State Fair Board to get it and deliver it to him.

When the milk tests were made, the men who kept the record gave each ow a number. A number had already been assigned each cow when entered in the contest, and these numbers did not correspond. When the test record was delivered to the superintendent of the dairy department, the figures were transcribed according to numbers. Thus it happened that no cow was credited with her own record.

In accordance with the figures as they appeared, the blue ribbon was delivered to Mr. Hinkle for his red polled cow, "Snowdrop," and other rib-bons were delivered in the same manner. A half hour later the error was discovered and the return of all rib-bons requested. All were returned except that delivered to Hinkle, who said that he had compiled with all rules, that a blue ribbon had been regularly awarded him and that he proposed to keep it until it should be taken away by the State Fair Board. There the matter rests for the present.

Don't Spray; Don't Have To.

This was another big day for the State Fair, though the crowd did not equal that of yesterday or Wednesday. The weather was perfect. Tomorrow evening the fair will close its most successful session.

We don't spray and we don't have is the proud assertion made in the Clatsop County booth, where a splendid display of apples is made. This is the only collection of unsprayed fruit at the Fair and it is perfectly free from both worms and scale. The exhibit consists chiefly of Fall apples, Gravensteins, Red Astrakhans and Kings, though a plate of Baldwins is on exhibition and it is asserted that Spitzenbergs and Ben Davis, thrive and produce well in Clatsop County. Be-cause of the great expense of spraying, Willamette Valley growers listen with much interest to the Clatsop declaracriticism is largely well founded. While Arnold to de there is a display of articles manufac-vile names. tured in Oregon and it is creditable as far as it goes, it is too limited to be a fair representation of Oregon manufactured products. The few articles entered are widely scattered and attract no particular attention. In farm machinery a good display is made, but the implements are mixed in with those of foreign manufacture and therefore receive no spe-cial attention. Aside from a good line of farm machinery, a little soap and some flour, there is nothing to speak of in the shape of Oregon manufactures. Oregon has several woolen mills, but no exhibit of woolen goods at the Fair. Boots and shoes are made in this state, on a limited scale, it is true, but there is no exhibit at the Fair. There are a number of furniture factories, iron foundary school, cadries, book binderies, wine factories, salliff asks to have the child placed in the mon canneries, paper mills, various wood-working establishments, cigar facorles, cordage factories and innumerable other manufacturing institutions which play an important part in the de which play an important part in the development of the industries of the state, even though they are operating in a comparatively small way. Southern Oregon has recently gone extensively into the production of grapes, and wine of excellent quality is made. There are many small manufacturers of foods and medicines. With proper encouragement in mearly every manufactured article could be placed on display at the Fair, thus informing our own people of the products the product of the state, when a crowlet doing two years from Grant County for larceny, was missing. Or., Sept. 20.—When John Brown, Pany, I latter I with the production of care of convicts engaged in baling straw in the penientary field, checked up his gang this morning it was found that Otis Brown, a convict doing two years from Grant County for larceny, was missing. With an abundance of water power going to waste and an unlimited quan-tity of raw material at hand, with a climate and soil that will produce all the raw material that may be needed, there is room for the development of manufacturing. By special effort the Oregon State Fair could encourage manufacturing as it has encouraged livestock breed-

One of the first essentials is a department, preferably located in a building by itself, devoted exclusively to Oregon manufactures. If such a department were maintained, Oregon people would soon learn more about the resources and industries of their control of the c

Marion County d.d not compete this year in the county exhibit contest. It is realized that in a contest of that kind Marion has an undue advantage for the reason that the fair is held in this county. Since Marion has been barred, with its own consent, all other counties are placed upon practically an equal basis. Nevertheless, Marion has an exhibit that reflects great credit upon W. A. Taylor, who prepared it. The fact that under the rules he cannot receive a prize is the only reason he is without a ribbon.

MAY BE TROUBLE FOR JURORS

Judge Whitson Says There. Must Be Positive Evidence Against Ruick.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 20.—In charging the special grand jury sworn in today, Judge Whitson dwelt at length upon the case against United States District Attor-ney Ruick. Mr. Ruick was charged by members of a former grand jury with practically coercing them to return land-fraud indictments against United States Senator W. E. Borah and others. Judge Whitson held that the grand jury could find a true bill gainst Mr. Ruick only if it could be shown that Mr. Ruick had acted with a corrupt purpose in view. The Judge said that if the grand jury found the charges made by the former grand jurors to be false, an indictment should issue for them.

AUBURN, Wash., Sept. 26 -- (Special.)-. A. Circuit Judge Makes Himself Clear When He Is Lenient With Two First-Offenders at

ASTORIA, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Five undred dollars, the timit allowed under the state law, will be the fine imposed by Judge McBride, of the Circuit Court, upon any person who in the future is found guilty in his court on a charge of gambling. That was the announcement made by him from the bench this after-noon when imposing sentence in other

This afternoon Al Seafeldt and John Stephenson, local saloon men, pleaded guilty to charges of being proprietors of places where gambling was conducted, and eight other men pleaded guilty to a charge of gambling. Eight of the defend-ants were accused of playing draw poker in the saloons run by Seafeldt and Stephenson, respectively.

The attorney for the defense, in asking for the elemency of the court, said the proprietors of the saloons were not inter-ested in the games and got nothing from them except what few drinks the particl-pants might purchase; also that the men playing were in no way connected with the saloons, but were customers who were engaging in a game among themselves.
In pronouncing judgment Judge McBride

"There has been a radical change here recently in regard to gambling, as be-fore the order was issued by the District Attorney to close all games the city had practically licensed gambling games. I realize there may be a misunderstanding as to whether the law applies to all games as to whether the law applies to all games of chance, or merely to what are known as 'banking games,' and as these are the first arrests under the law, I am inclined to show leniency. Therefore, it is the judgment of the court that Stephenson and Seafeldt pay fines of $25 each and the others pay $20 each. This leniency must not, however, be understood to apply to the future. To play poker or any other game of chance in a cigar store, saloon or any other place is just as much an infraction of the law as is the playing of any tion of the law as is the playing of any banking game in the lowest gambling hell. Now that this will be made public and every one w... understand it, I desire to announce right here that if any of these defendants or any other person is brought before me on a charge of gambing he will be subject, upon conviction, to a fine of $500, which is the limit allowed under the state law."

NEW MILLS WAIT FOR RATE

Railroads Do Not Propose to Change Tariff Every Few Days.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 20 .- (Special.) -Lumber and shingle rates announced to take effect November 1 will only ap-ply to mills now in existence or which may be built at some station shown in the new transcontinental tariffs. A lumber or shingle mill built at some location and putting down a siding for the ac-commodation of its business will either have to pay a local tariff to some point quoted in the tariff or wait until the railroads get time to publish an amend-ment to the tariff showing the new mil town. Under the rulings of the Wash ington State Commission a 20 days' no-tice of a new rate is necessary and that much of a wait would be necessary be fore a combination of a local and transcontinental rate could give the mill any outlet for its business

The railroads are not in much of a hurry to publish supplements to their tariffs and any new lumber or shingle mill established in the future may have a long wait ahead of it before through rates to points covered by the new tariff are granted. Every point opened to a new mill would have to be covered in the special tariff, for rates can only be quoted between points covered in a tariff filed with the Interstate Commerce appears on the surface, for it is a fre-quent practice of lumbermen to establish new mills at some point in the country, giving the millsite the name of a station and asking for a rate. Never Austere

The term muck-raker gets thrown at us, but that's not us; we aim to be cheerful people. A child could sit in our lap and eat ice cream when we had our best clothes on—chocolate ice cream at that.

Muck-raking is only a by-product; here's a crowd of us, calling ourselves the United States, spending say $100,000,000 a day, and 20% of it may be going to manufacture misery for humans: Bribery, indigestion, injustice, child labor, and general cussedness.

It's too much money-we can't afford it

When our economical streak is on, we'd like to see some of it saved to spend for happiness. Just as if we saw a man cleaning off a horse with sizzling boiling oil, instead of water, we'd say: "Here, that oil cost money—besides, you're spoiling the horse.
