FAVOR GULCH SITE

Health Board Members Adhere to First Choice.

TAKE NO FORMAL ACTION

Council Is Now Left to Select New Grounds on West Side for City's Garbage Burner.

If any report on the garbage crematory question is submitted to the Council at its meeting this afternoon it will probably be a second recommendation of the site at the mouth of Sullivan's Gulch, on the East Side. Although the Health Board has not met since the last session of the Council, individual members have declared that they still favor the East Side location and have authorized Health Officer Pohl to so report to the Council.

At the last meeting of the Council the proposed site at the mouth of Sullivan's Gulch was rejected in deference to a strong protest from East Side property owners. It was then voted to ask the Health Board to name a new site on the West Side. This the board has not done and, from all indications, if the Council wants a West Side location for the crematory it will have to select it.

Two members of the Health Board have authorized me to say that they still favor the location on the East Side," said Dr. Pohl last night. "The board has held no meeting and I do not suppose that a report will be submitted to the Council tomorrow. These members feel that they used their best judgment in picking out this site in the first place and they see no reason to change their opinion."

It is not likely that the Council will reconsider its former action and locate the crematory on the East Side and if the Health Board refuses to change its recommendation the question of where the incinerator is to go will be as far from settlement as ever. It is now generally conceded that a central location on the West Side is most desirable, but none of the city officials seems anxious to assume the responsibility of naming the exact place.

DISCUSS IMPORTANT MATTERS
Council Will Consider Water Tower at Meeting Today.

An appropriation for a water tower, a new franchise for the People's Market Association, and the proposed improvement of Belmont street with bitulthite pavement are matters on which there will probably be considerable discussion at the regular meeting of the Council this afternoon. Considerable routine business and several other matters of some importance are to be brought up, but it is probable that the session will be the most quiet that has been held for some time.

A majority report of the ways and means committee will be submitted recommending an appropriation for a water tower and a minority report will oppose the purchase. There promises to be a lively skirmish over this question as Rushlight and Kellaher, who signed the minority report, say that they will carry the fight into the Council. Cottell, Vaughn and Dunning favor the purchase of the tower and are backed up by officials of the fire department.

For several years Chief Campbell has been endeavoring to add a water tower to the equipment of the department. Recently Max Fleischer, chairman of the fire committee of the Executive Board, has also been active in the matter and the proposed appropriation was inaugurated by him through resolution. Rushlight and Kellaher desire to locate an engine-house in the vicinity of the hospitals before money is set aside for the water tower.

The new franchise asked for by the People's Market Association is practically the same as the present one, with the exception that a rental of $20 a month is called for instead of $10 as at present. The Council had threatened to take the market block away from the association, but agreed to consider a substitute franchise before acting. Under the new franchise the Council will probably limit the association to the use of one-half of the block.

It is the suggestion of Vaughn that the other half be used as the site of a public assembly hall. A resolution from the ways committee will also be introduced today, providing for the appointment of a committee to consider the feasibility of Vaughn's suggestion. There is not sufficient money available to erect the building this year but provision might be made for it under next year's estimate.

The Belmont controversy has been one of long standing but will probably be definitely settled today. The question as to whether more than half of the property is represented on the petition calling for a bitulthite improvement is to be decided by an opinion from the City Attorney. Mr. Kavanaugh last night had not completed the work of checking up the petition but expects to be ready to report this afternoon.

Patrolman Takes Appeal.

H. E. Parker, who was recently discharged from the city's service as patrolman, has taken an appeal from the action of the Executive Board and now demands a hearing before the Civil Service Commission. Parker was dismissed from the force for frequent tardiness and absence from duty. Only two absences were charged against Parker, but in the course of the investigation it developed that he had frequently been off duty in the past and the board decided to discharge him. In his appeal, Parker declares that the findings of the board are "contrary to the facts and evidence in the case."

MOST UNIQUE OPENING

Living Models Attract Thousands of People.

Last evening literally thousands of people gathered along Washington and Tenth streets before the Eastern Outfitting Co.'s windows, to watch the novel promenade of women dressed in the handsomest of imported gowns—wearing beautiful pictures hats—displaying stoles, furs, jackets, coats, wraps, evening costumes, street costumes, in short, every variety of feminine attire. The windows, handsomely draped, formed an avenue of splendor such as was never before seen in the city. The Eastern Outfitting Co. is certainly to be congratulated on this altogether novel, interesting and instructive feature of their Fall opening—innovation in the history of original store window display.

This afternoon from 3 to 5, and tonight from 8 to 10, the promenade will be continued, wholly new costumes being introduced. The most elaborate gowns are said to have been held, for the last.

ROUNDS UP TAX-DOGGERS

PERSONAL PROPERTY OWNERS GIVE ASSESSOR TROUBLE.

Law Requires Them to List Their Belongings, but Few Comply With the Statute.

These days are full of trouble for Assessor Sigler, who says it is a tremendous job to round up the many persons who try to avoid doing personal taxes. The assessment roll is waiting for the completion of the personal assessment—such as stocks in trade, money, notes and accounts, stocks and bonds, furniture, jewels, machinery and steamboats.

The law requires the assessor to obtain from every owner, a list of taxable property "and if any person shall refuse to furnish such list, or to swear to the same when required to do so by the assessor, such person shall forfeit and pay to the assessor, for the use of the county, the sum of $50, which sum may be recovered by action in any court having jurisdiction of matters of debt or contract to the amount of $50."

"One would hardly believe," said Mr. Sigler yesterday, "that it is so hard to get these tax statements or that so many persons would try to escape them. They are nearly all kickers, the worst kickers of all taxpayers."

The law requires that the assessment roll be in the hands of the Board of Equalization October 21, this year. During the week then beginning the Board will receive written protests against items of the roll. Mr. Sigler aims to have the roll complete about October 10, for inspection by taxpayers. This will be an innovation, since heretofore taxpayers have not had access to the roll until the session of the Board of Equalization.

Owners of merchandise are putting the assessor to a great deal of work, by failing to submit lists for assessment. About 20 per cent of such owners fail to take the assessor into their confidence. They content themselves with allowing the assessor to make an arbitrary valuation, which they hope will come under the actual value of the property assessed. But if the assessment should be too high, they expect to fight it in the Board of Equalization.

There are numerous owners of household furniture, who give the assessor a great deal of trouble looking them up or tracing them from one part of the city to another.

PORTLAND'S SHARE $13,000

Committee Will Raise Money for Auto Highway to the Coast.

To raise about $13,000 in Portland to be used in the construction of an automobile road between Portland and Seaside, is the work cut out for the following committee of Portland men, appointed by the Portland Automobile Club: Lewis Russell, George Kleiser, W. H. Warren, I. N. Fleischer and George Taylor. This committee will outline plans for raising the funds needed and will then set actively to work to accomplish the task. It is desired to raise the desired funds so that work may be undertaken on this road during the Winter, when laborers will be more easily secured.

The road to Seaside is in fairly good shape, with the exception of the stretch from St. Helens to Vesper, Columbia County. Residents of that county agree to raise two-thirds of the $40,000, the estimated cost to build that part of the road, provided Portland people will subscribe one-third. It is the plan to take advantage of this offer, and the foregoing committee was named to raise Portland's share.

Members of the Portland Automobile Club are enthusiastic over the projected road to the Beach and expect that when completed it will be a favorite run for autos. Clatsop County promises to do all the work necessary to put the road in that county in good shape, and Multnomah County is expected to do likewise.

The route chosen runs from Portland to St. Helens, thence through Pittsburg, Mist, Vesper, Jewell, Olney and Astoria to Seaside. The automobile club finds that at no point on the route will the grade be heavier than 7 per cent. This outlet to the Coast is found to be much easier than to construct an auto road to Tillamook, as was first proposed.
