The woman asked for the letter, but I had decided to have some change made in it and had not brought it with me. She had told me she was walting for money from her mother in Joplin, Mo., to take her East and I decided to keep the letter until this money arrived.

"I told her I intended to have the letter rewritten, as I did, for I had been out late attending meetings for three nights. I then asked her to go and come for the letter another time.

Woman Would Not Go.

"I got up and started towards the door, but she came up close to me and said I was trying to get rid of her. I told her I did not wish to appear rude, but that she would have to excuse me I said she had better not come for the letter before Monday, as I had Council and Executive Board meetings tomorrow and did not go to my office on Saturday. "lake a flash she grabbed hold of me and began tearing open my clothing. Almost at the same instant she screamed, and in response the glass door leading into the hall was broken by the woman's two confederates. With them were Janitor Best and several others, whose names I do not know.

When the woman grabbed me, I tried to free myself but she clung to me like She is a powerful woman and I had only succeeded in loosening one of her hands when the door was broken in. With the other she still grasped me.

"'Damn you, let loose of me. Damn you, let loose of me.' I was repeating, as I tried to free myself.

"The Brute," She Screamed.

"When the woman saw that her accomplices were not alone, she immedintely dashed out of the room and disapable for their coup.

"Mrs. Waymeler is about 25 or 25 years old, I should judge. She dresses in ordinary style and is large and strong. I have turned all the facts in the case over to the police, who will thoroughly investigate the matter.

I can think of no other motive, as it was not worked out in such a way as to suggest blackmail."

The police who were detailed on the case tailed to locate any of the plotters last night. The search will be resumed today, and it is hoped to apprehend Mrs. Waymeler and the two men who accompanied her. Whether the apparent attack on the Mayor's reputation was the outcome of a private emity, or prompted by some interest that he has offended officially there is no way of telling. icially there is no way of telling. Harry Joyce, of the Hazelwood store on Washington street, says that a woman giving her name as Mrs. Bell Weymeter worked at his place for a few weeks last Summer. She was dismissed from her position there as she was not up to the requirements of the place. Mr. Joyce says that he had no reason to question her good character. On the books of the Hazelwood Company her name is spelled Waymire. The other spelling was given to Dr. Lane's stenographer, who wrote out the letter that she had asked from the Mayor.

Corroborated by Dentist.

Dr. R. W. Anderson, a dentist who ccupies offices on the same floor of the Hamilton building as Dr. Lane, had treated the two strange men for the past week. One was a middle-aged one. well aressed, and the other a young fellow. They came to Dr. Anderson's office about a week ago to have work done on their teeth. They gave their names as Mann and said that they conducted a store at the corner of Third and Ankeny streets. There was nothing wrong with the younger man's teeth, and all the work Dr. Anderson did for him was to clean the teeth. The older man had a cavity in one of his molars and Anderson was preparing to fill the tooth.

The pair called yesterday afternoon, and Dr. Anderson did some work on the teeth of the elder man. They left the office, presumably to go out on the street, but the dentist, looking out of his door a few minutes later, saw them standing in the hall. He became suspicious and notified the elevator boy to watch the two and mentioned that he feared they intended to break into the office and perhaps steal some of the gold he was using for fillings. some of the gold he was using for fillings.
Dr. Anderson went out a short time before 6 o'clock, and when he left the men were still in the corridor. He returned after the Lane episode, and therefore knew nothing of the particulars of the case. Neither the city nor telephone directory shows any person named Mann conducting a store or business in the vicinity ducting a store or business in the vicinity of Third and Ankeny streets.

James Hamilton Lewis Says He Found Russia Preparing.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Colonel James Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, who has arrived in New York on the White Star Line steamship Majestic, declares Russia is preparing for another war with Japan,

Mr. Lewis would not admit that he had been abroad in a Federal capacity, yet did not deny that he will make reports to Washington of a more or less startling nature. Mr. Lewis, according to his own statements, has been investigating the withdrawal of concessions by Russia to Americans, and in this connection in found, he said, that Russia was prepar-ing for another conflict with Japan.

"If the project of building a railroad across the Bering Sea should prove feas-ible," said Mr. Lewis. "Japan would ob-ject to its being built, on exactly the same grounds that France would object to the tunneling of the English Channel. A railroad across the Bering Straits would give Russia a great advantage in case of war with Japan, making rapid communi-

England's advantage, in case she had a tunnel under the channel, is on exactly the same basis as Russia's or America's advantage would be with a railroad from Alaska to Siberia."

Mr. Lewis talked with many Russian officials and he declared that there were unmistakable evidences that Russia is preparing for another conflict with her only enemy, Japan. Russia is training her army as she never trained it before. These preparations are making. Mr. Lewis said, because Russia feels that she is being held up to the contempt of the world for her failure in the last war with Japan. Her own people charge corruption and incompetency on the part of Russian officials in the management of the last war. of the last war.

Almost of equal importance to Russia, Mr. Lewis says, is her great danger from internal strife. Never before since the Crimean War have so many workmen of the cities and farmers from the rural districts loined the army.

Mr. Lewis said that every sign points to the renomination of air. Roosevelt and that this is generally accepted as the logical programme in Europe. He said that this country will not be fooled by either Mr. Taft, Mr. Fairbanks or Mr. Cannon Mr. Roosevelt be said that Cannon. Mr. Roosevelt, he said, was the strongest man here, and that his observ-ance of Democratic doctrines had endeared him to Democrats as well as Re-

JOKE PROVES BOOMERANG

Girl Who Announces Her Mythical Elopement Busy Explaining.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—Because she wished to play a practical joke on her brother in Albany, Miss Carrie Prichard, a prominent young woman of Aberdeen, Wash, wrote that she had cloped and was married. She didn't reckon on the fact that her brother is a newspaperman, however, and now the joke is on her and she is busy denying the errogeously-reported marriage and rethe erroneously-reported marriage and re-fusing felicitations.

Miss Prichard went to Olympia about two weeks ago to spend a few days with a young woman friend. In a spirit of fun the two girls wrote a postalcard to Miss Prichard's brother, George A. Prichard, in this city, announcing a supposed marriage and giving the name of the mythical groom. To make the effect posed marriage and giving the name of the mythical groom. To make the effect more startling, Miss Prichard confided that she had eloped from Aberdeen, that the marriage was a secret and that the recipient of the card was the "first one she had told."
