CALIFORNIA TO

State Board of Trade Interested in Rose Festival.

PLEDGES ITS ASSISTANCE

Organization Will Send to Portland Next June the Largest Excursion of Business Men Ever Made Up.

The most signal achievement yet ac complished that will make for the success of the Portland Rose Festival next June, is the excursion of the California Board of Trade, which has just been arranged for by William Mc-Murray, chairman of the exploitation and publicity department of the Festival. While he was in the South recently he outlined the plans of the association to Arthur R Briegs west. Sectiation to Arthur R. Briggs, president of the California Board of Trade with a view to interesting the com-mercial, financial and industrial in-terests of that state in the project, and without argument or quibbling. Briggs said that he would guarantee an excursion to Portland for the week of the Festival, larger and more representative than any yet sent to the Pacific Northwest.

Mr. Briggs first desired to know on just how large a scale Portland intended to celebrate, and when told that there would be a solid week of entortainment, with a floral display that would rival the finest ever made in California, the chief executive of the California Board of Trade readily assented to the proposal to arrange a business men's junket to Portland and Oregon. The "invasion of Oregon" will include one day up the Columbia River and another down the river, with at least two, and probably three days in Portland.

And, this is not an, for President Briggs announced that he believed that any Pacific Coast celebration of such magnitude warranted the unqualified support and indersement of the active commercial organizations of the three Coast states.

"Ill enlist the Boards of Trade, Commercial Clubs, and Chambers of Commercial Club three days in Portland.

And, this is not a..., for President Briggs announced that he believed that any Pacific Coast celebration of such magnitude warranted the unqualified support and indersement of the active commercial organizations of the three Coast states.

Til enlist the Boards of Trade, Commercial Clubs, and Chambers of Commercial Clu

this matter and send the largest delegation of citizens from our state that ever journeyed beyond its borders, was the pledge President Briggs made to Mr. McMurray, before the latter left San Francisco, a few days ago.

This arrangement will mean, according to Mr. McMurray, that several special trains filled with business men from California will come here during the Festival week. To secure the presthe Festival week. To secure the presence here for three or four days of several hundred prominent men from Oregon's neighbor state on the South is regarded by the executive committee of the Rose Festival Association as a signal triumph, and it is felt that this will be a great incentive to local people to make the finest showing possible. The citizens of St. John sent a delegation of representative business men to the headquarters of the Festival Association yesterday afternoon, and asked whether there was anything they could do to help the cause along, in addition to supplying roses. It was in addition to supplying roses. It was arranged that the St. John Improve-ment Association should take charge of all matters relative to the Rose Festival; namely, the planting of roses on some particular day set aside this Fall; also the raising of funds and the building of a magnificent float to compete for the All-Oregon prize, that went begging at this year's carnival because

E. W. Rowe, chairman of the ways and means committee, yesterday opened negotiations with the Northern Pacific Terminal Company, which owns Pacific Terminal Company, which owns the spacious grounds surrounding the Union Depot, and officially requested that the gardener employed by the Terminal Company be instructed to plant all the available space in front of the depot with Caroline Testouts, the "queen of roses" this Fall, so that the first vision that will greet visitors and tourists next Spring will be a garden of roses.

Fully 75 per cent of the chairmen of the committees, which have been se-lected to raise the $100,000 fund, have been heard from, and a rousing meet-ing will be held at the Commercial Club tomorrow evening. It will be the first gathering of the "Hundred Thousand Dollar Squad," and most of the details of the canvass that will be made on "Campaign Day" will be settled at that time. Personal letters with valu-able suggestions have been received from many of the subcommitte men and these will be acted upon at the

PREPARE FOR HORSE SHOW

FAIR BUILDING TURNED OVER TO HUNT CLUB.

Plans Completed for Interior of the Oriental Building, Where Show Ring Will Be Located.

F. O. Downing, who will have charge of getting the buildings ready for Portland's first horse show, which is to be given by the Portland Hunt Club, November 7 to 8, was informed yesterday that the Oriental building, the Oregon building and such other buildings that reserved seats. The plans have been so drawn as to leave an eight-foot space between the boxes and the show ring. This will be used as a promensde and will give those who are in the boxes and reserved seats a chance to visit and make calls while the horses are being

WILL BE ONE OF ASSISTANT JUDGES AT HORSE SHOW.

One of the first things to which Mr. One of the first things to which Mr. Downing will give his attention is the construction of the stable. A structure large enough to stable 200 horses will be erected and will be used exclusively for exhibitors who have shipped their animals to the show. The use of the stable will be free to the foreign exhibitors, as will also the building which will be used to house the grooms and caretakers of the horses. In addition to this big stable a large tent will be used. This will be a large tent will be used. This will be placed just outside of the show ring, and there the various classes will get their final preparation before entering the show ring. Part of the tent will be used to stable the local horses during the show hours.

T. S. McRath, president of the club, everything in readiness for the open-of the sale of boxes, which begins this morning. Space arrangements will only permit of 50 boxes, and from the way that mail orders have been pouring in the supply of boxes will not begin to meet the demand. There will be plenty of reserved scats, however, and many of those who cannot not because it is a solution. those who cannot get boxes will be able to have seats reserved for them for the season. President McRath has received letters from owners from Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., Spokane, Seattle, and Victoria, B. C., Spokane, Seattle, and Boise, Idaho, announcing their intention to enter their horses at the show.

ADOPT A SLOGAN THURSDAY

East Side Business Men's Contest Is Drawing to a Close.

The East Side Business Men's Club next Thursday at noon will open the letters received during the past month which contain suggestions for a slogan to be used in the upbuilding of the East Side. The letters are coming in rapidly. 30 having been received yesterday. At the regular meeting on Thursday evening all the letters will be read and the prize of $50 awarded to the person submitting the slogan adopted. The slogan chosen will be placed near the eastern approach of each bridge, in the form on an electric sign.

The club will also take up an invitation to be present at the Gresham Grange Fair on Portland day, Friday, October 18. All the Bast Side associations have been invited to attend the fair on that

"To Die at Dawn" at The Lyric.

To HERBERT ASHTON, heavy man and stage director at the Lyric, belongs the credit of staging one of the best melodramas ever presented at that house, "To Die at Dawn," that is the bill for this week. And to Mr. Ashton also must be given the credit for presenting most acceptably the leading role, that of George Drake, gambler, confidence man and all-round criminal. It is a difficult part, and one which only an able actor can handle satisfactorily.

The story of the play is simple. Nellie Millward, by her father's will heiress to a rich estate, is pursued by the gambler Drake, who first attempts to win her miller. millions by marriage, then seeing that the girl knows his shady past, attempts violence. All his plans are frustrated, and the play ends as the Lyric audiences would have it.

Lily Branscombe plays the role of Nellie Miliward, the heiress, and takes the house by storm at every performance with her splendid work. Maxine Miles, the new leading lady, is given a rather weak role this week, but there is no fault to be found with her work. Ralph Bel-mont as Bob Nestor, the big-hearted Kentuckian, is given a good chance to show his ability, and takes advantage of it. The play is a splendid one, as good as any yet presented at the Loric.

Survey for a New Route. Engineers for the United Railways are now considering the alternate routes to Hillsboro over the range of est of the city, and it is likely that a franchise may be sought from the county to lay a track on the Linnton road in order to reach Cornelius route. Easier grades can be secured by that route than by the original survey of the Oregon Traction Company over the hills in the neighborhood of Willamette Heights.

Gap and cross over into the level country of Washington Country by that 342 Washington Street.
