

TEN THOUSAND SUITS

Enough Clothing to Start Ten Large Retail Stores

J. L. BOWMAN & CO., the Wholesale Clothiers, who own the only wholesale clothing house in Portland, are retiring from the jobbing business and have moved the stock amounting to nearly $200,000.00 to the New Couch Building on Fourth Street, between Washington and Stark. Here this mammoth stock will be closed out to the retail trade at exactly the same wholesale prices that merchants pay when they buy a bill of several thousand dollars

For the accommodation of the public, the stock is arranged on the various tables, according to prices, one entire table being for suits at $7.50 and $10.00, another table at $12.50, others at $15.00, $18.00, $20.00 and $25.00. This gives a chance for a selection of from 500 to 1000 suits at one price. The men's pants, the boys' clothes and men's Cravenettes and Overcoats are all arranged so they can be readily selected. Now is the time to buy clothing, and this sale offers a saving of from 75 to 100 per cent.

POINTS THE MORAL

Borah Case Shows Grand Jury System Abused.

BASELESS CHARGE MADE

Washington Paper Condemns Methods by Which Indictment Was Obtained and Innocent Man Smitched—Ruick Scored.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 4.—The Washington Post today says editorially:

"The instant acquittal of Senator Borah directs sharp attention to the abuse of the grand jury system. In this case the evidence is clear that an infamous use was made of the opportunity to indict an innocent man. By means of secret and elaborate methods the jury was induced or dragged into making a baseless charge against Senator Borah which might have ruined him. The public is often prone to confuse an indictment with a conviction, at least to the extent of regarding the man as presumptively guilty. Acquittal does not always remove the stain upon his good name. Fortunately in this case the acquittal was so prompt that the innocence of the accused Senator is made emphatically clear.

"There may be embarrassment in the Borah case for the Department of Justice. Whether malice inspired the District Attorney or not, the outcome of Senator Borah's trial is a scathing commentary upon the quality of evidence placed before the grand jury. The inference will be drawn that the District Attorney was either misled to convene the grand jury or that he was able by some means to convince the jury that it should indict an innocent man. It is hardly within the bounds of probability that the grand jury would return an indictment against a man on such evidence, if it were advised to the contrary by an able and unprejudiced District Attorney.

TOO BIG TO STOOP TO FRAUD

Long Also Says Borah's Too Smart to Be Crooked.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—"I am not surprised at the acquittal of Senator Borah," said George S. Long today. Mr. Long, who acted as a trustee for the Barber Lumber Company, was in court during the greater part of Senator Borah's trial.

the witnesses go without cross-examination that he could hardly contain himself. Referring to one witness, he said: "If I had that fellow for 15 minutes I could make him look like 25 cents."

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—Cyrus F. Copeland, aged 80, almost totally blind and incapacitated by age, has brought suit for divorce from Mrs. Elizabeth H. Copeland, aged 65, whom he married 29 years ago. He alleges abandonment. In a cross complaint Mrs. Copeland will file, she claims that her husband has only given her 50 cents during the entire history of their married life, and that he superintended the spending of the four-bit piece. The woman claims she had to work to support herself and daughters until they married.

Astoria Shipping News.

ASTORIA, Or., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—The British steamship Gales, which took on 60 tons of fuel here and left this morning under instructions from her owners for Port Townsend to await orders. The steamer was originally chartered to load lumber at Portland, but whether this charter has been cancelled or the vessel is merely going to the Sound to fill her bunkers is not known here.

Johnson Funeral Largely Attended.

SEASIDE, Or., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—The funeral of the late Edwin Johnson, who was drowned in the Neacanicum River, near this place, last Monday, was held here yesterday and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Short, of Astoria, conducted the services. The body was taken to Ocean Park Cemetery at Skipanon, where it was interred. Mr. Johnson's death has greatly shocked the large circle of his friends and acquaintances. His brother, Charles Johnson, desires to express his gratitude to the people of Seaside, and especially to Mayor Miller, for the many kind and thoughtful services rendered since the death of his brother.
