Some Hopgrowers Seeking the Market.

DEALERS ARE GOOD BUYERS

Prices Rule Strong, With 10 Cents Paid for Export Quality-Statistics of a Tacoma

Firm.

A considerable amount of busingss developed in the hop market restarday. Growers were readily to sell than they were in the first part of the week and dealers found less difficulty in filling the orders they have been carrying. The cents was the top price paid, At this figure Krebs Bros. are reported to have bought two lots at Forest Grove. A 200-bale transaction between dealers was also closed at 16 cents. A. J. Ray & Son bought 146 bales from M. H. Parkin, of Gales, at 8% cents. transaction between dealers was also closed at 10 cents. A. J. Ray & Son bought 146 bales from M. H. Secured the Know lot of 110 bales at Yakima at 50 cents. The state ment in the Tacoma News, Issae Pincus & Sons estimate the total 1907 crop of the United States at 205,000 bales as follows: New York, $0,000; California, $1,500; Oregon, $1,500; Washington, $0,000. This firm puts the erop at a higher figure than any other firm that has yet gone on record. The state ment says in part:

The market opened with the usual demand for a few early shimments and this demand, form a few early shimment and this demand, form a few effering hops freely at 10c to 11c, brewery delivery, usual terms.

History is repeating itself. The large grower-dealgrs of the Pacific Coast are advising growers to hold their hops, while making every effort to unload their own stock. When the grower gets ready to sell, he will find brewers well stocked with 1907's and will be forced to sell at wintever price is offered.
Holding hops in the past has proved a costly experience, and there is no reason to believe it will be otherwise this year.

The situation in a nutshell is that after the three high years of 1902-5-4, there was a tremendous increase in acreage all over the world, and we are now saffering from overproduction. There is but one salvation from the standpoint of the grower, and that is a heavy reduction in acreage in all hop-growting sections of the world. Then this happears, brewste will hold the whip hand and get hops at their own price.

T. S. Van Oredal, of North Yambill, writes to The Oregonian as follows:

te The Oregonian as follows:

Hops are practically all in the bale in this iscality and the shortage is far greater than the lowest estimate made before picking. R. J. Hutcheroft and two other leading growers here have made a house to house canvass and find that there are 1441 bales less of hope than in 1906 within six miles of North Yambill. In 1906 there were 5011 bales, and in 1907 there are 3570 bales and 255 acres left unstabled.

J. W. Seavey, the largest grower of Lane County, has tabulated the crops of that county and find they amount to about 7000

Large Receipts of Poultry Prevent any Improvement in Market.

Receipts of country ranch eggs have fal-len almost to nothing. The few dealers that have any such stock on hand hold it firmly at 30 cents. Eastern eggs are also minited fermer.

Arrivals of poultry continue in excess of requirements and the market is given no chance to improve. There is some inquiry for large bens and young turkeys, but other descriptions are not asked for.

The butter market was without new fea-bure. A very steady feeling prevails, but no initimation is given of any coming advance in prices.

Fruit Trade Is Slow.

Local grapes continue to be a glut on the market. Sales were made yesterday around 155940 cents per crate, but all the strivals could not be disposed of, even at this price. The better varieties of California Muttons. $4.75@5.90: narket, strong grapes held their own but trade was slow. Apples are arriving more freely and sell well Peaches, cantaloupes and melans are in but little demand.

WHEAT PARMERS SLOWER TO SELL.

Most of the Grain Left New Is in Strong Hands.

Another advance of a cent took place in the wheat market yesterday. Selling is not going on as liberally in the country as has been the case lately, and the volume of business, therefore, is not so large. Most of the weak holders have sold out, and the farmers that still havegtheir crops are generally in good financial condition to hold on.

The car situation is not giving much trouble in the country, but the concestion at the terminal yards here is worrying some of the exporters.

FURTHER URGENT SELLING

Housecleaning Being Carried On by Commission Houses-Prospect of a Severe Strain on the Money Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—There was some further urgent liquidation conducted at the Stock Exchange today, which caused violent desclines in many sections of the list of securities, although at others some show of stability was made, parily because necessary liquidation in some stocks had already been effected, partly by reason of buying by uncovered shorts, who had followed the precading deciline, and partly, it was assumed, by reason of supporting measures placed in the market by friends of various securities. Some violent contrasts in the market were the consequence.

the market by friends of various securities. Some violent contracts in the market were the consequence.

Industrial stocks, as a group, were very weak, and the movement in some of them gave clean evidence of a process of house-cleaning on the part of some commission houses, which had grown weary of carrying stale accounts or were prompted to take in sail and to compel their clients to do so, it was reported that in some loans that were maturing severe discrimination was exercised against some of the industrial stocks which figured as collateral.

The motives for this cleaning-up process were not indicated by any immediate news of the day, but the condition of the money market and the prospect of additional strain there were believed to lie back of the action. The fact that call money holds firm near 6 per cent, as it has done since the first of the month, in itself proves discouraging to the carrying of quiescent accounts. An incident was the heavy selling of United States Steel preferred, which carried it down to a level where the rais of dividend returned is no higher than on the common stock. The notable feature of the most active speculation and which ended the day at substantially higher prices that has hight.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, the most next part was a part and were time.

MAY SELLS FOR $1.111

Sharp Advances in All the Leading Grain Markets of Europe Because of Predictions of Frost in Argentina.

CHICAGO. Oct. 10.—Wheat prices on the local exchange touched new high record marks today when the May delivery sold up to $1.11½ and the December option to $1.05%. Cold weather in Argentina was the chief reason for the freah advance in prices. At the close the December option showed net gain for the day of ic. Corn was up %0 to. Oats were unchanged. Provisions were loc to 12% to boe higher.

The wheat market opened strong on an active demand by commission houses and shorts. The urgent buying was based mainly on sharp advances at all of the leading grain centers of Durope, the rise at Liverpool being more than I penny per bushel. Predictions of frosts in Argentina, where the wheat plant is now in the first stages of its growth, formed the basis of the strength in foreign markets. The local market was also builtship affected by a decrease of nearly 500,000 hushels in stocks of wheat at Minneapolis for the past five days and also by a continued active demand for flour here and in the Northwest. The market exhibited decided etrength the greater part of the day, but lost some of its builtshness late in the session on account of heavy realizing sales. The close was strong, December opening %c to ½5 higher, at $1.04% to $1.05; sold at $1.05% and closed at $1.10%.

The corn market was strong throughout the entire day and closed at $1.10%.
