PAY IN PORTLAND LEAST

SCHOOLTEACHERS GIVE FIGURES ON SALARIES.

Los Angeles, Oakland and Seattle All More Liberal in Treatment of Pedagogues.

Portland's 500 school teachers are the poorest paid in any city of this rank on the Pacific Coast. Few cities in America pay as little to the teachers of the public schools as does Portland, the most prosperous city of the Pacific Northwest. The most poorly paid teacher in Oakland, Cal. receives $9 a year more than do some of the Portland teachers who have been teaching for six years. The highest paid grade teacher in Portland receives only $7 a month more than does the poorest paid teacher in Oakland. In the lower grades Oakland pays her teachers over 4 per cent more than does Portland. The best paid grade teachers in Oakland received over 31 per cent more than do the Portland teachers of the same standing. In Los Angeles the lowest paid high school teachers receive just 40 per cent more than do the same class of high school teachers in this city. Oakland and Los Angeles both pay their best high school teachers over 28 per cent more salary than does Portland. The lowest paid high school teacher in Oakland receives 3 per cent more pay than does the highest paid high school teacher in Portland; and the lowest paid high school teacher in Los Angeles receives over 14 per cent more pay than Portland gives to her best paid high school teacher. In other words, if Portland's best paid high school teachers should go to Los Angeles and start in at the bottom of high school work again and receive the lowest pay in that city their salaries would be increased over 14 per cent, or $160 per year.

Or viewed in another light: The poorest paid high school teacher in Los Angeles would not, on a salary basis, accept the best paid high school position in Portland.

The lowest pay for a principal in Oakland is just double what it is in Portland. The highest pay for principals in each of these two cities is the same; but pay for principals in Oakland averages just 25 per cent more than it does in Portland. The lowest paid principal in Los Angeles draws 27 1/2 per cent more than the same principal in Portland; and the best paid in Los Angeles draws 7 1/2 per cent more than does the best paid in this city.

The lowest paid principal in Seattle receives just 25 per cent more salary than does the same in Portland. Seattle pays her teachers of all kinds more than does Portland, with the single exception of the highest paid principals, who in Seattle get just 20 per cent less than the same office pays in Portland. With this single exception, affecting only a very small proportion of the teaching force, Portland pays less in all lines for teachers than does Oakland, Los Angeles or Seattle.

For heads of departments Seattle pays 25 per cent more, Oakland 50 per cent more and Los Angeles 70 per cent more than does Portland.

Figured in percentages, Oakland pays her teachers 40 per cent more, Los Angeles 20 per cent and even Seattle 13 per cent more salary than does Portland, the richest city of them all.

The Portland teachers are asking for a level increase of 30 per cent. Even if this is granted, Portland will still stand only third compared with Oakland, Los Angeles and Seattle. At present the rating list is: Oakland, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland. With the 20 per cent increase the rating would stand: Oakland, Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle. At present Portland stands at the bottom of the list in all items except two, exceeds in only one item and equals in but two. With the increase of 20 per cent, Portland would still be at the bottom in three items, third in three, second in one and highest in one. Her average would be third. To put Portland on an equality with the best in the list, Los Angeles, the increase of 20 per cent that the teachers are asking would have to be just doubled.

The following table, prepared by the local pedagogues, shows the salaries paid in the four cities named as compared with the salaries asked by the Portland teachers:

	Grades.	High School.	Principal.	H'ds.	Monthly
Oakland	$750-$1,200	$1,140-$1,500	$1,600-$2,400	$1,800	12
Los Angeles	744 984	1,260 1,500	1,020 2,580	2,040	12
Seattle	660	900 1,100	1,200 1,500	1,500	12
Portland (paid)	550 850	800 1,100	800 2,400	1,200	10
Portland (asked)	680 1,020	1,080 1,320	960 2,880	1,440	12

Dance Hall Proprietor Dead.
ABERDEEN, Wash., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The remains of Billy McDonald, who has conducted a dance hall here for years and who was one of the wealthiest men on Grays Harbor, arrived here today from Portland. McDonald was a victim of consumption. He had recently built a splendid residence on the outskirts of the town.

REYNOLDS FEARS VIOLENCE

DOES NOT SAIL FOR ALASKA BUT GOES EAST.

Jesse Martin, His Cashier, Leaves for Valdez, and Seattle Creditors Fear They Are Outwitted.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—H. D. Reynolds, promoter of a string of Alaska enterprises, which either collapsed or was endangered by the failure of Reynolds' Bank at Valdez and the abandonment of work on the Alaska Home Railway, did not sail for the North on the steamship Yukatan. Seattle creditors have the story that at the last moment before sailing Reynolds received a tip that he would be in danger of violence if he went to Valdez, and he hurried East instead.

Jesse Martin, cashier of Reynolds' Bank at Valdez, and Frederick T. Fisher, representing Seattle creditors, were to have gone north with Reynolds. Martin did not make the trip, but when Fisher learned Reynolds would not go he stayed in Seattle and a hurried meeting of local creditors will be held tomorrow to decide upon an instantaneous plan of action.

The proposal was made by Reynolds to local creditors that a trustee be named for all his Alaska creditors at Valdez until he has a chance to pull out his properties. This was declined. It is now feared that with Martin on the ground as Reynolds' representative, such action will be taken and Seattle creditors will lose something between $50,000 and $100,000.

It is reported Reynolds owes a quarter of a million in Valdez. Ex-Governor John G. Brady, who also failed to go north yesterday, says he has been ruined by being involved in Reynolds' schemes. He says he had implicit confidence in the promoter and invested heavily with him. It was Brady's connection with the Reynolds Alaska Development Company that led to a demand for his resignation.

Coos Bay Advertising Well.
MARSHFIELD, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)

Walton Lyons, secretary of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce, has been sent from Coos Bay on a special train to this locality. Mr. Lyons will visit all of the cities in the Willamette Valley and after making that tour will go to Portland, where he will arrange an exhibit of the Coos Bay products. A local agent is to be appointed in Portland to look after the interests of Coos Bay in that city.

REVOLVER CLUB FORMED

Police Will Practice for Shoot With Cincinnati's Finest.

The guardians of the peace and dignity of the City of Portland now have a revolver club, an organization of which the object is to perfect its members in the art of pistol shooting. Patrolman Millard F. Sloan is president of the Portland Police Revolver Club, and Patrolman Henry C. Wilson is secretary, treasurer and most everything except premier marksman. That honor lies between Patrolmen Hans Holtz and Mike Lillis, although Captain Moore, who is really a good shot, and Captain Glover have made several good scores on the ranges. The two relief commanders are, rely to be keen rivals, for both men have made scores of 44 and 45 out of a possible 50 points, and the regular practices have hardly begun as yet.

Acting Detective Aiden, clerk of the secret service branch of the department, is said to be an expert with a revolver, and an effort is being made to have him compete with Patrolmen Holtz and Lillis for a prize to be put up by the club.

The policemen hold shoots three times a week, and have been granted the use of the Armory range for their practice. As soon as the members have become a little more proficient a challenge sent by the policeman of Cincinnati for a telegraphic shoot will be accepted.

Two Tickets at Centralia.
CENTRALIA, Wash., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Two tickets were nominated yesterday for city officers to be elected in December. As there were no duplicates on either ticket for any office a primary election will not be necessary. The tickets: Citizens—Mayor, F. H. Miller, present incumbent; Councilmen—First Ward, W. C. Armentrout; Second Ward, H. H. Tilley; Third Ward, F. A. Martin; Councilman-at-large, W. W. Cannon; Attorney, J. R. Buxton; Clerk, S. A. D. Eaton; Treasurer, F. E. Davis.

Peoples—Councilmen—First Ward, S. Sonnevoeld; Second Ward, Stanley Stewart; Third Ward, M. Meisenzahl; Councilman-at-large, A. E. Sears; Attorney, B. H. Rhodes.

Denies Mrs. Chadwick's Story.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 20.—Thomas W. Welsh, Jr., second vice-president of the Second National Bank of Pittsburgh, today said that Mrs. Cassie Chadwick never had an account at the bank. At the time Mrs. Chadwick is said to have deposited $30,000, Mr. Welsh was cashier of the institution.

Hoquiam Fair Success.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—

The Merchants' Fair and Industrial Exposition which has been held in this city during the past 10 days closed last night. The agricultural exhibits were revelations to residents, they having no idea of the productiveness of the soil of Chehalis County.

The fair seems to have eradicated much of the bitterness which has heretofore existed between the two towns, Aberdeen and Hoquiam. It was especially successful financially, the promoters clearing up a large sum of money.

LOOK AT THE DISPLAY OF VEAL IN SMITH'S WINDOWS

Frank L. Smith Meat Co.

226-228 Alder Street, Between First and Second Streets.

"FIGHTING THE BEEF TRUST."

Rather than wait until the week-end to give you specials, we have started the plan of giving you good things at special prices all during the week. Today we are offering the choicest, sweetest milk-fed veal—Oregon's own fatted calves. Every family in the city is invited to the feast. Come and carry off any of the appetizing cuts you see in the windows—there are tons more just as savory and tempting all through our shop.

VEAL
Veal Roasts, 8c and 10c per pound. Here is where we break all records for quality and quantity and price.
Veal for stewing, for dumplings, for potpies and croquettes, 7c.
A most delectable and at the same time a cheap cut.
Veal Cutlets—all the epicure's delight. You can all afford to buy them at 12 1/2c and 15c.

STEAKS
Tenderloin Steaks, the best out West 12 1/2c
Round Steak, tender and with exactly right flavor 10c
Best Porterhouse Steaks and fancy "T" Bone Steaks... 15c
All these steaks are cut from Smith's native Oregon grain-fed cattle—the kind that have proved such a tremendous sensation at our shop during the last few weeks.

No housewife with any sense of cleanliness or daintiness could offer her family Beef Trust meat, even were it a free gift. You see it carted around the streets without protection or covering, and in the markets it is exposed to all the dust, dirt, contaminated atmosphere and insects of the neighborhood. Add to this the fact that the meat has been shipped miles in ice-cars and served its sentence in the cold-storage rooms of the Beef Trust, where it grew sticky, soft and sloppy—who could eat it?

Notice that Smith's meats are absolutely fresh and are always kept behind glass until YOU select them.
