BIG MOB BLOCKS STREET

Police Warned Speakers That Demonstration Would Not Be Permitted and Arrests Follow Disobedience of the Order.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct., 28 .- (Spe cial.)-As the result of a demonstration, made this evening in face of repeated warnings that they would be arrested, 18 Socialists and their sympathizers are in the City Prison tonight and Chief of Police Wappenstein is congratulating himself that no fatali-ties resulted from the wholesale ar-

As they had declared they would, some 75 Socialists assembled at Pike Place, a thoroughfare one block from First avenue, shortly after 7 o'clock, and apprised of the fact that a riot was a possibility, some 2000 persons were on hand to see the fun. Also present were about 50 patrolmen and detectives and the patrol wagon. As soon as the first of the Socialists, who was Mrs. Hattie Titus, wife of Dr. Her-mon F. Titus, leader of the Socialists, attempted to speak she was arrested. and in the instant another of the self-appointed martyrs took her place. His arrest followed, as did that of all those who threw themselves into the breach, and shortly all were booked at Police Headquarters and assigned to cells in the prison.

While the arrests were being made several sympathizers hooted at the officers and two were arrested after a short chase up Pike street. The pa-trol wagon was followed to the City Hall by a crowd that acted in such a threatening manner that the Chief ordered a plateon of police to line up in front of the building. There was no plence, however, the mob contenting itself with crowding as many as possi-ble into the Council Chambers, where the Council was in session, and pre-senting a petition that the Police De-partment be instructed to refrain from molesting the Socialists. This petition was referred to a committee, and after a few threatening demonstrations, the crowd slowly dispersed.

The Socialists declare that they will repeat the demonstration tomorrow night, and that it will be kept up until public opinion becomes such as to guarantee them what they consider their rights of public speech on the streets of the city.

Mr. T. S. We showed last week at Louisville, Ky., where they received possibly the greatest praise of any of the places shown this year, but, of course, now the time would be too short to even contemplate shipping them there. If I had thought of it in time I could have made a very great show for you at very little or no cost, by shipping my Bedouin Slave Boy out to Oregon with his saddle and robes and spear and had him ridden Nejdran each night at your show, as this stallion is out at Sheridan. Portus Baxter Explodes Lucas' Review of Baseball Season.

President Lucas, of the Northwestern President Lucas, of the Northwestern League, is reported in Portland as saying that the baseball of the season just closed was the beat the Northwest bas ever seen. What is the use of talking such stuff. The Portland people know that it is hot air, and any one who has followed baseball in Seattle for even five years must know better. During the season of 1907, the Northwestern League played interesting ball nine-tenths of the time; it was upeven, however, ranging from classey to town-loi. The Coast League, at its best, was considerably ahead of the Northwestern League.

This interesting paragraph was penned by Porton Baylon by Portus Baxter, of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, one of the best-known authorities on baseball in the Northwest. Baxter has been for Northwest League baseball, first, last and all the time, but in spite of this, he can see and tell the truth when called upon. Baxter is too wise to think for a moment that any of the Portland fans fell for that woozy story of every club in the Lucas league making money last season. Down here we know better.

Just what will happen in the Coast League will depend upon the big powwow which will be held in New York today and tomorrow. President Lucas, D. E. Dugdale and several other Northwestern League moguls will be en hand and so will Judge McCredle and Secretary Danny Long, representing the Coasters.

Biggest Feature of the Exhibit the Radical Price Reductions-Many Other Fine Instruments Included in the List-Now the Time to Satisfy Piano Desires

Think of buying a baby grand plano for $418. Baby grands as a rule are not to be secured for any such comparatively insignificant amount as this, but this is the exact sum at which a $700 Pease will go for, in this special Baby Grand Sale. Another, a Hallet & Davis, has been marked to go at $450—just half the price which dealers usually ask. Then there is a Steinway miniature grand, the style which is so extensively advertised for $750, but which we will sell now for only $518. All these have been taken in part payment toward the famous Pianola Pianos. In addition to these there are several other, not here enumerated, to be sold at correspondingly reduced prices. Now is your chance to buy a baby grand for about the price of an ordinary upright.

If you have not the room for a grand, there are a number of splendid uprights, of well-known makes, which will prove equally attractive in the matter of price, which are also included in this week's special selling.

For instance, here is a superb handmade design Mission upright, the only instrument in the State, of this particular and exceptionally choice style, which would ordinarily sell for all of $700, but we offer it this week for just about one-half of this figure. It's one of those individual special exhibition instruments, and any home with a "Mission air" would certainly find in it the "piece de resistance."

Here's another—a spiendid Decker—the largest size upright orchestral grand, in beautiful mottled case, which is tagged to go this week for $228 less than the regular price.

Slightly Used. Slightly Used.

In the slightly used instruments there are also some truly exceptional bargains. A magnificent Decker Bros., in oak, $500 style, for only $300, One of those new renowned Kimballs, $625 style, received Saturday as part pay toward a Pianoia Piano; in splendid condition; $327 will take it. A very showy case Ludwig, oak case, reduced to only $182. A Fischer, in a particularly handsome mottled walnut case goes for $146. An ordinary good upright, of English manufacture, for $55.

And Pianolas, Too!

If you have a piano, of the "silent" order, you need a Pianola to make it really useful. We have three more, to be included in this week's clearance, all of which we have taken in exchange toward the latest of Pianola Pianos. Prices on these Pianolas range from $110 to $200, and if you pay cash we will agree to include a year's subscription to the Pianola Music Roll Library without a cent additional cost. This is a splendid opportunity to come into the world-wide Planola fold; an investment in this direction will bring more substantial enjoyment than can be imagined. Drop in at your earliest convenience, and let us demonstrate what splendid musical possibilities these Pianolas possess, and how vastly superior to all other players on the market.

This is to be a hurry-up week in carnest. Every one of these instruments enumerated, and on a number of others equally desirable, must go! You should certainly make a point to call, as soon as possible. Look the various instruments over carefully, We shall be greatly surprised if you fall to find exactly what you want—and at a most tremendous saving from ordinary cost.
