PROGRESS OF THE VARIOUS BOOMS

Hughes and Taft Lead, With Fairbanks, Knox and Cannon Trailing.

HUGHES APPEARS TO GAIN

Taft's Managers Said to Bungle at the Game - Fairbanks Cannot Overcome the Cocktail Incident-Cannon Boom Local.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washngton, Nov. 8.-The Hughes and Rooseveit Presidential booms are making con siderable headway; the Taft boom is at a standstill; the Cannon boomers are making a lot of noise but little progress; the Fairbanks boom appears to be lifethe Fairbanks boom appears to be life-less and the Knox boomers are making a slight gain in Pennsylvania. This sum-marizes the political situation of today. Notwithstanding the fact that Repub-licans in many sections are advocating the renomination of the President, and while a great many of them go so far as to declare that he should be nominated regardless of his personal wishes, the President remains absolutely silent, and the country at large is unable to say whether he will withdraw his statement made on the night of his election, or whether he will withdraw his statement made on the night of his election, or whether he intends to stand pat. Many of the entiusiastic Roosevelt advocates are making headway with their campaign, regardless of what the President may want or may say. They take the position that this is a matter for the country to decide and one in which the President is not to be heard.

Tender Roosevelt Nomination.

The larger portion of the Republican party, however, or more accurately speaking, the larger number of the Republicans who favor the renomination of the President, talk of tendering him the nomination and letting him say whether or not he will accept. This latter faction is composed of men who usually have a second choice for President. They assume that it is quite likely the President may decline the nomination if it is tendered him, and are therefore prepared to turn their support to the next best man if such a move should prove necessary.

The Republicans favoring the renomination of Roosevelt, with few exceptions, favor either Hughes or Taft in case the President will not consent to allow his The larger portion of the Republican favor either Hughes or Taft in case the President will not consent to allow his name to be used, and lately Hughes appears to be the more popular of the two. There is no doubt that Hughes is steadily growing in popularity and it is equally apparent that Taft is falling to make much headway. The very fact that Hughes is not an avowed candidate for the nomination and declines absolutely to declare himself on this question at to declare himself on this question at this early date seems to operate in his interest. His strength, however, is due largely to his good record as Governor of New York, and the successful way he has exposed corporations which have been boldly violating the law. His methods are along the same lines followed by the President in National affairs, and considering the limited field in which he has had to labor he has achieved as great success as the President, comparatively speaking.

The Taft managers have embarrassed the President by undertaking to force him to deriare himself for Taft and against all other candidates for the nomination next year. They have also encouraged the popular belief that Taft is the President's first choice, and have thereby made it appear that Taft is strong not on his own account, but because he is endorsed by the President. This is one of the bad political moves which no doubt will work failury to the Taft boom. To make things even worse, they have undertaken to circulate a lot of cheap literature which is not calculated to appeal to the thinking men of the country. If Taft does not change his political managers on his return from the Philippines, and if he does not persuade his fool brother to keep out of politics for the next eight months, he will find himself in the Fairbanks class when the National Convention assembles. Taft's indiscreet friends, who are uneducated in National politics, have done Bhio delegation at the next convention. cated in National politics, have done more to prevent the nomination of their idol than his practical friends have been able to do to secure his nomination.

Cannon's Boom Local.

From the present indications the Illinois lelegation will go to the National Convention enthusiastically supporting speaker Cannon for the nomination. There is a great deal of Cannon talk in the newspapers, but usually it comes from men from the Speaker's own state. Very seldom does a man outside of Illi-nois favor Cannon. Those who are ad-vocating him are usually members of Congress who are looking for favors in the way of committee assignments this

The Fairbanks boon is rarely men-oned. No one outside of Indiana thinks of scoundrels. tioned. No one outside of Indiana thinks of Fairbanks as even a possibility. Sentator Beveridge, of that state, makes the famaging admission that while he is in favor of Fairbanks, he does not believe that he can be elected.

The Knox boom does not make much better progress than that of Fairbanks. The only difference is that Knox is growing in Pannaytania while Saichanks and

The only difference is that Knox is growing in Pennsylvania, while Fairbanks appears to be losing ground in Indiana.
Knox is not handicapped by a cocktail

President.

Cannon Has No Chance.

There is no reason to believe that the There is no reason to believe that the Knox beam will ever assume any very great proportions. The Fairbanks beam can never be revived, for there is really no reason for infusing life into it. Speaker Cannon is too radical a partisan to be nominated in these days when party lines are being obliterated. Cannon would get very little Democratic support, while floosevelt, Hughes or Taft would get name votes from the opposition party bemany votes from the opposition party be-cause their principles are indersed in Democratic circles. If Roosevelt will not accept the nemination, Rughes or Taft will get it. And if Hughes continues to grow in popularity as he has grown in the last few months, he will have little difficulty in besting the Secretary of

As to the clever specialities introduced. Maribel Seymour sings "Splash Me," one of the prettiest and most unique effects ever even on the Baker stage, and Elsie Garrett, Fay Bainter, Jimmy Gleason and others of the company are also given excellent opportunities.

Empire Matinee Today.

"The Sweetest Girl in Dixle" will be given time tonight. It is a delightful Southern melodrama, with typical characters and scenes from the land of the cotton and sugar case. The peace and prosperity of one of the old Southern ramilles is broken into by a designing villain from the North, but in the end all is made right. It tells a pretty love story.

Star Matince Today.

This afternoon there will be a matines of "The Confessions of a Wife," at the Star Theater. The last performance of this modern melodrams will be presented this evening. Unqualified success has crowned the efforts of the French Stock Company at the Star Theater this week in this play. Seats are now on sale.

"VANDERBILT CUP" TOMORROW

Famous Musical Play Coming to the Heilig Theater.

While Hughes is constantly growing in popularity. Taft is losing because his campaign is in the hands of men who are thoroughly inexperienced in the conduct. The theme of the conduct of an affect of the theme of the play, the great cup race for automobiles, which takes place every year on Long Island, its idea, and its material are full of possibilities. There is a real plot to this production, which is said to reach a brilling climax in Barney Oldfield's great automobile race, in which two powerful 20-house power racing cars smash across the stage in a race so realistic that the audience becomes imbued with all the excitement of a real contest. Seats are seiling at theater.

"The Wedding Day" Sunday.

Sunday night the San Francisco Opera Company will give its first performance of "The Wedding Day," which was formerly the great success of Jefferson DeAngeles, Lillian Russell and Della Fox in their famous joint starring engagement. It is dis-tinctly a song show, with an abundance of sprightly dauces by both principals and chorus and funny comedy for the comedians. Do not miss the opening performance Sunday night.

Anthony Hope Play Next.

"The Adventure of Lady Ursula," by Anthony Hope, author of 'The Prisoner of Zenda," "Phroso," etc., will be given for the first time in Portland at popular prices by the Baker Stock Company next week, commencing with tomorrow's matinee. It is one of the neatest and most interesting comedies of modern times. It describes a period in English history about the year 1760, and calls for special costumes and scenery and elaborate singe settings.

"Human Hearts" Tomorrow.

That favorite of all favorites, Hal Reid's "Human Hearts." will pay its annual visit to the Empire next week. The opening per-fermance will be toomorrow matines. It is the same dear old tals of the Arkaneas bills, with Tom Logan, the big blacksmith, big of heart and honest of churacter, who is made for a time to suffer great sorrow and unjust punishment, because of the heartless scheming
