REJOICES OVER VICTORY

Annual Address to National Convention Is Paeon of Triumph Over Tennessee, Georgia and Oklahoma—Overcoming Lawless.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 8.—The thirty-fourth annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union was called to order here today in the First Presbyterian Church by its president, Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens, of Portland, Me. Between 500 and 600 delegates are here from every state in the Union, several colored women being among the number.

After organization and appointment of committees, the president delivered her annual address. Among other things she said:

"Each triumph over the liquor traffic gained in the Southland is of national value and the temperance victories in Tennessee have gladdened the hearts of good men and women everywhere.

"Georgia's struggle, Georgia's achievement will help Massachusetts, Illinois, California and all other license states to break away from the bondage of the legalized liquor traffic.

"Oklahoma's triumph is of greater import than we can easily comprehend. All hail to the new state which holds constitutionally to a liquor traffic.

"The lawless, defiant resistance of the liquor trade in Maine, Kansas and North Dakota, to a great degree, has been overcome."

Following the delivery of the address an evangelistic hour was held, presided over by Miss Elizabeth W. Greenwood, National evangelist superintendent.

EXONERATE PROSECUTOR

Grand Jury Fails to Find Verdict Against Kipp, of Whitman.

COLFAX, Wash., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—The Whitman County grand jury has finished its work and, in connection with the charges brought against Prosecutor Kipp, reports as follows:

From investigations we reach no conclusion against the honesty or efficiency of the prosecutor. The really important charges against him was in connection with the Sunday closing of the saloons in Palouse City. We found the general impression prevailing among the saloonkeepers of that place to be that the Sunday closing law had been enforced against them by the prosecuting attorney because they had failed to raise a fund to be turned over to the prosecuting attorney to secure an open policy. From testimony we found the facts in the circumstances which will perhaps look quite convincing of guilt to Mr. Kipp's critics and as shallow and unimportant to his friends. The grand jury has, after due deliberation, reached the conclusion that the testimony does not warrant any finding against Mr. Kipp.

It is reported to other cases before us we recommend increased activity on the part of the prosecuting attorney and sheriff in forcing the saloons of the county to conduct their business within the bounds of the law, as to keeping closed on Sunday and selling liquor to minors and recommending suppression of all nickel-in-the-slot machines prohibited by law. We believe the new road law unsatisfactory. We believe the grand jury system too expensive to be used generally for the institution of criminal prosecutions.

Mr. Kipp stated: "I have been so busy with the business of my office that I have paid little attention to my case before the grand jury. I am very much pleased with the suggestion of the grand jury that my office and that of the sheriff should show increased activity in the enforcement of the Sunday closing of saloons and the elimination of all slot machines."

GIVES LIFE TO SAVE TOWN

NOBLE SELF-SACRIFICE OF A MEXICAN ENGINEER.

Hails Away Train of Burning Dynamite Cars, Knowing Death Will Result.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 8.—The death list as a result of the Nacoziari explosion yesterday is now placed at 14 or 15, all Mexicans, besides John Chisholm, aged 33, who was riding on the train when the explosion occurred.

A train on the narrow gauge railroad to Pilares mine in some way caught fire. In the train were two open cars loaded with explosives and the fact that the dynamite and a good part of the town of Nacoziari were saved from ruin was due to the bravery of the Mexican engineer of the train, Jesus Garcia.

Realizing that to cut out the burning cars and escape on the engine would expose the town to probable destruction, he called to the crew to jump and started to run the train away from the town. He had taken it about a half mile when the explosion occurred and he was hurled to atoms. It is reported that another member of the crew stayed with him and was killed.

The heavy death list is due to the fact that the explosion occurred just as the train was passing a section-house in which there were a number of section men.

PROSECUTE MAN'S SLAYERS

Roosevelt Orders Every Effort to Punish Walker's Murderers.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The following letter, addressed jointly to the Attorney-General and Secretary of the Interior, under date of November 5, was made public at the White House today.

"My attention has been called to the dispatches in reference to the murder of Secret Service Agent Walker, while in the performance of his duties investigating certain coal land frauds in Colorado. I trust every effort will be exerted by your departments to prosecute vigorously every violation of land laws which Walker was investigating.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

DENY THEY ARE MURDERERS

Slayers of Walker Demand Immediate Trial, but Must Wait.

DURANGO, Col., Nov. 8.—William R. Mason and Joseph Vanderwalde, accused of murder in the killing of Joseph A. Walker, United States secret service agent, at the Hesperus mine Sunday, pleaded not guilty when formally arraigned in the District Court today.

Their attorneys made a motion for an immediate trial, but at the request of District Attorney Fullam no date was set. Notice of an application for bail was made by the defendants' counsel. It is probable that a special session of the District Court will be called within the next two months to hear the case.

The body of Walker was taken to Denver today. On the same train left most of the Government officials who have been here since last Tuesday. There are still left in the city a number of Federal officers, including Frank Hall, assistant Attorney-General for the United States, and a force of secret service men.

URGED TO KILL ORDINANCE

Protest Against Enactment of Chicago Telephone Ordinance.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Mayor Ruse was urged today by several influential political and civic organizations in Chicago, by the Telephone Users Protective League and by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association to veto the Chicago Telephone Company's ordinance. Important amendments looking to the protection of the people's interests were demanded.

The appeal to the Mayor took the form of a protest signed by six representative civic organizations which held a conference yesterday at the City Club against the hasty manner in which the telephone ordinance was passed in the early hours of the morning. He was asked to defer action on the measure at least until Saturday night to give a committee appointed by these societies further time to examine the ordinance and present their objections.

The Mayor announced that he and the Corporation Counsel's office would study the ordinance carefully before he took his pen in hand to make it a law or veto it.

PORTLAND TIES SEATTLE

Ed Johnson, Heavyweight, Defeats Sam Peck, of Sound City—Chet Brown Knocks Out Jack Walsh, Local Boxer.

Portland and Seattle divided the honors last night at the big interclub boxing and wrestling meet held in the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club's gymnasium. Ed Johnson, Multnomah's heavyweight boxer, was given a decision over Sam Peck at the end of four rounds. Chet Brown, of the Seattle Athletic Club, knocked out Jack Walsh, of the local club, in the first round. In the wrestling matches Ed Frank, Multnomah's crack 150-pound man, threw George Kincaid, of the S. A. C., and L. Johnson, of the visiting club, easily defeated Will Dennis, of Multnomah.

The go between Johnson and Peck was the big event of the night. Johnson was given the decision by Jack Grant, the referee, at the end of the third round. Johnson completely outclassed his opponent, he was not able to knock his man out in spite of the fact that he dealt out a number of straight-arm blows to the face. Johnson hit Peck at will, but his wallop did not seem to touch vital spots, and the Seattle man did not stagger or grow groggy during the battle. The decision belonged to Johnson. It was his because of his science and all-round skill.

The boxing match between Walsh and Brown was of short duration. The men had been in the ring but one minute and 37 seconds when the Seattle man landed on Walsh a straight right to the jaw, sending the local boy to the floor. This fight was entirely one-sided. Walsh did not so much as have a look in for the finish. The blow that Brown landed was one of the cleanest knockouts ever seen in a local fight. Walsh did not stagger or sink. He simply fell backward, hit his head on the floor, and woke up about five minutes later.

Tied in the Wrestling.

In the wrestling matches Multnomah and Seattle were tied. Edgar Frank, one of the best men in the 125-pound class, had little trouble in throwing Kincaid, while Dennis proved an easy mark for Johnson. Frank took the first two falls, the first in 58 seconds and the second in 4 minutes and 4 seconds. Johnson threw Dennis in the first bout and obtained a decision in the second, thereby winning the match. Dennis was no match for Johnson. He was beaten in every point of the game, both in science and strength.

About 1500 people were present, many men not members of the club attending. Judge George H. Williams, Governor Chamberlain and District Attorney Manning occupied seats of honor, while Police Judge Cameron and Sheriff Stevens during the intermission, while the mat was being laid for the wrestling matches, Governor Chamberlain, Judge Williams and Mr. Manning made short addresses. Nearly every member of the club was present, and many prominent sporting men of the city were also there.

The first event on the programme was a preliminary boxing match between two club members—Leon Hughes and A. R. Parazarro. Hughes won easily in the first round, and would have killed his opponent out had not Referee Grant stopped the battle. The next event was a 120-pound boxing match between two of the club members—Guy Ford and Chet Brown. Brown won the championship of the club. This fight was a draw, though it was thought by the majority of those present that the honor belonged to Dranga. The men put up a good exhibition and both were applauded heartily as they left the ring.

First Interclub Event.

The first inter-club event was the wrestling match between Frank and Kincaid at 125 pounds. The men went on the mat with Frank the aggressor. As they fell the Seattle man went under. By a simple hold Frank threw his opponent over on his back in the remarkably short time of 56 seconds.

Pending the conclusion of the match came the first bout of the 135-pound wrestling class. The men came together, and it was nearly two minutes before they went to the floor, with Johnson on top. From the first it was easy to see that Dennis was no match for the Seattle man, being clearly outclassed. Johnson was stronger, more scientific and used his head to better advantage. The men were on the mat exactly 21 minutes and three seconds, when Johnson threw Dennis over on his back. In this bout Johnson was always on the offensive.

Immediately after this came the second bout of the match between Frank and Kincaid. The men went to the floor, with the local boy on top. It stopped Frank three minutes and four seconds to roll the Seattle youth over on his back. Kincaid was outclassed by Frank, more so than Dennis was by Johnson. There was nothing to it but Frank from start to finish.

The next was the second bout of the 155-pound wrestling. In this Dennis showed more form, and Johnson was not able to put him on his back. The two men struggled for 15 minutes, and at the end of the bout Herbert Greenland, the referee, gave the decision to Johnson, thereby making him winner of the match.

Next was the boxing match between Brown and Walsh. When the men stepped into the ring a great many picked the local boy as a winner. Brown appearing fat and out of condition. One thing must be remembered, and that is that Walsh weighed in at 140 pounds, while Brown tipped the scales at 138. The match called for both men at 138, but Multnomah having no man at this weight, sent in Walsh, 138 pounds under weight.

Then Brown shot and sparred for a moment, then Brown put out a right for the face. The blow failed to connect and the men began sparring. Walsh did some clever footwork, and in every department passed for Brown, none of which landed. Brown appeared confident, smiling all the time, while the local boy looked weary. The two worked over toward a corner, when suddenly Brown sent out a terrific right, that landed squarely on Walsh's jaw. The local man fell through the ropes, and hit on his head on the floor. He was picked up, unconscious, and carried to his corner. Walsh failed to revive in his chair, and was carried to the dressing-room.

The last event was the big match between Johnson and Peck. The local man was clearly the aggressor, and had it on his opponent in every department of the game. Johnson hit Peck repeated blows on the face, but none of his wallops seemed to injure the Seattle man. Peck had a low, crouching style of defense, but was not able to block the terrific wallops to his face. The three rounds of this match belonged to the local man. At the end of the third, Referee Grant gave the decision to Johnson and the big meet was over.

The work of both Grant and Herbert Greenland as referees was good, and met with the approval of all present, except in the fight between Dranga and Ford, many thinking that the decision rightfully belonged to Dranga.

WRECK BRINGS ONE DEATH

SCHOONER GLEN IS LOST IN IRITAK BAY.

Goes Ashore in Gale September 30. Crew of Seven Is Saved—Burton Kelly, Passenger, Drowns.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 8.—The schooner Glen, of San Francisco, on a voyage with supplies to a station of the Pacific States Trading Company at Ikitak, was wrecked in Ikitak Bay on bleak Unimak Island, September 30. Burton Kelly, aged 19, of San Francisco, was drowned while lashed to the schooner's rigging. The other seven survivors of the wreck returned to Seattle this week by the steamship Yucatan.

The Glen drove ashore at 7:30 in the evening in a strong southeast gale. The eight men took to the rigging, and Kelly, who was a passenger bound for Port Bennett, was lashed to make him safe. During the blackness of the night and confusion of the storm the eight men clung for life and no one knew how or when Kelly was killed, although Captain F. G. Buckman states he believes the boy was drowned by the immense seas which broke over the stranded schooner.

Kelly was buried in the sand of Unimak Island. The survivors lived there a week with little food until taken off by a sloop and carried to Unga. They were returned to Seattle by the steamship Yucatan at the expense of the Government.

Those who survived the wreck are: Captain F. G. Buckman; Nat Knowles, mate; Edwin Neal, cook; M. Kane, WA Hagerland and C. I. Olaus, sailors. The Glen was a two-masted schooner, owned in San Francisco. She was built at Marshfield, Or., in 1885.
