FINED FOR IMPEDING MAIL

FEDERAL COURT TAXES JOHN BUTTERFIELD $75.

His Boat Stolen, He Uses Gun to Compel Mailcarrier to Abandon Government Skiff.

Pleading guilty in the United States Circuit Court yesterday to a charge of obstructing the mail, John I. Butterfield, residing in Lincoln County, near Newport, was fined $75 by Judge Wolverton. The complainant against Butterfield was Sim Burton, Government malicarrier, who distributes mail to different postoffices located on Elk River, making the route in a boat. Missing his boat, which had been a boat. Missing his boat, which had been stolen, Butterfield suspected Burton of having appropriated his property and, armed with a gun, compelled the malicarrier to abandon his boat, very seriously interfering with the delivery of mail that day. As a result of his experience with the Federal authorities, Butterfield in the future will probably settle disputes as to property in the courts.

SUIT TO BE TRIED FEBRUARY 3

Action of J. H. Scott Against Marbleworkers' Union Set.

The suit of J. H. Scott against the Marbie Workers' Union, Local No. 25, will be tried in the United States Court February 2. Several months ago Scott brought the suit to enjoin the members of the organization from interfering with his employment as cutter and setter by the firm of Neu & Kingsley. Scott came to Portland last Spring from San Francisco where he had been employed in the capacity of a "rubber." Afterwards he obtained from the San Francisco union a card entilling him to work as setter and cutter, but this card was later recalled by the union that had issued it. In the meantime Scott had obtained employment with the Portland firm as setter and cut-The sult of J. H. Scott against the Marwith the Portland firm as setter and cut-ter and was drawing the wages paid that class of workmen. Through the influ-ence of the Portland local, Scott's dis-charge was effected and he immediately filed suit against the union, demanding that it he enjoined from interferior with that it be enjoined from interfering with him in the work of cutter and setter, to-gether with damages in the sum of $5450. gether with damages in the sum of $5450. After hearing argument on the application for a mandatory injunction, Judge Wolverton denied the request, holding that the complainant in joining the union had subscribed to the rules and regulations by which it was governed and which he sought through litigation to have annulied. It was held by the court that the union was empowered to make its own rules so long as they did not conflict with the law, and for that reason Scott was the law, and for that reason Scott was not in a position to demand the relief asked for. The controversy now comes asked for. The controversy now comes before the court on its merits as to the claim of Scott for damages.

Court Saturday in the case of Walter A. Bonner against the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company. Bonner sued for $30,000 damages for the compound fracture of the bones in one of his legs while in the em-ploy of the defendant company in Novem-ber, 1906. C. D. and D. C. Latourette, of Oregon City, and H. E. McGinn, of this city, were attorneys for Bonner. The defendant company was granted 20 days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

Motion to Remand Argued.

A motion to remand to the State Circuit Court the suit of the State of Oregon against the Three Sisters Irrigation Com-pany was argued and submitted before United States Judge Wolverton yesterday. This is a suit brought by the state to va-cate a contract with the irrigation com-pany for the reclamation of about 27,000 acres in Crook County. The state alleges a failure to comply with the terms of the contract on the part of the company un-dertaking to reclaim this tract of arid land in Eastern Oregon.

Suits Dismissed.

The following suits were dismissed on stipulation in the United States Court yesterday: Lum Dong versus the Sanborn Cutting Company: Ole Olstat versus the Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mining Company.

From Star Boarder to Prisoner

Sudden and Unexpected Transforat Hotel Cameron.

POR the past 10 days, Sam Levin has been making his home at the Hotel Cameron. His was not an enforced visit, such as most of the guests at that hostelry are making, for Levin was a sort of star boarder, or honorary guest. Every day, for the past 10 days, Levin, with beard uncut, and clothes ragged with beard uncut, and clothes ragged and torn appeared at the place about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, asked for a bed and night's ledging, and the next morning was turned loose again.

When asked why he didn't work, Levin complained of sickness, and said that as soon as he recovered his health he would go to work. Yesterday morning, Captain Moore, tiring of the fellow's persistent visits to the station, told him to go to the Moore, tiring of the fellow's persistent visits to the station, told him to go to the county authorities or City Board of Charities, where he would be cared for if indigent. But again last night, Sam again appeared at the station and begged for his night's lodging. When asked why the county authorities didn't care for him, he answered languidly that he didn't have time to visit them. Then to his surprise, he was no longer a star his surprise, he was no longer a star boarder for the customary "lodger" en-try against his name was changed, and the word "vagrancy" substituted. Sam will appear before Judge Cameron this morning.

Heavy Reserve in The Dalles.

THE DALLES, Or., Dec. 9.—(Special.)— Financial conditions in Wasso County are most favorably reflected by the report of the First National Bank, of this city, to the Controller of the Currency, December 3. By this report the bank on that date had deposits aggregating $479,626.80, with an available cash reserve of $297.973.46, consisting of cash in its vaults and due from other banks. While required to carry as a reserve only 15 per cent of its deposits, these figures show that this bank has an actual reserve amounting to 62 per cent of its total deposits.

Shingleweavers Refuse to Accept

Reduction in Wages.

KELSO, Wash., Dec. 2 .- (Special.) - Seventy-five shingle-weavers in the employ of the Metcalf Shingle Company's mill at this place went on strike this morning on account of the reduction in wages which took effect last Thursday. The mill com pany notified the men over a week ago of the prospective cut, but the local union

at a meeting last Monday evening decided to work for three days under the cut awaiting the decision of the state council. President Brown, of Ballard, is in Kelso today. The company has sent to Tacoma for a crew of non-union men and expects to recommence operations as soon as they arrive. The reduction in wages affects all departments and amounts to from 1 cent to 1½ cent per 1000 shingles handled.

meaning a difference of from 75 cents to $1 on a day's labor.
