Newlands Urges Waterway Infprovement in Speech to Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 .- Aside from the appointment of committees, which took place at the beginning of today's session of the senate, the need of imand sectional difference will arise, only to be compromised by concessions harm-ful to this great enterprise. Congress should exercise the fullest power of ex-amination and of criticism; of course, it has the power any time to change the organization or to stop the work. All those powers should be exercised when-ever wise and necessary; but the main purpose of the bill is to enter upon the work in a business-like way, just as a private corporation would do, and not to impair the proper administration of the

LARGE DEFICIT CING

Chairman Tawney Urges the

Veed of Economy.

l'itimates of Expenditures for Coming Year Exceed Revenues_Military and Public Buildings Will Suffer Greatly.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 .- The House ummittee on appropriations, which as appointed yesterday by Speaker annon, met today and effected its ora saization. At the close of the meeting Chairman Tawney gave out the folving statement

The committee on appropriations in maress is confronted with a situaon which requires a very material resion of the estimates submitted for folic expenditures for the next fiscal ear ending June 30, 1908, in order to heep the appropriations within the posble and estimated revenues of the overnment.

The estimates submitted at the be-similing of the last session of Congress for the new current year totalled $895.p60,642. The estimates for the next fis-al year, submitted at the beginning of this session in the book of estimates. totalled $996,949,238, or an increase in the estimated expenditures for the next flacal year over the current year of $100,588,465. The estimated total revenue for the next fiscal year is $878,-123,011, while the actual revenue, including postal revenues, received dur-ing the last fiscal year, which total revenue was larger than that of any previous year in the history of the Government, was only $846,725,339.

Expenditures Exceed Revenues.

"It will be seen, therefore, that on the basis of the estimated expenditures and the estimated revenues for the next fiscal year, the expenditures as estimated exceed the revenu by $118,825,277. This x-cess does not include estimates for the regular deficiency and miscellaneous apopriations, which for the current year nount to $12,147,899. Nor does it include any new appropriations for spon-taneous expenditures. From this total of sils sec.27. however, should be deducted $25,000,000 which is included in the esti-mated expenditure for the redemption of National bank notes. This expenditure is not made out of the current revenues but out of the statutory fund obtained from National banks, which fund is not wrised as part of the Government's reco carried as part of the Government's reve-nues. Deducting the $25,000,000 still leaves a deficit of $35,000,000 and the estimated revenue and shows the necessity for a practical revision of the estimates sub practical revision of the estimates sub-mitted by the several subcommittees hav-ing jurisdiction of the appropriations for the next fiscal year, in order to keep expenditures for that year within pos-sible revenues and thus to avoid a de-

Important increases of estimate over current appropriations are: For the Army, $11.121.251; for the Navy, 326.832.-$12; for the fortifications, $31,545,934; for pensions, $4.900,000. In view of the almost certain increase in estimated revenues for the next fiscal year, and also in view of the fact that war does not threaten this country. It war does not threaten this control, it may be stated on the highest authority that Congress, in revising the estimated expenditures, will at this session endeavor to reduce most of all the budget for the maintenance of the military estimate rather than put the pruning knife to civil

Finance Deficit Faces.

Today's Treasury statement shows that the decrease in total Government revenues for the last 15 days of November and the first 15 days of December was $3,878,840. Members of the appropriations committee think that this rate of de-crease from the revenues of the first part of the current year will not grow less. If this shall be so, a finance deficit of $31,000,000 will have accrued by June 30, 1908. There was, however, at the close of the her fiscal year a surplus on hand of the last fiscal year, a surplus on hand of revenue over expenditures of $84,000,000, and there is today in the several National bank depositoriles $282,274,219 due the United States. Thus, while an anticipated deficit of $31,000,000 at the end of the current year will be an actual deficit, its creation would call for no issue of bonds

As current appropriations are provided ceed the revenue by $118,826,377. This ex-penditures for the current year have been authorized, the sixtieth Congress in been authorized, the sixtieth Congress in taking into account possible decrease of revenues, considers only the twelve months to follow June 30, 1907. It is the opinion of some members of the appro-priations committee, among them Chair-man Tawney and Representative Keifer of Ohlo, that the indicated decrease will continue through that period. Hence the closest scrutiny will be given to all meas-ures proposing appropriations of any work ures proposing appropriations of any kind and new authorizations, prominent among them in bills thus far introduced being public buildings, will be subjected more than ordinary consideration. to a more than ordinary consideration. "The situation as it presents itself," said Mr. Keifer, "may mean after we get down to business that not a single bill calling for the erection of a public building will be favorably reported by the committee. I am not prepared to say that it will happen; but it may." Four general bills—the legislative.

the District of Columbia, pensions and the fortifications, placed in the hands the fortifications, paced in the hands of the sub-committees today, will be worked on during the holidays. Im-mediately after Congress reconvenes, the second Monday in January, hearings before the sub-committees will be begun on these bills.

Personnel of Subcommittees.

The personnel of the sub-committees of the appropriations committee as an-nounced by Chairman Tawney, is as follows:

Sundry civil, Tawney, Smith, Brownlow, Fitzgerald and Sherley; legisla tive, Bingham, Gillett, Brick, Livingston and Burleson; District of Columbia, Gardner, Madden, Vreeland, Burleson and Powers; pensions, Keifer, Gardner, fictency. "It also shows the practical impoz-sibility of Congress at this session au-thorizing new governmental services or the undertaking of new projects, appro-priations for which would have to be met out of the revenue incoming for the next fiscal year-unless other provision is made for meeting such administration expendi-tures than to require them to be de-provement of the inland waterways was the chief subject in that body today. Newlands, of Nevada, spoke for two hours on his bill providing an Inland Waterway Commission and for the de opment of inland waterways of the country. The Senate adopted the resolution of Dick, extending the time allowed the militia of the several states, territories and the District of Columbia to conform to the provisions of the act of June 21, 1963, which was necessary in order that the militia of several states might take of appropriations that have advantage been made.

The resolution of Senator Culberson, of Texas, directing the committee on finance to investigate the causes of the present financial stringency and to recommend means for its relief, was allowed to lie on the table and it will be the subject of remarks by Culberson at some future

Speaking on his bill for waterway imrovement, Newlands said; "The most important feature of the bill is the creation of an inland waterway fund of $50,000,000 to be used both for in-vestigation and construction. The Presi-dent is authorized to appoint an Inland Waterways Commission to make examination and surveys for the devel-opment of all inland waterways and for the connection of rivers with one an-other or with the Great Lakes by connecting canals and by coastal canals, and to bring in co-ordination there-with the services of experts in various departments of the Government serv-ice. It will be observed." said Mr. New-lands, "that the initiative is put in the hands of the Executive Department as an administrative matter. It is clear that the judgment of a board of experts will be very much better than that of Congress, and that much delay and, confusion will be saved by authorizing the prompt initiation of the impair the proper administration of the work by unnecessary legislative restraint. "Equitable apportionment," said Mr Newlands, "among the several waterway systems of the country is enjoined by the bill. It is intended that work shall be commenced contemporaneously among the different systems, so that no section may feel that another section is favored at its expense. Newlands declared that he expects the Government to expend at least $50,000,000 annually during the next five years on the inland waterways and was inter-rupted by Beveridge, who said: "The Senator deesn't mean that, I

Newlands replied: "Yes, that is my individual view. the next ten years the United States should spend at least $500,000,000 in the improvement of inland waterways. I think the Government should enter into these works in every section of the coun-try, on the Pacific Coast, Atlantic Coast, Guit Coast, along the Mississippi River and its tributaries. I wish to say that is the sentiment of the people of the United States."

Teller interrupted to ask whether New lands intended to maintain the right of the General Government to control the waters of the Mississippi River. Newlands replied that under the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution the Nation has control over these rivers for the purpose of navigation, and the states themselves can do nothing to these rivers that interferes with naviga-tion without the consent of the Nation. Teller rejoined that the Supreme Court of the United States has passed upon these questions 30 times in the last 60 years, and it had maintained that the Nation's rights over the river relates solely to navigation, and it cannot utilize the water for establishing water power and electric light plants. He hoped the elay and confusion will be saved by thorizing the prompt initiation of the ork. "Otherwise we shall have difference of
