SETTLE MORE OF SEMI-ARID LANDS

Representative Mondell Introduces Land Bill Into House.

320-ACRE HOMESTEAD BILL

Provides That Settler Holding 160 Acres Under Homestead Law May Acquire 160 Acres More Adjoining, Under Conditions

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Dec. 16.—No bill introduced at the present session of Congress, proposing to amend the public land laws, has attracted greater attention than the 320-acre homestead bill offered by Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, who, under the rule of seniority, is sixted for chairman of the Committee on Public Lands of the House. As drawn the bill not only permits the original filing of 220-acre homesteads, but permits homesteaders who have heretofore acquired 190 acres of land under the homestead act, to take another 160 acres, on certain conditions. So important is this bill that its terms are here quoted in full. The bill provides:

That any person who is a qualified entryman under the homestead laws of the United States shall be entitled to enter, under the provisions of this act, 320 acres. or less, of surveyed, unappropriated public land, to be located in a reasonably compact body, and not to exceed one and one-half miles in extreme length, in conformity with the legal subdivision of the public lands; but no person who is the proprietor of more than 160 acres in any state or ter-ritory shall acquire any rights under this Excludes Timber Land.

Section 2. That any person applying to enter land under the provisions of this act shall make and subscribe before the proper office an affidavit as required by section somi make and subscrice before the proper office an affidavit as required by section 2290 of the Revised Statutes, and in addi-tion thereto shall make affidavit that the land sought to be entered does not contain a merchantable growth of timber; that not to exceed 80 acres of the same is irrigable from any known source of water supply; that in the opinion of the entryman at least 160 acres of the tract is susceptible of cul-tivation and the growing of crops, and upon the filing of such affidavits and on pay-ment of the sums now required to be paid under the homestead law for each 80 acres contained in the tract applied for, he or she shall be permitted to make entry.

Take Up Configuous Land. Section 3. That any person who has hereiofore perfected an entry under the homestead law of 160 acres, or less, shall have the right to make entry under this act of an area which, together with the former entry, shall not exceed 320 acres. That any homestead entryman now occupying lands hereiofore entered by him shall have the right to enter unappropriated public lands, subject to the provisions of this act, lying contiguous to his former entry, which, together with the original entry, which, together with the original entry, shall not exceed 220 acres, and residence upon the original entry shall be deemed as residence upon the additional entry.

Must Improve Land.

4. That at the time of making proof the entryman under this act 1, in addition to the proofs and affiits required under the homestead law. It is too-eighth of the area embraced in his y has been continuously cultivated and improvements have been made upon land to the value of not less than $1.25 acre for each acre contained in the Advance Dry Farming.

Speaking of his bill, Representative fondell said it was drawn for the purose of enabling settlers to take up lands dapted for dry farming. Experience has lemonstrated that 160 acres of land is not sufficient to support a family if the land must be dry farmed. On the other hand, the dry-farmer does not require 640 acres to support himself and family if the land is really susceptible of dry farming.

Mr. Mondell explains, as is well known, that the cream of the public domain has long since passed to private ownership; the agricultural land which remains is not ideal farming land, and much of it can only be made productive by irrigation or by dry-farming. The irrigable area is limited because there is a limit to the water supply, but much of the remaining land that cannot be made productive un-der ordinary farming methods, and which can never be irrigated, can be made to yield crops when properly dry-farmed, and it is this class of land which Mr. ell contends will be taken up under his bill.

Open Semi-Arid Regions.

He has so drawn his bill that timber lands cannot be acquired under its provisions, and has made it impossible to acquire more than 80 acres that are susceptible of irrigation. In all semi-arid regions there is some land, that can be re claimed by irrigation, but only a small portion, relatively speaking. In the main he believes his bill would merely open up to settlement semi-arid regions which to settlement semi-arid regions which will never be settled as long as the nomestead is restricted to 160 acres. His chief object, he declares, is to get set-tlers for his own and other semi-arid

It is not expected that the bill will pass in its present form. The draft which was introduced is purely tentative, and will be subject to amendment and change both in the committee and in the House

DUMAS' GREAT PLAY AT BAKER Austin Webb Makes Hit in Dashing

Role of D'Artagnan.

Everybody is praising the really fascinating production of Dumas' famous remantic drama, "The Three Musketeers," or "The Three Guardsmen" as it is offering this week. Nothing is too good for Portland theater-goers, and no one knows that so well as the progressive manager, George L. Baker. Costumes, scenery and elaborate offects for the great Dumas play are simply unsurpassed. Matinee Saturday.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" Tonight.

Once more the public will have a chance to see the famous New England comedy-drama, "Quincy Adams Sawyer," which has already proved to be such a tremendous success before local audiences. Ever since the opening performance on Sunday the

WAS POPULAR OREGON CITY BUSINESS MAN.

The Late William B. Shively.

OREGON CITY, Or., Dec. 17 .-(Special.)-William B. Shively, who was fatally stricken with heart dis-ease here last night, was born on a farm near South Bend, Ind., De-cember 31, 1849. He was married before geing to Nevada in 1883, and in 1894 he came to Oregon City, assuming the management of Shively's Opera-House. He is survived by a wife, one son, William B. Shively, Jr., an attorney of Portland, and a step daughter, Mrs. Lillie Thatcher. He was well known and very popular in business and theatrical circles on account of his jovial and cheerful nature. Three weeks ago his brother, D. M. Shively, died of heart failure in South Bend, Ind., and Mr. Shively was planning a visit next Spring to his only remaining brother at St.

"Girl of the Streets" at Empire.

"Girl of the Streets," the latest melodramatic sensation written by that clever ac-tress, Lillian Mortimer, is at the Empire this week, and attracting a great deal of interest. The scenes are laid in New York and tell the story of a young girl who is attempting to shield her brother from the results of a crime he is supposed to have committed, imperiis her own life and hap-piness. Every woman in the city should see this novel melodrama. Matines Saturday.

Star Matinee Today.

"From Farm to Factory" will be given a matinee performance at the Star Theater this afternoon by the French Stock Com-pany. This is a pastoral drama, with a wide streak of humor. There is a serious side in which capital and labor clash, with victory perched on the banner of the working men after a strike. There will also be a matinee Saturday. Seats are now on sale.

"Caught in the Web" Matinee.

This afternoon at the Lyric the Aller stock company will present its latest suc-cess, the thrilling detective melodrama, "Caught in the Web." Since opening night (ast Monday, when the company scored a decided hit in the piece, there has been a keen interest in the play and the company because of the wonderfully interesting parts the individual members of the cast play.

CHRISTMAS AT THE BAKER

Hoyt's "A Midnight Bell" Opens Next Sunday Matince for Week.

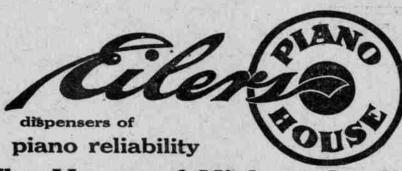

Fewer bills could be happier or more aptly chosen to entertain the patrons of the Baker Stock Company than Charles H. Hoyt's famous New England comedy, "A Miduight Beil." It has all the necessary holiday atmosphere. William Dills, as well as directing the production will be seen in his famous old role of Deacon Tidd. "A Midnight Beil." will open next Sunday matines at the Baker.

Commencing Sunday afternoon, the Marquam will present for the last time this season the San Francisco Opera Company in the brilliant comic opera success. The Toymaker." This is an opera which has combined all the essentials of a successful nusleal show. Comedy, pathos, sentiment, tunefulness and fine orchestration. It is a piece that never falls to please music lovers.

"Why Girls Leave Home."

E. J. Carpenter's latest play, "Why Girls Leave Home," will be presented for the first time in Portland at the Empire all next week, starting Sunday matine. The play is a wholesome narrative of the happenings in the household of a small but respectable family and involving especially the events in the life of an innocent young girl.

Christmas Bill.

Harry Crandall, formerly of Joe Weber's all-star company, and the Herzog trained horses from the New York Hippodrome, will be two of the big features which Sullivan & Considine are sending to Portland for the Christmas bill at the Grand. It is to be a red-letter week at the Grand beginning Monday afternoon.

AT THE VAUDEVILLE THEATERS

Grand's Best Bill.

The best bill of vaudeville the Grand has presented in weeks is the current entertainment. The Eddy Family, in a wire act, has started the town gossiping. These aerial artists do feats and tricks which no other wire runners dare imitate. Dancing, handsprings and other seemingly impossible feats are performed. Lawrence and Harvey have an act in which they imitate George Cohan, Johnny Ray and others. It is a comedy with a witty dialogue and breavy sones.

The Best at Pantages

The best prevails at Pantages Theater this week, the bill being one of uniform excelence. The American Newsboys' Quartet is a hit, their comedy singing winning them many encores. The Georges in novel comedy act are the best things of the kind ever seen in Portland. Johnston and Cook in "After the Ball"; the Vaughners, ragtime singers and dancers of the first water; the Totoes, acrobatic comedy ladder act; Pred Bauer, tenor, and the motion pictures presenting "The Clockmaker's Dream," conclude the show.

HAMLIN SINGS TONIGHT

Splendid American Tenor Presents Fine Programme at the Heilig.

George Hamlin, notable tenor, fresh laureled from the big festivals of the East, will sing tonight at the Heilig Theater, under the direction of Lois Steers-Wynn Coman. Hamilin has advanced remarkably, not only in ease and vanced remarkably, not only in ease and authority of vocal delivery, but in giving warmth and richness to tonal colora-tion. He has traveled far, experimented judiciously in song, studied discriminat-ingly, and now triumphs artistically. The lucidity and poetry of his interpretations in a wide range of song are always singly. in a wide range of song are always singu-larly satisfying, each selection being per-vaded by an atmosphere most agreeable and distinctive. He presents an unusually fine programme at the Hellig tonight. Seats now selling at the box office.

M. E. THOMPSON FILES SENSA-TIONAL COMPLAINT.

Alleges That the Wholesale Houses Dealing in Supplies Were in Conspiracy to Ald Local Trust.

A fresh exposure of the graft which the mbers have been householders of the city was made yes terday when M. E. Thompson filed suit in the Circuit Court against the Gould Company; and this time it is not only the master plumbers who are brought into the limelight. The wholesale houses handling plumbers' supplies are also al-leged to have conspired together, and to be still conspiring, to sell no supplies of any kind to any corporation, firm or individual in the city, except duly li-censed plumbers. It is still further the complaint of Mr. Thompson that the wholesale houses have unlawfully com-bined to raise the price of plumbing ma-terials for the benefit of the plumbers and themselves. The suit is brought to quash a mechanic's lien filed with the County Clerk by the Gould Company, November 18, during the holidays, when Thompson was helpless, so far as the courts were concerned.

The statements of the complaint filed by Thompson are as follows: Thompson owns lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 in Clifford's Addition, Albina. He entered into an agreement on September 3 with D. S. Hughes by the terms of which Hughes was to erect four buildings on the property for $4600. A week later, on September 10, Stanley & Shoemaker contracted with Hughes to 50 the plumbing and furnish the necessary materials for $530.

Prior to September 2 the Crane Com-pany and Falling, Haines & McCalman, wholesale dealers, together with other wholesale dealers in plumbing supplies here, unlawfully combined, and are now doing so, to control and fix the selling price of plumbing materials in Portland, and to sell no supplies to others there. and to sell no supplies to others than licensed plumbers, thereby making it impossible for Thompson or Hughes to purchase any plumbing materials for the buildings.

The Gould Company, the complaint continues, also forbid all licensed plumbers of the city, as its agents, from selling any plumbing supplies to the would-be purchasers. As Stanley and Shoemaker were duly licensed plumbers the contract was entered into with them.

Thompson says he paid Hughes with a check for $300 on October 4. Hughes, he says, paid Stanley and Shoemsker with a check on October 11, and on the same day this firm paid the Gould Company.
