DEAL WITH HOBOS

Lane Will Invite Mayors of Cities to Unite on Plan.

PROPOSES JOINT ACTION

Portland Executive Hopes to End Present Endless-Chain System of Ordering Vagrants Out of Town—May Provide Work.

Mayor Lane announced, in an interview yesterday, that he intends to invite the Chief Executives of all cities of the first class in Oregon, Washington and California to enter into an organization to end the troubles caused by the present system of driving the vagrant classes from pillar to post. As soon as the Mayor completes his annual message he will take up this matter, and strive to secure the co-operation of all large municipalities throughout the Pacific Coast.

"The present system of shipping vagrants from city to city and of driving them about in a bad plan and makes criminals of some, who might incur better treatment, be made valuable citizens," said Mayor Lane yesterday.

"I have no sentimental pity for these fellows who will not work and who prefer to be hobos, but in order to stop this endless chain proposition of sending the vagrant hordes from one place to another, I would like to see co-operation between the officials of the large cities, and hope they will investigate and decide to take an interest in some plan that will bring about this end."

"The way the police authorities of our cities now do, in ordering our vagrants from their cities, is absolutely high-handed and unconstitutional," continued Mayor Lane. "It ought not to continue in this day of enlightenment. We ought to devise a way to take care of these classes without driving them from our midst; but, if we cannot do this, we can at least assist each other in keeping records of all hobos ordered to leave any Coast city, so that other officials may have some knowledge that they are coming."

"I mentioned my plan to Mayor William H. Moore, of Seattle, when he was here several weeks ago, and he favored it; but his time here was so short that we could not go into details. I am strongly in favor of each city taking care of its own vagrants. I am willing to do so in Portland. It is a big problem, but if the others will look after their hobos, we will take care of those that find their way here. But we can't stand it to have hobos driven here from every other place on the Coast. And that is just what I want to stop. Let each municipality furnish its vagrant classes with work; those who are willing to labor can then get places, and those who won't then can

Pendleton Man Outlines His Platform—Uncertain as to Parcels Post Law—Favors Judge Taft for President.

ONE of the indications more or less in evidence, less nowadays than a few years ago, that the Happy New Year season is "in our midst," is the steaming Tom and Jerry.

Hundreds of vagrants throughout the Pacific Coast States furnish one of the greatest problems with which the police have to deal. It is the custom of the police in every city to order the hobos out every week, the idea being to clear their own cities of this class. However, while Seattle or Tacoma police are driving vagrants out of those places, Portland and Spokane, for example, are also driving out vagrants, so that the endeavor to be rid of them is fruitless.

A New Version of the Origin of "Tom and Jerry"

ONE of the indications more or less in evidence, less nowadays than a few years ago, that the Happy New Year season is "in our midst," is the steaming Tom and Jerry.

Joe Penny, he of the smiling countenance and nimble fingers when making change at the Portland Hotel buffet, said yesterday that a young fellow had broken into print a day or so ago asking for the origin of the seductive and insidious concoction that looks so tempting and brings such dire results if toyed with too assiduously as a firm.

"Well sir, one Winter they had a bowl of what looked like the pudding we called 'floating island,' in the old days, and do yet for that matter, and asked their patrons that day to have a cup of 'Tom and Jerry' in honor of the day. I recall now that the 'boys' who dropped in that afternoon had accepted one cup of the New Year cheer remained to taste new arrivals until far into the night—the words 'Happy New Year' along towards 'night' sounded like 'Happier'."

"Whether Tom or Jerry originated the formula, I am unable to state, but I do know that the name stuck, and was first served in that little cafe in New York, and that I was one of the few men who called that day and showed up the next. Why the others did not come I leave it to you to guess."

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Adjutant-General Hamilton says the summing of the Adjutants-General of Oregon, Washington and California to Washington is solely to confer with the War Department as to maneuver camps this year and the organization of Coast Artillery reserves, and that the suggestion for the conference originated with state and not with Federal authorities.

C. A. BIGLOW, PRESIDENT

Elected Head of East Side Business Men's Club.

The East Side Business Men's Club met in annual session last night in the gymnasium of the Ringler gymnasium, corner Grand avenue and East

Morrison street, there being nearly 200 business men and guests present, including a large delegation from the Portland Ad Club. H. Calef called the meeting to order, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: C. A. Biglow, who has been secretary, was elected president by acclamation. Other officers chosen are: Vice-president, W. S. Love; secretary, Walter Jackson; treasurer, E. E. Fulton. H. Calef, who has been president, declined to allow his name to be used for re-election.

After the election had been concluded selections were given by the East Side High School orchestra, the Larger or-

MUST REPORT TO CHIEF

OFFICER HAWLEY DETACHED FROM JUVENILE COURT.

Will Attend Daily Court Sessions, as He Is Familiar With History of Most of the Cases.

Probation Officer Hawley, who has done efficient service with the Juvenile Court during Judge Frazer's term, has been ordered to report to Chief of Police Gritzmacher hereafter, and will be placed upon a regular beat instead of dealing with juveniles, as formerly, notwithstanding that he is especially well fitted for the work which he has been doing with the court. Although Mr. Hawley will be detailed as a regular policeman, he has been ordered to report at the Juvenile Court sessions each day, as he knows the history of practically every case which has ever come up for adjudication. Under the new regime it will be almost impossible for him to render efficient service either as a regular officer or with the Juvenile Court, and both tasks will be broken into, the one by the other.

This move has been made by Chief Gritzmacher notwithstanding the fact that a new judge has just taken up the Juvenile court work, and Mr. Hawley's services have been used there to excellent advantage. This change has followed the placing of all policemen in public buildings on regular beats.

SUED FOR BALANCE OF $3880

Dealer in Canned Music Forced to Wall by Manufacturer.

The Rudolph Wurlitzer Company, of Cincinnati, O., has brought suit against A. N. King to recover $3880 on a condition sale of musical instruments which the company alleges it furnished King to be paid for in monthly installments. These payments, it is asserted, ceased to be made by King last February. The complaint sets forth that on June 27, 1906, the company sold King five Wurlitzer harps with music rolls and motors, 15 oak pianinos, 15 Emerson motors, ten piano rolls, and one mandolin quartet, for $7865, and on December 19 sold him two more Wurlitzer harps with two music rolls and motors for $750. It is asserted that King gave notes to pay this amount in 15 monthly payments, and also gave chattel mortgages to cover the amount.

The company alleges that there is a balance due of $3880, and asks that the mortgage be foreclosed, and the goods sold by the Sheriff, and that King be compelled to pay any deficiency that may remain after the sale.

These instruments, which furnished a large part of the canned music for North End saloons and resorts, were recently attached by the Sheriff's deputies and stored pending the outcome of the suit.

STRIKERS' PLACES FILLED

Boilermakers Go Back to Work to Find They Are Not Needed.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—The striking boilermakers at the South Tacoma shops were yesterday notified that the strike had been called off. The strikers on the Northern Pacific system acknowledged defeat several months ago, but have been holding out to assist the strikers on the Erie road. They hoped to win if able to hold out long enough. The striking boilermakers of South Tacoma were wired to return to work at the old wage scale, but so many boilermakers were imported that but few of the strikers will be able to return. They now declare the strike has resulted in a lockout.

PERSONAL MENTION.

The condition of Judge George H. Williams' health was much improved last night. Dr. Mackenzie said the judge had suffered a mild attack of influenza, which had been treated promptly and warded off.

Battalion Chief Lee Holden, of the East Side, has gone to his place on the Mount Hood road, where he will be for several days. He has gone to make preparations for moving his family to the farm some time during the present month. Mr. Holden will leave the fire department February 1.

Mrs. C. F. Wright has received the sad news of the death of her mother, the wife of Dr. F. H. Gwynne, of Butte, Mont. Mrs. Gwynne was 75 years of age. Dr. Gwynne was formerly pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Salem, Or., and is well known throughout this state. Mrs. Wright left Saturday night to attend the funeral.
