ing of homes. Some see a joker in proposed law, alleging it is framed for benefit of large manufacturing interests.

The Oregon Tax Reform Association has fathered an amendment to the State Constitution, which will put the single tax I so effect in Oregon if adopted, at the next general election. George W. Dixon of Canby, writes to The Oregonian, warn tog the people of the character of the endment which is to be submitted to the vote of the people next June. Initiarive petitions are now being circulated throughout the state to secure the required number of signatures to place the measure on the ballot. The proposed amendment exempts dwelling houses and improvements, both on farm and town property, and many facturing plants and machinery from tax-ation, leaving the burden of taxation on idle land boldings. Mr. Dixon, who is publisher of the Camby Tribune, believes the purpose of the framers of the amendat is to mislead the farmers into the belief that farm property is to be exempted, without calling tacir attention to the fact that all manufacturing plants in the state will also be exempt.

He writes to The Oregonian as follows: Canby Editor Alarmed.

Gentiemen—A few days ago there came to my notice an initiative petition which was sent out by the Oregon Tax Reform Association, commonsed of a number of Portland attorneys, purporting to have for its object the submission of a referendum to the voters next June exempting from taxation household furniture, farm machinery, harns, outhouses, workmen's tools, etc. The petition I read was received in the morning small Sunday morning and in less than an hour had haff a dozen signatures of farmers and others, who are accustomed to sign anything and everything that is presented to them. When I read the petition I saw immediately that it was drafted at the instance of the big corporations and has for its purpose the exemption from taxation of large manufacturing plants.

stance of the big corporations and has for its purpose the exemption from taxation of large manufacturing plants.

An extract from the petition follows:
"Section 1 of Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Oregon, shall be, and hereby is amended to read as follows:
"Section 1—The Legislative Assembly shall provide by law for unimorm and equalitate of assessment and taxation and shall proscribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property both real and personal, excepting that all dwelling houses, have, sheds outhouses and all other appurienances thereto, all maall dwelling houses, batta, sheds outhouses and all other appurienances thereto, all machinery and buildings used exclusively for manufacturing purposes and appurtenances thereto, all fenes, farm machinery and appullances, used as such, all fruit trees, vines, shrubs and all other improvements on the farm, all livestock, all household furniture in use and all tools owned by workmen and in use, shall be exempt from taxation; extepting all such property for municipal, educational, literary, scientific, religious or charitable purposes as may be specially exempted by law."

I do not know anything about the Oregon

spied by law."

I do not know anything about the Oregon as Reform Association, but I note the angle of C. E. S. Wood as one of the memits of this organization. I saw at a glance to purpose of this document and refused attach my signature to it. I then subtited it to A. M. Crawford, Attorney-Genmi of Oregon, and he expressed views similar to my one.

If this foolish practice is to continue there is no telling what kind of laws we will have on the statute books in a few years. I do not mean to say that the initiative principle as applied in Oregon is not a good thing, but unserupulous lawices, posting as friends of the people are using it in an attempt to defeat the rights of the neonle.

If Mr. Wood intended this clause to mean "all farm machinery and buildings used exclusively for manufacturing purposes," it would have been just as easy to write the small word "farm" as to have left it out. Such a construction of the clause would have qualified it so as to benefit the producer and not the hig manufacturers, such as the Oregon, City Wooden Mills, the Williamette Pulp & Puper Company, and others I might mention. If this omission was a mistake on the part of Mr. Wood, he should recall these petitions and correct them. We are unable to understand how a learned member of the bar, knowing the law and professing to practice it, equid unintentionally make such a blumder. And not only Mr. Wood, but several others whose names are printed on the title page of this petition, are involved. the people.

Members of the Oregon Tax Reform

Members of the Oregon Tax Reform Association do not attempt to conceal the fact that all manufacturing plants in the state will be exempt from taxation, if the amendment carries. This, they say, is one of the chief benefits to accrue from it. They say such an act they say, is one of the chief benefits to accrue from it. They say such an act is needed to encourage manufacturing in this state, and they point out the fact that several other states have adopted the same plan with success.

While the framers of the amendment say the act will not bring about the single tax pure and simple, they admit it is a step in that direction and say it will encourage industry, whereas the present tax laws put a premium on shiftlessness inasmuch as the more a man improves his property, both in town and country, the greater the penalty he has to pay for his thrift.

Members of the Oregon Tax Reform Association say they will obtain the required number of signatures, 8000, to place the measure on the ballot next June. About half the signatures needed have been secured already. Manymanufacturers of the city and state are supporting the amendment, among them being W. H. Corbett, president of the Willamette Iron & Steel Works.

Fourth.—The railroad corporations get large mber land grants under a contract to sell acre; they avoid paying any tax at all for a long period of years then arbitrarily refuse to sell at the agreed price at all; procure a tax valuation at a few dollars per acre, and hold the land at from $25 to $150 an acre. Other large capitalists gobble up millions of acres of our best timber land, procure a similar valuation for tax purposes, and for selling purposes hold it at similar prices.

Fifth.—While railroad corporations, telegraph and tylephone companies, electric plants and street railways have secured enormously valuable franchiess, which are land values, and have capitalized these franchiese for multiplied millions of dollars, they have almost wholly escaped taxation. Fet these values are created entirely by the people. And the larger the population the larger the value. Sixth.—Thus the state of Oregon, like every other state in the Union, has been driven to extremitles in seaking revenue for the support of Government and public utilities and conveniences. And every increase in taxation has been an increase of burden upon labor and the resolution of the support of the su has been an increase of burden upon labor and the products of labor. The proposed amendment will reverse this order of things. It will tend to put the tuxes upon franchises and speculative values in unused land, thereby encouraging improvements on farms and in the cities alike; stimulate manufacturing, thereby employing more labor which will them being W. ### PORTLAND BANK CLEARINGS SHOW CONTINUOUS HEALTHY

INCREASE SINCE 1904

A continuous healthy increase in the bank clearances of Portland since 1904 is shown in a published comparative statement which appeared in the Commercial & Financial Chronicie, a reliable authority for these statistics, in its issue of January 4. While the total of the bank clearings for last December fell off slightly, the result of a disturbed financial condition throughout the country, the figures credit Portland with an increase of 24.5 per cent for the year 1907. For the week ending December 28, the bank clearings of this city increased from $2,814,567 in 1904 to $3,948,529 for the same week in 1905, $5,738,854 in 1905, while for the corresponding week in 1907, owing to the causes already referred to, this business reached a total of only $3,661,790. The following table shows comparatively the record of bank clearances of the different Pacific Coast cities for the month of December last, for the year 1907 and for the last week

Besides sending out initiative petitions for signature, the executive committee is issuing literature explaining the new method of taxation and has established headquarters in Mr. Wagnon's office in the Macousan building. Mr. Wagnon's heapquarters in Mr. Wagnon's office in the Marquam building. Mr. Wagnon in discussing the proposed amendment last night, said:

"The plan is in the direction of a single tax law. Every town in the state will give a bonus to a manu-facturing plant if it will beate there. Eugene gave me a horus for a manufacturing plant if it will becate there. Eugene gave me a bonus for a manufacturing plant; Saiem gave the 'Kay Woolen Mills a bonus on two occasions. If we would exempt manufacturing plants and machinery from taxation, we would secure all the manufacturing plants coming to the Pacific Coast for this state. I could bring several here personally if taxes were removed, if you impose heavy taxes, industries leave the state.

South Adopts Plan.

Four South Adopts Plan.

'Four Southern states, Mississippi, Georgia, Maryland and Louisana have a similar law, and Baitimore, as a city, exempts factories from taxation. The result is that these states have gone ahead rapidly in manufacturing and Baitimore is the leading manufacturing city of the South. The taxes we do get from manufacturing plants in this state do not amount to as much as the revenue from the hogs owned in the state, or from the wagons of the farmers.

The amount lost to the state by exempting manufacturing plants from taxes would be small and would be more than made up by the advance in land values following the location of ten new manufacturing plants in this state. The new measure is intended to discourage land monopoly. It is fav-ored by the granges of the state and promises to be a very popular meas-

H. W. Stone, who is an enthusiastic advocate of the new method of distributing taxation, said: There is no nigger in the woodpile in this act. It is presented from purely disinterested motives. The present law cultivates false swearing and puts a premium on idleness and fine on industry. By virtue of the present law, mechanics should pay a tax on their tools. Very few, if any, ever do so. They get out of it in one way and another, some by lying. We want to encourage men to own tools and use them and build and own houses, and the amendment will en-courage a man to improve his prop-erty instead of allowing it to remain idle. "One of the main purposes of the new law is to encourage manufacturers to locate in Oregon. I think manu-facturing in this state can be doubled in three years under the new law. The main thing is to relieve the products of labor from taxation. A great part of the land of this state is held unimproved. We propose to take the tax off labor and put it on monopolistic holdings. We propose to encourage off labor and put it on monopolistic holdings. We propose to encourage the planting of orchards and vine-yards and the substitution of smaller farms, all of which shall be cultivated, for the large farms of the state, only a small part of which are worked."

Not a Friend of Labor.

Radding was ch sen as the delegate from the Painters' Union to attend the Astoria convention. He was furnished with the necessary credentials, but when he presented himself at the convention they were not recognized and he was not permitted to participate on the grounds that his record had not proved him to be a good friend of organized labor, in which he had been a disturbing factor ever since he joined the Painters' Union, over a year ago.

This served only to aggravate Radding, who then took steps to retallate, and he did so before the convention adjourned, proving himself an effective worker, considering that he was not allowed a seat in the convention. He resolved to repay Leabo for Leabo's opposition to him, and through his friends in the convention he succeeded. When the reports from the officers were submitted they were referred to the committee on officers' reports, the committee consisting of delegates not altogether friendly to Leabo, gates not altogether friendly to Leabo who had completed the unexpired tern of a former secretary of the State Fed eration, who resigned last July. The Leabo report was submitted and re-ferred Monday afternoon, but the comto report it back to the convention until late Thursday afternoon, just before the election of officers and final adjournment. ### WAR AGAINST POOLROOMS

Councilman Belding Will Father Ordinance to Regulate Resorts.

Many poolrooms in Portland will be put dut of business" if an ordinance that is to be introduced by Councilman Belding at the next session of the Council becomes a law. It is being framed by Assistant City Attorney Grant, and will forbid minors to enter poolrooms at any time. The measure is made drastic be-cause of the slarming state of affairs re-cause of the alarming state of affairs revealed by investigation.

"I have been looking into the situation relative to crimes committed by young men—mere children, in some instances—and find an alarming condition," said Councilman Belding. "From associates found in poolrooms, boys learn all manner of prime, and go out to secure money with which to play the games at any cost—even by burglary or highway robbery, if necessary. It has reached such a state that I doem it absolutely necessary, for the protection of our youth, that they should be forbidden to enter these piaces."

Councilman Belding's assortions are borne out by the police records, which Ricyclists to Use Sidewalks.

Councilman Cottel yesterday announced his determination to wage war against the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks, and to this end, says he will introduce at the next session of the Council an ordinance absolutely prohibiting the use of the sidewalks for bicycles. At present, during the Winter months, the sidewalks are open for the use of wheelmen.

"Portland is the only city that I know of where bicyclists are allowed to ride on the sidewalks." said Councilman Cottel. "It has been a constant source of accidents, many people receiving serious injuries, and i propose to put a stop to it at once. I will have my ordinance ready for introduction at the next Council meeting, and will do all I can to secure its passage in the shortest possible time, in order that the present law allowing the use of sidewalks during the Winter may be repealed and the danger to pedestrians be repealed and the danger to pedestrians removed."

City to Lay New Walk.

The Executive Board, at its session yesterday afternoon, directed City Engineer Taylor to proceed with the laying of a cement sidewalk on the north side of Morrison street, between West Park and Tenth, along what is known as the Pennoyer block. At present a very badly-worn brick walk is in use. After the city completes the work, it will proceed to collect the cost from the lessess of the property.

J. W. HARPER NOTIFIES ROSE FESTIVAL ASSOCIATION.

Will Prepare Designs for Structures to Be Used in Great Pageant

J. W. Harper, of St. Louis, master floatbuilder for a dozen "Velled Prophet" shows and several Mardi Gras spectacles, wired the Portland Rose Festival Associ-tion yesterday that he would arrive in Portland Monday or Tuesday to take up the work of designing the decorative and electrical floats. Mr. Harper is bringing with him specimens of designs which have made the fetes in the Middle West have made the fetes in the Middle West particularly appealing from the picturesque standpoint. George L. Hutchin, general manager, of the Festival Association, who was largely responsible for securing his services, declares that Harper cannot be excelled in this line of work.

Of perhaps greater importance than any announcement that has been made in many weeks was the pledge of President B. S. Josselyn of the Portland Rallway, Light & Power Company, yesterday, that his corporation would contribute $500 to the Festival fund. This pledge comes in the form of a cash tribute $5000 to the Festival fund. This pledge comes in the form of a cash donation of $2500 and the balance will be made up of electrical wiring, supplies, trucks for electrical pageants, current and power and special low rates for the children who are to take part in the demonstration in honor of Queen Flora. The company will also furnish all necessery electricians and operators to handle sary electricians and operators to handle the illuminated floats.

The finance committee held a confer-ence yesterday with the heads of the different breweries of the city and were different breweries of the city and were informed that they would get together a week from next Tuesday and make an apportionment, the lump sum to be paid over in cash as soon as the appropriation has been decided upon. The Pertland Gas Company, in reply to the request made for a subscription a few days ago, said that it would announce its piedge within the part week or so but that it within the next week or so, but that it was a matter which had to come before the directors.

At the suggestion of Chairman Me-

Murray, of the publicity committee, a special committee from the Festival Association has called on Vice-Consul T. Aiba, local representative of the Imperial Japanese government with a view of interesting the leading Japanese merchants and business men in a plan to reproduce the famous "Cherry Blossom Parade" as a feature of the Festival. This kind of parade has for many years been a feature of the great National fetes which are held in Tokio, every year, in the early Spring. Cherries never ripen in Japan. They merely come into bloom and when that season rolls round hun-dreds upon hundreds of the little Geisha girls, arrayed in all their finery dane and maneuver through the streets of the of the cherry tree.

To reproduce this spectacle will call for the importation of thousands of cherry branches, which the local Jap-anese are willing to be responsible for, and it will mean the manufacture of thousands more of artificial sprays, all of which will he a picture-sque feature of one of the special parades. The plan also includes the enlisting of several hundred native Japanese to take part is the parade, garbed in fantastic and gorg-cous raiment.
