Whistles Shriek, Bells Ring and the Crowds on Streets of Ely Cheer When News is Flashed Over Phone—Story of Cave-in.

Glad to Get Out of Hell-Hole.

"Is that you, Arthur?" queried Fred McDonald, as his brother stepped forward and embraced him after nearly seven long weeks of separation.

Dig Their Way to Freedom.

The entombed men had been working several hours in digging their way to freedom from the 1000-foot level. The rescuers at the same time doing all in their power to remove the debris which was blocking the mouth of the 1000-foot level tunnel.

Cheers for the Rescued.

Another shout of joy echoed when Fred McDonald was brought out and given to the care of those anxiously waiting.

Find Safety in Pump-House.

Half way up, falling timbers knocked the two Greeks from the bell, killing them. Bailey, Brown and McDonald managed to reach the pump station. Its well-timbered roof had withstood the rock and timber that came down the shaft and offered shelter and safety.

Food Supplied by Pipe.

A large supply was sent down, as it was thought possible that the pipe communication might be cut off before the rescuing party could reach the imprisoned men, but throughout their long weeks of imprisonment this pipe has been in daily use.
