

THE TREES ARE RADICAL

Experts Give Farmers of the Valley Advice.

RENOVATE OLD ORCHARDS

Scheme Is to Cut Down Old Trees and Graft Yellow Newtowns on New Wood—Will Eradicate All the Pests.

A movement has been inaugurated in every county of the Willamette Valley for the renovation of the old apple orchards by cutting them to the ground, or within about two feet of the ground, and allowing them to sprout out from the stump and then to top-graft with Yellow Newtowns.

The movement is inaugurated by the state board of horticulture, and the Willamette Valley Apple Growers' Association, which give the following advice:

If the three-trunks are sound and it is desired to spray old orchards successfully, a perpendicular cut should be made through the bark and a small section of wood, almost paralleling the bark and sections inserted after being shielded with the cut ends of the limbs nearest the trunk of the tree. Scions may also be inserted under the bark and through a slit cut as if for budding.

The back-lips should be trimmed to fit snugly around the projecting scion and should be tied down and the wound well washed, especially behind the scion. In the latter case the scion should be inserted 6 to 12 inches below the top of the stump and should be placed where limbs are desired. The stump should not be split in two during the current year.

"All trees should have their tops removed before March 1. Cut off the whole top with a cross-cut saw, taking care that the stump be cut as close to the ground as possible. At least two men should do the work. If scions are inserted on the top of the stump several inches of the stump should be cut off again in April or May when the grafting is done. These methods require somewhat more skill than to allow the trees to grow a year and then to graft into the new wood.

"Any of these three methods will be successful if carefully done. In three or four years the trees will commence to bear again and, being low, can be sprayed easily and the fruit cared for economically.

"Under present conditions it is not possible to spray old orchards successfully, and all such orchards contain too many varieties, few of which are of any commercial value. By the method proposed the orchard will be practically uniform and its output through the Willamette Valley Apple Growers' Association, already formed.

"For many years these old orchards have been of no value to their owners, and in their present form will be taken under the provisions of the state board of horticulture and through the inspectors of the various counties. These officials hope that every person in the Willamette Valley owning these old trees will adopt the suggested method and a remarkably short time these bushes will be as exorable all over the valley as they were slightly as well as profitable."

STEIWER PLEADS GUILTY

This petition, which was circulated by E. A. Putnam, the Government will insist that the investigation be conducted by a special agent, a special agent, in 1906, was made in response to the Putnam petition and not on the application of Hall, as will be shown by the following text of the petition to Hermann follows: To Hon. Blinger Hermann, U. S. Land Commissioner, Washington, D. C.

Whereas, The Butte Creek Land, Livestock & Lumber Company, of Forest, Wheeler County, Oregon, and other rich corporations have been purchasing large tracts of land within the boundaries of this county.

Therefore, the undersigned citizens and legal voters of Wheeler County, Oregon, ask that you take this matter in hand and at your earliest opportunity cause to be set on foot a special agent to investigate the same.

Defense Wins a Point. Henry objected seriously to the examination of Hendricks by Judge Webster on his crooked work in approving fraudulent homestead papers while acting as United States Commissioner, contending that Hendricks should be permitted to stand on his right as a defendant and should not be required to give testimony that would incriminate himself in view of the fact that he had appealed to the Supreme Court the case in which he had been convicted of obstruction of justice.

Judge Webster asserted his right to interrogate the witness as to his official acts, inasmuch as they related to the case at hand. He stated that he had shown Hendricks was directly interested. Judge Hunt sustained the position of Judge Webster and held that since Hendricks had voluntarily offered to testify, the questions by defendant's counsel were within the range of proper cross-examination.

In the course of his cross-examination Hendricks denied that he had told his brother, R. J. Hendricks, of Salem, that Hall was "hard and unyielding" and could not be "brought around" as to any conspiracy. Hendricks did admit that when he saw Hall in May, 1900, the attitude of the District Attorney apparently was that of a defendant and insisted on performing his duty, although on redirect examination by Henry he supplemented this by saying that Hall seemed more "irascible" after that interview.

Zachary Promised Immunity. C. B. Zachary, foreman for the Butte Creek Company, followed Hendricks and testified that he had never received any notice from Hall to remove the unlawful fences by which the company had illegally inclosed public land. He also told of making overtures to the Government official and agreeing not only to plead guilty to the indictment charging conspiracy, but also to take the stand and to tell the truth of the fraudulent operations of the Butte Creek Company.

He said that in consideration of his confession and testimony for the prosecution he was to be fined $250 and sentenced to one day in the County Jail, which was in discussing the case during the afternoon recess Henry declared that when the trial began the Government was prepared with about 75 witnesses to prove the conspiracy charge against every one of the defendants that had been indicted. This array of evidence served to take the "dignity" out of Hendricks and Zachary, who had already been convicted, the former on a charge of subornation of perjury and the latter for perjury, and were awaiting sentence, and they did not wish to make a further defense of the conspiracy charge. For that reason they had sought the Government officials and simplified the Government's case and excused the necessity of examining many of the witnesses that were originally subpoenaed in the case. It is denied by Henry that either Hendricks or Zachary had been promised immunity for any other consideration in connection with the charges on which they were convicted in 1906. For those crimes Hendricks and Zachary were sentenced to the Penitentiary and will probably be sentenced when the pending trial is concluded, or as soon as Hendricks' appeal has been decided.

THINKS SHADOW IS MASK

FRIGHTENED MOTORMAN SENDS CAR FULL SPEED AHEAD.

A. Sorenson Thrown in Mud, Then Arrested and Kept in Jail Over Night.

Arthur Sorenson, a mechanic, had his clothes ruined, his face and hands lacerated badly and was compelled to spend the night in jail under suspicion of being a desperate criminal all on account of the vivid imagination of Fred Loy, a streetcar motorman. Not until the opening of Police Court yesterday forenoon did Sorenson succeed in dispelling suspicions which Loy's groundless charges brought on. Loy mistook a shadow on Sorenson's face for a mask at an early hour in the morning, while the latter was attempting to board a car.

The car was going to the barns and was crossing Albert Street, yesterday forenoon, when Sorenson stepped out to get aboard. Loy thought he saw a mask and put the car ahead full speed. Sorenson, who lives near the end of the line, attempted to swing aboard and was hurled into the middle of the street, landing in a pool of mud.

Loy ran at full speed until he encountered a policeman. The officer induced him to turn back with the car and make an effort to find the masked holdup. As they neared Alberta street a limping form came out and hailed the car. The officer induced the trembling carman to stop. Instead of a robber he found a hapless homeward-bound pedestrian covered in mud and blood. A search of Sorenson's clothing revealed no mask or even a handkerchief which might have been taken from the victim's pockets.

Sorenson was taken to the city jail and held on a charge of being out after midnight. His absurd detention was brought to an end when the case came up in the Municipal Court.

STATE OFFERS BIG REWARD

Four Thousand Dollars for Arrest of Casteel Murderers.

SALLEM, Or., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Governor Chamberlain today offered a reward of $4000 for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of the Casteel family at Macleay, about two months ago. The offer of the reward came as a complete surprise in official circles and can be accounted for only upon the supposition that the Governor has been informed by private parties that they have a clue and are willing to follow it up with an investigation if a reward shall be offered.

Sheriff Culver made a very exhaustive investigation at the scene of the murder and also secured a complete history of the family affairs and relations of the Casteels and Mort Montgomery, the hired man. Culver was thoroughly convinced that Montgomery killed the Casteels and himself, probably because he was in love with the daughter of the murdered man. Culver is a man at Roseburg. The District Attorney is also satisfied this is the correct theory of the crime.

CLEVER FORGER IS ARRESTED

Walla Walla Police Believe They Have Old Offender in W. Foley.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—A man giving the name of William Foley is under arrest here for passing a forged check for $18 on K. Falkenberg, a local jeweler. In payment for a gold watch and diamond ring. He gave a check on a Salt Lake City bank and showed a bank book in which he was credited with nearly $200 in deposits. He also tried to pass forged checks on other business houses. Falkenberg took his check to the Baker-Boyer Bank, who found upon telegraphic transfer to Salt Lake City that Foley had no money on deposit there, and checks bearing his name were being returned every day to some place. When arrested Foley had in his possession other forged checks and a telegram from a confederate in Seattle warning him to get out of Walla Walla.

Foley was arrested by Chief of Police Davis after midnight last night. Foley had been making himself a good fellow about pleasure resorts. Police believe he is an expert forger and an old offender.

No Word Yet From Liston.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The word has yet been received from Harry P. Liston, the Indian Commissioner, and unless he appears at his office tomorrow morning at the usual business hours, the Government will charge him with desertion. Superintendent Davis, now in the city, today said: "Mr. Liston's leave of absence expires with today, and unless he is here in time for business tomorrow, the Government will feel at liberty to act on the presumption that he will not return."

RECITAL TONIGHT.

Kathleen Lawler, Soloist.

FENDERS A PUZZLE

Mayor Lane Opposed to the Lambert Device.

AT OUTS WITH COUNCIL

Probability That He Will Veto Ordinance Recommending Its Use on Local Carlines—Matter Still Badly Muddled.

There is reason to believe that the Lambert fender decided upon by the City Council as the official device to be used in Portland, will be rejected by Mayor Lane. It is regarded as virtually certain that he will not approve of this particular device, and that he will veto the ordinance now being drafted. If he does, it means the end of the Lambert device, for the charter plainly says that the Mayor, as well as the Council, must approve.

Mayor Lane has called the attention of the special committee of the City Council, consisting of Councilmen Vaughn, Baker and Driscoll, to the fact that their action on the selection of the fender so far has been unsatisfactory. However, it is regarded as most significant, but it is known that the Mayor favors the Liverpool fender, believing it to be the best manufactured today, and the added impression that he will veto the ordinance now being drafted by City Attorney Kavanagh approving the Lambert fender.

When interviewed yesterday afternoon, Mayor Lane admitted that he had not been acting with the special committee of the City Council in the selection of a fender, and that he had not so much as seen the Lambert fender. He would not, however, make any statement as to his intentions. He admits that the Liverpool fender should at least be given a fair trial.

Another feature that is giving the officials some cause for hesitating regarding the Lambert fender is the fact that the makers of the Eclipse fender, in use in Los Angeles, have served notice that their patent is infringed by the Lambert. They threaten to enjoin the city from using the Lambert fender, and to take the case into the courts to protect their rights.

It was only after weeks of debate that the fender committee composed of Councilmen Vaughn, Baker and Driscoll agreed upon the Lambert fender. However, it is an open secret that Mr. Vaughn, who was chairman of the committee, was not favorable to the Lambert, as he desired the Eclipse. He acquiesced simply for the sake of arriving at an agreement on a certain fender, and frankly said so when the committee reported in favor of the adoption of the Lambert.

Consequently, it looks as if the fender problem were no nearer a solution than it was a year ago.

Children to Hold the Sunday Service

Rev. S. C. Lapham, of Second Baptist Church, Plans Innovation to Attract Children to Meeting.

"THE CHILD'S CHURCH" is the title of the new department to be introduced next Sunday for the first time at the Second Baptist Church, East Seventh and East Ankeny streets, by Rev. S. C. Lapham, the pastor. It will be a complete innovation in church affairs, and is the outgrowth of careful consideration by Rev. Mr. Lapham as to the best way to get children to attend church services.

The old times when father and mother came to church with six and ten children, said Mr. Lapham, "have passed away and there seems no place for the child in our regular church services. At a meeting attended by children Wednesday night we made arrangements for a children's service to begin next Sunday morning. There will be a children's choir, a child will read the scripture lesson, the responsive reading and children will be ushers. The children will hold the service. It will be their meeting except the address which I shall deliver. Since it became known that such a service would be held there has been great interest among the children. We expect to hold services of this character at least once a month."

False Alarm of Burglars.

The wind was responsible early yesterday morning for sending in a burglar alarm from the fur store of Rummell & Sons, Second and Washington streets, giving the police an interesting and exciting tour for three quarters of an hour, and arousing G. P. Rummell, the head of the firm, out of his bed at 4 o'clock. The alarm is connected with all the windows and other means of entrance in the building and is part of a system operated by the Western Union Telegraph Company. At 4 A. M. the alarm started the operator of the telegraph company, at Third and

MAY INCREASE PENSIONS

Indian War Veterans Would Benefit From Ankeny's Bill.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 23.—At the behest of the survivors of the early Indian wars in the Northwest, Senator Ankeny has introduced a bill granting them an increase of pension. Several bills for this purpose are now pending in Congress, and it is a question which one, if any, will be taken up for action.

The Ankeny bill provides that every Indian war pensioner now on the roll, or who may hereafter be granted a pension, shall receive $12 instead of $8 per month for the date of filing original application, provided he has not reached the age of 65. Pensioners who are 65 or over shall receive $12 per month, and those who are 70 shall draw $20 per month. As most of the veterans are 70 years of age or older, the bill virtually increases the pensions of Indian war veterans from $8 to $20 per month.

All members from the Northwest are interested in securing an increase of pension for the Indian War veterans, and if

FIGHT AT WEDDING

Nuptial Party Finds Collector Waiting at Church.

WITH BILL FOR CARDS

Printer Demands Pay for Announcements and Is Floored by Right of Best Man—May Appeal to the Law.

Forgetfulness of an order for wedding cards nearly broke up a bridal procession in front of St. Patrick's Church on Wednesday. It may yet break in on the honeymoon. For the man who failed in breaking up the wedding procession in order to collect for the cards declared his intention yesterday of securing a warrant of arrest for the best man if not for the groom. He is only waiting to learn the identity of the best man, an athletic person with a fearful wallop in his right hand, but otherwise unknown.

The wedding in question was that which united Robert Cahill and Miss Freda Grischau, a young Portland couple. E. L. Cantowine, a printer, is the man who tried to break up the bridal procession. The wedding was on the verge of being transformed into a boxing exhibition, when a mounted policeman chanced to pass, and he succeeded in restoring peace.

Cantowine runs a printing shop at 210 Madison street. Early last week the young groom called on him and left an order for wedding cards. He said all was decided concerning the wedding except the hour. He would call later and give that information.

The printer heard nothing further of the groom. At the last hour he decided to get the cards out anyway, and, going this, he sent them to the Cahill residence. Guessing at the hour, Cantowine announced on the cards that the wedding would occur at 8 o'clock. It did not occur until an hour later.

Several times the printer called at the groom's home for his pay. He was not admitted. He watched for the wedding procession, and when the wedding party reached the chapel they found the collector in waiting. Cantowine tried to interview the groom, but was thrust aside by the best man, a muscular youth, who has doubtless been the best man at other events than weddings, as Cantowine was soon to learn. Failing to collect, the printer waited until the procession was leaving the church. Then he made a scene by waving his bill in the groom's face and demanding immediate payment.

HIGHWAYMAN SECURES $19

Knocks J. W. Hyde Down and Rifles His Pockets.

J. W. Hyde, who lives at 302 Fourth street, was waylaid by a highwayman last night shortly before 12 o'clock, and robbed of $19. Hyde was on his way home and was walking along the south side of Jefferson street. Between Second and Third streets a man approached him from the opposite direction and in the middle of the block paused and waited for him. The man was very tall and was dressed in dark clothes with the brim of his hat pulled down and the collar of his coat turned up so that Hyde did not get a good look at him. A gun was thrust in Hyde's face. Hyde reached into his pocket to find his money and the highwayman, evidently mistaking it for an effort to get a weapon, struck him violently over the head with his gun and knocked him down.

The footpad then rifled Hyde's pockets and fled.

FAMOUS BOOKMAKER DEAD

"Joe" Ullman, Who Made and Lost Fortunes, Was Penniless.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Joseph F. Ull-

man, the well-known racing man, died in a sanitarium at Amityville, L. I., last night as the result of paralysis, from which he suffered for nearly a year. "Joe" Ullman and his two brothers were known as among the most successful bookies in the country and their operations extended from one coast to another. Although he won several fortunes he lost them again and it is said he died almost penniless. His last venture was the backing of an opera company, in which he is said to have lost $45,000.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Joseph Ullman started in life as a butcher in St. Louis in company with two brothers, Coley and Alec Ullman, but deserted that business early to become a bookmaker. He was a contemporary of Leo Mayer and George Wheeler, in the late-writing profession. Ullman became associated with Corrigan in the days of the old West side racetrack, before the days of Garfield Park racing. Afterward he went to Hawthorne along with Corrigan in 1890 and his business was the operation of foreign books, in which he was reputed to have won over $300,000 in six months.

With the close of the Hawthorne track and the war with Garfield Park, Ullman engaged in the poolroom business. After the resumption of Chicago racing in the '90s, Ullman's association with Corrigan continued without interruption until racing was stopped in Cook County. Then he went East and at one time attempted to establish another Monte Carlo on "No Man's Land," an island in Chesapeake Bay, as a rival to the Big Store, where bets as large as $100,000 were accepted without hesitation.

A year ago last winter Ullman financed the San Francisco Grand Opera Company, of which Miss Alice Neilson was a star. While conducting this enterprise, in which he lost money on the Pacific Coast, Ullman had his first attack of temporary insanity and was placed in a Los Angeles sanitarium.

During his confinement there he was reported to have won a lot of money in Wall street plunges made against the advice of friends of which he afterward claimed to have no recollection.

HAS MOVED TO COOS BAY

Otherwise Utter Could Be Idaho's Surveyor-General.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 23.—The President this evening, on recommendation of Secretary Garfield, accepted the resignation of Surveyor-General Easteson. The Idaho Senators are favorable to appointment of D. A. Utter, of Weiser, but it seems to be reasonably well established that he has removed to Coos Bay, Or., and, if this is clearly shown, another will have to be chosen.

Against Improving Dry Straits.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 23.—The Secretary of War today sent Congress an adverse report on the proposal to improve Dry Straits, Alaska, as an alternate channel to Wrangell Narrows. In view of the fact that an appropriation of $1,000,000 has been made to improve Wrangell Narrows so as to accommodate the largest ships in the Alaskan trade, the other improvement is not deemed necessary.

Cold Water Thrown on Ankeny.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 23.—The Secretary of the Navy today sent to Congress an answer to Senator Ankeny's resolution inquiring as to the necessity of the construction of two submarine boats for Puget Sound and one for Gray's Harbor. These boats could be built for $75,000 each, but the Secretary deems it inadvisable to build warships for any particular station. He rather discourages the Senator's proposition.

Game Closely Contested.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—After playing each other to a standstill last evening, the Albion team of Albany College and the Albany High school fought for 15 minutes in play-off the tie before the college finally won the victory. At the end of two 20-minute halves the score was 19 to 13. After ten minutes of play, the High school scored one point on a foul, and it was five minutes more before Torbet tossed a winning field goal for the college.

General debility may arise from a variety of causes but weakness is always present, a tendency to perspire and fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, sometimes black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, vertigo, wakefulness caused by inability to stop thinking, and unrefreshing sleep. These conditions are simply a call for a blood tonic and builder.

Mrs. Lena May Brooks, Prairie Hall, Macon county, Ill., after several months of suffering finally found the right tonic in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says:

"I suffered terribly from a general breakdown in health, was in bed for three months and after that was able to be up only part of the time. I was sick all over, being pale, weak and thin. My appetite was gone, my head ached most of the time, and often I would faint away.

"As the treatment I was taking did not help me, I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking a few boxes, I began to get well rapidly. I am now as well and strong as ever in my life."
