BURGLARS ARE ACTIVE.—Two burgiaries were reported to the police yesterday morning. A saloon at 111 North Third street was broken into and $5 in change taken from the cash till. The thieves got in through a back window. The second-hand store at 12 North Fourth street was also entered but nothing of value was missed. The burglars pried the front door missed. The burglars pried the front door open in a bunglesome manner. Ringing of the burglar alarm at the G. P. Rummelin fur store, on Second street, doubtless prevented theft thre at an early hour. The alarm was set off by the opening of a second-story window and it attracted a squad of policemen in short order. It is possible that the wind set off the alarm as the window was not booked.

FUNERAL OF S. ALLEN GOODWIN.-S. Funeral of S. Allen Goodwin.—S. Allen Goodwin, who dropped dead at Columbia dock, several mornings ago, while engaged in his duties as chalker, was interred yesterday at Greenwood Cemetery. The funeral services were held at Finley's chapel and were conducted by Rev. Mr. Lees, of the English Lutheran Church, of which church Mr. Allen was choir leader. Mr. Goodwin was well known as a singer and formerly belonged to the Ben Greet Company. His death was brought on by an attack of heart disease.

of two complaints against Rand and his subsequent arrest. Rand will answer to two separate charges of assault and battery this morning before Police Judge Cameron. Henderson and Riddell are the complainants against him. Another who figured in the affair was Attorney George Brice, who occupies offices with Rand. Brice attempted the role of peacemaker between the other three and while he does not appear as a complainant in the matter, he is said to have suffered the usual fate of peacemakers. The trouble arose over an abusive letter received by Henderson, who suspected that the writer was Rand.

DENIES HE WAS IN JAIL.—John Schaan, an employe of the Street-Cleaning Department, who was arrested Monday, last, on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by George Day, another employe of the department, denies that he spent the night in jail, as has been intimated. He says he furnished ball and was released immediately. He was fined $10 Tuesday by Judge Cameron. Schaan declares he never was in jail and expects that he never will be. He also says that he did not charge Superintendent Donaldson and the Assistant Superintendent with taking dirt belonging to the city, and that DENIES HE WAS IN JAIL - John Schaan, taking dirt belonging to the city, and that the nature of his charges against them will develop in due time.

of the Rose Carnival officials that the city plant roses in the park blocks. The idea did not meet with the favor expected, and the result was that out of 19 blocks, but three were set aside for roses. They are those between Ankeny and Burnside, Salmon and Main and one to be selected further south.

The Rose Carnival Association was represented by E. B. McFarland, president; E. W. Rowe, F. V. Holman, Dr. Emmett Drake, F. Dresser, and William McMurray, who were unanimous in requesting the Park Board to set aside the city park blocks for the planting of roses, preferably Caroline Testouts. It was urged also that the board name a date in February to be known as "rose-planting day," which, it was argued, would be a fine advertisement for Portland. The committee said that if the board would set aside the blocks, the carnival management would assist in caring for the roses.

After discussing the proposal at length the members of the board decided that the matter was too much of an experi-ment to warrant a very heavy outlay or the setting aside of anywhere near all the park blocks, and therefore agreed to give over but three blocks for the pur-

JOSEPH GASTON IS A CANDI-DATE FOR THAT OFFICE.

In the Second Congressional Dis trict_Brief Review of His Career.

Mr. Joseph Gaston has become a can-didate for the office of Railroad Commis-sioner in the Second Congressional Dis-trict. He is well known to many citizens of the state and has taken an active part in so many directions in developing the resources of the state, and creating public opinion on political and economic questions as to be ranked as one of the "state builders," and entitled to consideration at the time. this time.

Mr. Gaston is a native of Belmont Mr. Gastor is a native of Belmont County, Ohio, and worked on a farm until 30 years of age. Was educated at the public schools of the county, and taught country schools in Winter season. Studied law and was admitted to practice by the Supreme Court of Ohio. Organized "The Oregon Central Railroad Company" in 1867 to build the road under the above grant; was made president and general manager of the road and commenced the work of construction at Portland, April 15, 1888. construction at Portland, April 15, 1868. Visited Washington in the Winter of 1869-70 and secured another land grant (the last grant in aid of railroads made by Congress) in aid of a railroad from Port land to McMinnville, with a branch from Forest Grove to Astoria, and remained with the company until its road was com-pleted to the Yamhill River. The acts of Congress granting these lands were both amended at the instance of Mr. Gas-both amended at the instance of Mr. Gaston restricting sales of the land to actual settlers at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre; and although they covered grants to the extent of over 5,000,000 acres he never took an acre of the land or a dollar of their proceeds.

In 1878 he organized the Dayton, Sheridan & Dallas Railroad Company, and built the first 40 miles of narrow gauge railroad in Oregon. And on this start the road was further extended on the east and west sides of the Willamette Valley by William Reed and others until 200 miles of road were built; and thus making Gaston's railroad work practically making Gaston's railroad work practically the foundation of the railroad development of the Willamette Valley and Southern Oregon. His connection with railroads ceased in 1880.

In 1853-4 Mr. Gaston edited the Jackson-ville Sentinel, the first Republican paper published in Southern Oregon. In 1855-8 he edited the Oregon Statesman for near-ly two years. In 1875-4-5 he edited the ly two years. In 1873-4-5 he edited the Portland Dally and Weekly Bulletin for two years. In 1888-9 he edited the Portland Dally News for nearly a year. All of these papers were supporters of the of these papers were supporters of the Republican party in Oregon.

In 1865, in connection with the Hon. John Minto, Mr. Gaston published the Oregon Agriculturist, one of the first farm journals printed on the Pacific Coast. In 1872 he edited the Williamette Farmer of Salem for one year. In 1883-9 he edited and published the Pacific Farmer (now published by Frank 1966) for two years. In 1823-4-5 he edited and published The Farmers Journal of Portland. All of these publications were devoted to the interests of the farmers and producing classes, and to such reforms as the Australian ballot, postal savings banks, and direct law-making by the people; and besides this newspaper work he has contributed frequently to the Oregon Historical Quarterly and other magazines. Republican party in Oregon.

By appointment of the State Land Board in 1872 Mr. Gaston successfully prosecuted a case through the Circuit and Supreme Courts of the state, and through the Land Department of the United States to final decision by the Secretary of the Interior, to settle the title of the state to its swamp lands, involving more than a million acres of lands which, considering the legal principles and subject matter involved, was the most important law suit ever tried in Oregon. From 1880 to 1885 Mr. Gaston was engaged in the practice of law at Portland with ex-Senator of nearly every county in the state, and is now president of the Oregon Borax Company engaged in developing the soda, nitrate and borax deposits of the ancient lakes of Southeastern Oregon. He has long been a member of the Grange. In his petition for nomination Mr. Gaston commits himself to the following proposition:

This, with the patent mouthpiece (used only in mouthpiece)

"If I am nominated and elected Railroad Commissioner I will as such Commissioner, during my term of office, vote and act to enforce the Railroad Commission law with fairness, justice and impartiality to all interests, persons, places, corporations and railroads; and, as the volume of freight and travel increases, use my authority and influence, as far as lawful, to reduce the cost and increase the facilities of railroad transportation within the limits of giving to the railroads a fair and reasonable net income on their necessary cost; and promote the extension of rallroads to Central Oregon and all other parts of the state."
