EAST BUYS BUTTER

Oregon Product Going to the Chicago Market.

PRICES HIGHER THERE

Order for Storage Cubes Now Being Filled by Local Shippers. Inquiry From Seattle for Squares.

For the first time in the history of the local market, Oregon butter is being bought by the Eastern trade. It has been a common thing for years to bring Eastern butter here at certain seasons of the year, and it is only proper that the movement should now be reversed.

An order from Chicago for storage cubes is being filled on the basis of 26½ cents f. o. b. About 24,000 pounds of cubes are held in storage here, and all that can be secured will be sent East on the order. As yet there has been no inquiry from that quarter for squares. The Eastern buying is attributed to the depleted condition of storage stocks there and the scarcity of fresh butter, owing to the very cold weather now prevailing.

There was some Seattle inquiry yesterday for local storage butter, and this in connection with the Eastern demand has stiffened the ideas of local holders materially. It is not likely that prices will soon be advanced as a consequence, but it seems certain that the decline, which was anticipated a short time ago, will be averted. The general opinion is that the market will continue at a steady level for some time. The city creamery output is generally less and cold weather will cause it to fall away more. Front street is still well stocked with outside butter, but the accumulation is not as great as early in the week, owing to the low prices named on several of the brands.

City creamery butter is quoted firm at 37½ cents. The Damascus creamery, which has been at 40 cents, reports an increase in its production and has accordingly lowered its quotation to that of the other city creameries.

CALIFORNIA ONIONS MATURE SOON.

First Shipments From Thermal Will Be Made Early in March.

Onion holders were not pleased yesterday with the announcement of the early maturing of the Southern California and Texas crops. The Coachella crop, estimated at 250 cars, is offered by the Southern California Vegetable Union for prompt delivery, the first car lots to be shipped early in March. Texas Bermudas are promised for shipment the latter part of March. Local prices were unchanged and the market was dull.

There was an easier feeling in the potato trade, owing to the weakness of the San Francisco market, and buyers were not disposed to operate freely except at some concessions.

EGGS OFFERED AT VARIOUS PRICES.

Effect of Weather on the Local Market. Poultry Is Quiet.

A mixed tone prevailed in the egg market. Some dealers, because of the cold weather, were inclined to hold their stocks for better than recent prices, while others, in view of the heavy receipts, shaded the quotation to prevent the accumulation of a surplus. Most of the day's sales were made at 25 cents.

There was not much snap to the poultry market. Arrivals were light, but generally were sufficient. The strongest inquiry came from Chinese, who wanted fat hens. This class of buying will cease Saturday, when the Chinese holiday begins.

Wheat Dull and Lower.

The wheat market was very weak and dull yesterday and prices were quoted a cent lower all around. With the recent sharp declines in foreign markets, prices here would be still lower, but for the fall in freight rates, which have taken up the slack, as it were. Sailing ships were offered at 27s 6d, and it is believed steamers will be available shortly around 26s.

Car of Japanese Oranges Arrives.

Among the fruit arrivals yesterday was a car of Japanese oranges, which being better than previous receipts, were quoted firmer at 50@55c per box. A wire from Los Angeles said the bananas bound for Portland passed there green. They are due here Tuesday. Celery is cleaning up well, and as only one car is rolling, the market has a firm tone.

New Grade of Sugar.

A new grade of cane sugar will be put on the market in a few days. It will be quoted 10 cents less than fruit sugar and 10 cents higher than beet sugar.

AWAIT THE MESSAGE

Stock Traders Not Disposed to Make Commitments.

MARKET IS VERY DULL

Bank Troubles in New York Have but Little Effect on Sentiment. Coalers Affected by Poor Anthracite Trade.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The profound dullness of the stock market was its salient feature today. Outside participation was a negligible quantity. The professionals seemed as much indisposed to operate on one side of the market as on the other. The influences which were current in the early part of the day were unmistakably depressing to sentiment. The contingent of room traders attempted to take advantage of this by selling stocks. Prices yielded without vigorous resistance, but the supply of stocks coming out on the decline was scanty. A position of firmness was argued from this and the professional sales were, therefore, covered by corresponding purchases. The improvement had little effect in prompting active commitments, owing to the desire to await the publication of President Roosevelt's special message to Congress tomorrow, and observe its effect on general opinion. Brokers claim to be quite well informed on the contents of the message and abstracts were circulated at the Stock Exchange, professing to give with great particularity literal passages of the document, containing a strain of invective against some of the prominent interests in the corporation world and against their actions, as well as a vigor of criticism and denunciation of the world of the Stock Exchange itself, which created a considerable sensation.

While the early weakness of the market, due to this influence, was overcome, the continued dullness was attributable to the repressing influence of the same factor. The closing of two of the smaller clearing-house banks, which had been unable to throw off the incubus of distrustful influences, was not a marked factor in the stock market, nor was the run precipitated on another institution, for the same reasons. Some special weakness was exhibited in Delaware & Hudson. The reduction of the anthracite output left other members of the group of Coalers sensitive to the influence of this stock. The weakness in the London copper market was against any advance in stocks. The market was in a torpid state the latter part of the day.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, $3,732,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Potatoes Dropping on the Sound.

TACOMA, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—When the market opened today, the commission houses offered first-class Yakima potatoes at $20 a ton, which is a reduction of $2. Inferior eastern potatoes were sold at $18 a ton and less. T. F. Bryant, who has just returned from Eastern Washington, stated that good potatoes could be bought in Yakima at $15 a ton. The farmers with first-class potatoes are not so willing to sell, he said, as those whose pits were filled with inferior tubers.

The total number of furnaces in blast on December 31, 1907, was 167, compared with 340 at the same time in 1906.

In Canada the total production in 1907 amounted to 581,146 tons against 541,957 in 1906.

London Wool Sales.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today consisted of a miscellaneous selection of 12,824 bales. Fine grades were from 5 to 7½ per cent higher, but coarse cross-breds declined 5 to 7½ per cent below the last sales. Good scoured combings were in good demand for France. A fair supply of good, broken greasies was taken for America. New clip New Zealand cross-breds were lower, owing to their disappointing condition.

FAVORS TRIAL MARRIAGE

French Minister Would Allow Contract for Fixed Period.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—In replying to the theme advanced by Paul Bourget in his play "A Divorce," as seen in this city Tuesday night, Artide Briand, minister of justice and worship, practically comes out in favor of trial marriages.

He endorses the idea of gradual evolution of the doctrine of divorce until the point is reached where a marriage may be contracted for a specified period under legal safeguards protecting the interests of both parties. He declares it is impossible for those about to enter upon this relation to know the true character of their partners and that it is unnatural and intolerable to expect an unmatched pair to drag out an existence in which they have nothing in common.

Delay in Counting Miners' Votes.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—The tellers having charge of the count of the vote for National officers of the United Mineworkers were not ready to report today, and the convention adjourned until tomorrow. Claims of irregularities in the vote of some of the locals are delaying a tabulation of the vote. Friends of T. L. Lewis claim his election as president by from 15,000 to 20,000.

Representatives of the coal miners and operators of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, known as the central competitive field, met today to decide whether a joint conference shall be called to make a wage scale to go into effect April 1, and to re-establish the interstate agreement which was interrupted two years ago. Hearing Set for February 10.

Judge C. E. Wolverton, of the United States Circuit Court, yesterday at the request of Attorney-General A. M. Crawford, set February 10 as the date for the hearing in the case of the Columbia Southern Irrigation Company. Attorney-General Crawford has brought suit against the irrigation company, asking that a receiver be appointed for the concern. The suit grows out of the alleged failure of the company to fulfill an agreement made with the state in improving 12,000 acres of land in the Deschutes River country.

Big Argentine Offers Weaken Prices in Europe.

CHICAGO RESPONDS FULLY

May Wheat Closes Below the Dollar Point in Latter Market—Primary Receipts Increase and Cash Wheat Is Down.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Wheat was weak all day. The general news was favorable to the bears and the market received little support, except from shorts. Sharp declines in the price of wheat at the principal European grain centers, due to liberal offers from Argentina, had a depressing effect at the opening. Bearish sentiment was increased by large primary receipts and a decline in the price of cash wheat. The market closed weak, with prices near the low point. May opened ⅝@¾c to ⅝@¾c lower at $1.00⅛ to $1.00⅝, sold at $1.00⅝ and declined to 98½c. The close was at 98½@98⅝c.

The slump in wheat had only a slight effect on corn at the opening. The market continued weak and closed easy. May opened a shade to ⅛c lower at 60⅝@60¾c to 60⅞c, sold at 60⅞@60⅞c and then declined to 60⅜c and closed at 60½c.

Oats were weak in sympathy with wheat and because of liberal receipts. May opened ⅜ to ½c lower at 53⅛@53½c and sold off to 52⅜c, where it closed.

Provisions were firm all day, the market being well supported because of smaller receipts of live hogs. At the close May pork was up 2½c, lard and ribs were each 5c up.

STANDS FOR FISH WHEELS

Says That Salmon Run Best When Sea Lions Are Plentiful.

PORTLAND, Jan. 30.—(To the Editor.)—A movement is on foot in Oregon to prevent the taking of salmon from the Columbia River by means of drag-seines, set-nets, fish-wheels and gill-nets above Vancouver, Wash. The movement is a part of the plan of the lower river fishermen to prevent any wheels operating in the river. The chief objection to the taking of salmon, say the opponents of the "wheels," is the killing of the young salmon and the prevention of the older salmon reaching the spawning grounds in the Upper Columbia River.

It is a well known fact that not one wheel on the upper river has ever taken out of the river one marked small salmon—proving conclusively that if the marked salmon were returning to the river, that the wheels would certainly pick up at least some of them. Marked salmon, it is true, have been taken from the mouth of the river, but not a single one from the upper river fisheries. There are no small salmon marked. Do they catch the small ones that bear the hatchery marks with traps, seines or wheels? That is what I want to know.

This should prove that the wheels are not destroying the fish or decreasing the pack. According to the best observers, the fish run best when the sea lions are the most plentiful. Since the sea lions have been diminished, the salmon are getting scarcer. It is well known that the fish will loiter around the mouth of the river for days and weeks and won't come in. But let the sea lions approach and they will not lose any time in ascending. I have watched this circumstance for many years and every fisherman knows it to be true. If we want good salmon runs, there must be plenty of sea lions. The sea lions should be protected on the breeding grounds. If 300 sheep are placed in a pasture alone they will stay, but if there are three wolves among them, these wolves will frighten them all over the country. It is the same with sea lions. They frighten the salmon up the river.

The United States Government should draw a line in front of Fort Canby Lighthouse from the upper end of the eddy down to the mouth of the Columbia. If it prevents the gill-nets from coming outside of that line, there would not be any fishermen drowned, for that is the most dangerous place on the river. That is the reason why the Government is forced to put an extra life-saving man on the life-saving crew, and that is the worst graveyard for fishermen. How can a man expect to get the salmon to come up the river, when there are about 1000 boats at the mouth of the Columbia? That is what is turning the salmon over to Shoalwater Bay, Grays Harbor and Tillamook. The gill-nets will not let them come in.

I have been fishing on the Columbia for 14 years and have been watching the fisheries all the time. I have fished with traps, seines, wheels and gill-nets. There are several thousand gill-net fishermen on the Columbia. Why do they fish there? They say they cannot fish in clear water. Why then do they stay there and fish for days in clear water? Just merely to prevent the seine fishermen from catching anything. We can prove that there are from 500 to 1000 boats that are fishing when the water is so clear that we can see three feet deep.

We have a hatchery at the Chinook Beach. Nick Hanson is the superintendent of this hatchery and is doing splendidly.

I will admit that any man who abandons his trap should be compelled to pull up the piling. No man should be allowed to cut up the salmon and use part of it and throw the remainder back into the water. I wish that the fishermen from Baker's Bay would come up the Columbia River and investigate the fishing there, for I have been up the river and found that the fishing industry is a great deal different there than on the Lower Columbia. We admit that with the trap and seine we take all kinds of fish, large and small, but we don't take any of the small, marked salmon. There are two kinds of salmon. There is one kind that never grows large, and these are distinguished by the spawn that is inside of them when full grown.

I am ready to prove everything I have said in this communication. The fishermen don't need to think that the fish cannot come up the Columbia—for they can. In the first place, the wheels cannot run before the last of May, because they stand on dry land and they have to quit again about the last of July. So, there is plenty of time for the fish to come to the spawning grounds on the Upper Columbia. J. A. O. STENSLAND.

Survivors of Eclipse Reach Honolulu in Fearful Condition.

HONOLULU, Jan. 30.—The survivors of the American ship Eclipse which foundered on January 11, while bound from Newcastle, Australia, to San Francisco, arrived here today and were sent to a hospital. All are in a fearful condition from exposure, exhaustion and thirst.

One boat capsized, crowding 16 men into the only other boat, in which they were 16 days at sea before reaching Hena Maui. During this time, Isador Modoe, Stanley Ennis and Peter Christiansen died.
