THROW UP SPONGE FOR FRANKIE NEIL

Attell Has the Better of the Featherweight Contest at All Times.

LASTS UNTIL 13TH ROUND

Beating Is So Terrific That Neil's Seconds Fear Serious Injury. Preliminary Bout Goes to Johnnie Murphy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Abe Attell, champion featherweight of America, tonight gave Frankie Neil, of this city, such an unmerciful beating that the latter's seconds, fearing serious injury, entered the ring in the 13th round and threw up the sponge as a token of defeat.

In the first six rounds Neil scarcely landed a blow on his clever and nimble opponent, while on the other hand, Attell peppered Neil's face with left and right jolts and uppercuts. Only in the seventh and eighth rounds did Neil bring the fight to Attell. Neil protested against the action of his seconds in throwing up the sponge.

Johnnie Murphy was given the decision over Kid Scaler in a ten-round preliminary. This contest, which was announced for the lightweight championship of the Pacific Coast, equalled the interest taken in the main event.

It was a hard, gruelling contest throughout. Murphy, who was the heavier by four pounds, was the agressor at all times and landed the most forceful and telling blows. Near the end of the seventh round, which was all in Murphy's favor, Scaler landed a right very low. Murphy claimed a foul, and the bout was stopped for five minutes, while doctors examined the protesting pugilist. The claim finally was disallowed and the men were ordered to continue.

Murphy had all the better of the two concluding rounds and clearly earned the decision. Scaler was the favorite in the betting at 10 to 7. Murphy, being overweight, was compelled to relinquish his forfeit.

YEARNS TO BECOME MAGNATE

Jake Thielman Returns to Portland With Ambitious Plan.

Jake Thielman, the star twirler of the Portland Baseball Club of 1904, for whom the St. Louis National League team exchanged John B. McLean during the Winter of 1905, returned to Portland yesterday and will remain here for a short time visiting old friends. Jake is looking well, and if any difference, is apparently in better shape than ever before in his baseball career, which is a demonstration of what a season or so under Napoleon Lajoie will do for a player.

Thielman is now numbered among the stars of the Cleveland American League team, and is the man who put the quietus upon the aspirations of the Philadelphia Athletics in last year's pennant race.

Connie Mack's outfit was up against the real thing and going like a house afire when it was pitted against Cleveland. Only four more games remained to be played, and if Philadelphia won all four there was a chance to annex the pennant, for Detroit was playing the strong St. Louis team and the Athletics had three more games with Washington. They had won two games of the series from Cleveland and Thielman was delegated by Lajoie to pitch in the third game. He went on the mound opposed to Eddie Plank, the premier southpaw of the Athletics, for Waddell was erratic. Jake won out, thereby putting Philadelphia out of the running, as Detroit won two games that day.

Thielman has been visiting his brother in Seattle for a few days, and came to Portland to renew his acquaintance with the fans of this city. He expressed great pleasure at again seeing Portland, and incidentally added that he would like to buy an interest in the Portland franchise. When pressed for a definite statement in this regard, Jake said that he would see Judge W. W. McCredie and Manager Walter McCredie before he had anything further to say on the subject.

"I look upon Portland as my home," said Thielman, "and if it were possible to secure the Portland franchise I would be delighted to do so. I do not know that the McCredies wish to sell, however, and therefore will not go any further along this line until I have seen them. I shall be in Portland for several weeks, according to my present plans."

BACK BANK WITH FORTUNES

Educator Declares Directors Should Stand Behind Institutions.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Personal liability of bank directors to the extent of their personal fortunes for all losses to depositors was proposed last night by Professor Earl Dean Howard, of Northwestern University. He made the statement in addressing a class in finance under the auspices of the American Institute of Banking.

"The proposal to guarantee the deposits in National banks is sure to become dangerously popular among the great majority of people who are unable to reason out the ultimate consequences of any action," said Professor Howard. "Many overlook the fatal defect, namely, the inevitable stimulus which it would give to speculative banking. In view of this insuperable obstacle to a guarantee of deposits, why not accomplish the desired result by adopting the plan of depositions by the directors of each bank for itself."

The proposal is as follows:

"Let the National bank act provide that in the case of any bank failure where any section of the act has been violated or where any otherwise illegal or ultra vires transactions have been made by the bank, or where the bank at the time of failure has outstanding loans to directors or to any enterprise in which said directors are directors or officers, on which any loss is suffered by the bank, the directors shall be personally liable for all losses to depositors.

"This plan combines two long-desired objects—the security of the depositor and the responsibility of the directors."

PUTS QUESTION TO DIET.

TOKIO, Feb. 1.—(4 P. M.)—At a sectional committee meeting of the Diet today, M. Oishi asked against whom were the Japanese military preparations directed.

Minister of War Terauchi replied, saying that they were not directed against any single nation but against eventualities on the Pacific, where Japan has a long coast line from Saghalien to Formosa.

TROOPS TO GO APRIL 1

Nevada Legislature Decides to Make Change Month Earlier.

CARSON, Nev., Jan. 31.—The much-discussed and often delayed resolution asking the President to retain the troops in Goldfield until May 1 came up in the committee of the whole in the Assembly this morning. It was recommended that the message be amended to read April 1. It is proposed to adopt the resolution and put it up to the judgment of the Senate whether the President be asked for additional time. It was stated this morning that it will take six weeks to organize the Nevada police force.

A resolution was adopted by both houses to adjourn sine die at 12 o'clock on Saturday.

A bill appropriating $5000 for the Sheep Commission passed the House. The Nevada Commission acts in conjunction with the Government in all quarantine livestock districts.

In the Senate the free pass bill came up. It was developed that it is lawful for any person to accept transportation over a railroad excepting state and county officers. The committee having the measure in hand is divided, which may result in the defeat of the bill.

Descendant of Oliver Cromwell.

DENVER, Jan. 31.—Edward Cromwell died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gertrude C. Sampson, in this city, in his 87th year. Mr. Cromwell's long life was largely devoted to philanthropic and patriotic work. He was born in New York City June 1, 1821, and was a member of one of the old American families, and the oldest direct descendant of Oliver Cromwell.

Mr. Cromwell was for a long time a conspicuous figure in the business world, owning the largest flour mill in the United States. He was a charter member of the New York Produce Exchange, and served as its secretary and treasurer for 10 years. He was an active member of the famous New York volunteer fire department. In 1860 the Union League Club was organized at his home.

As a member of the United States Indian Commission, he was instrumental in saving Indian Territory and Oklahoma to the Union, having personally drawn up the petition which was presented to Congress against the passage of a bill ratifying the contract deeding away the land.

During the draft riots in 1863 in New York City, Mr. Cromwell organized troops, enrolling many names among the members of the Produce Exchange. These men drilled daily and fought to protect the colored men on the streets of New York City. Mr. Cromwell helped to organize and send the first colored regiment from New York.

Terror Reigns in Tabriz.

ODESSA, Jan. 31.—A dispatch has been received from Julfa on the Russo-Persian frontier saying that the situation at Tabriz is extremely critical.

The revolutionists are in possession of the town and their numbers are constantly increasing. Bands of insurgents march through the streets of Tabriz, looting and terrorizing the people. The government has no control of the situation. The European residents have barricaded themselves in their houses and have appealed to the Russian Consul for Cossacks. The Viceroy of the Caucasus has order Russian troops to Julfa to be ready in an emergency.

Translated Oregon Cipher.

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—A. W. Shaw, secretary of the Hospital Superintendents' Association of America, died here today. In 1877 Mr. Shaw became known as the man who found the key and translated the cipher dispatches sent out from Oregon bearing on the political situation in that state during the Hayes-Tilden battle for the Presidency. Both Mr. Shaw and his business partner were called before the Senate committee on privileges and elections to testify in regard to the cipher dispatches.

BRAVE MESSAGE SAYS W. J. BRYAN

Commoner Praises Roosevelt's Stand and Declares It Shows Moral Courage.

BLOW AT NATIONAL EVIL

Nebraskan Calls on Democrats in Congress to Demand Legislation Along Lines Suggested by the President.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 31.—William J. Bryan tonight issued a statement bearing on the President's message, sent to Congress today. In prefacing the statement he said he recognized the moral courage of Roosevelt in fighting against the opposition he has to contend with. Referring to the Wall street methods, the speaker said it would be a safe bet that after the President's message of today the financiers would see that they could place no dependence on Roosevelt as a friend of the "system." His statement on the President's message follows:

Message Needed Badly.

"It is a brave message and needed at this time. All friends of reform have reason to rejoice that the President has used his high position to call attention to the wrongs that need to be remedied. He has discovered the running sore in our National life. He has pointed out the corrupting influences that flow from predatory wealth and from the monopolistic enterprises which have given unearned riches to the few who, by controlling the great industries of the Nation, have levied tribute upon the whole country.

"Its warnings are entirely in harmony with the warnings which Democrats have been issuing for more than a decade, and I hope that the Democrats in the Senate and the House will promptly challenge the issues that have been presented by the President.

Democrats Should Act.

"There ought to be enough Roosevelt members to join with the Democrats and insure some remedial legislation at this session. If there be none, the public ought to know it, so that when the next Republican National convention indorses the present administration the hypocrisy of the party will be understood.

"The President has discussed the relative spheres of the state and Nation. I hope that in the measure that may be introduced in response to this appeal there will be no attempt to take from the states any power that they now have. The Democrats are in favor of the fullest employment of the power vested in states, they want National remedies added to the state remedies and not substituted for them. If the President's Republican friends will join with the Democrats in devising legislation which will be effective and yet within the recognized constitutional power of Congress, great good may be accomplished before Congress adjourns.

Issues Call to Arms.

"The President has issued a call to arms. Now let the battle begin, and we shall soon be able to pick out the purchased newspapers and the purchased legislators described by the President, but not specifically named."

Mr. Bryan reached Wilmington early this afternoon as the guest of the Modern Woodmen of America. Tonight he delivered an address at a meeting in the Opera House and took occasion to pay a tribute to President Roosevelt for the work he is doing. He called upon Democrats to be loyal to Roosevelt in his efforts to bring about reform.

NORTHWEST BREVITIES.

Colville, Wash.—The first annual meeting of all the school directors of Stevens County was the occasion of a spirited discussion of the "barefoot school bill," and the decision to make its repeal an issue in the next campaign.

Albany, Or.—Trials of the pending cases for violation of the local option liquor law will be resumed next Tuesday. The first case to be taken up will be against Fred Dawson, a local druggist, and it will be followed by the trial of D. C. Holt, a druggist of Harrisburg.

Albany, Or.—The total rainfall recorded at this city in January was 3.02 inches, an unusually light record. The average is between five and six inches. The coldest temperature during the month was Friday morning when the thermometer registered 25 degrees above zero. The highest temperature during the month was 54 degrees.

Butte, Mont.—John Sullivan, an escaped convict from Joliet, Ill., was arrested here Friday.

Religious Editor Vindicated.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, was vindicated tonight by the committee composed of nine clergymen of the New York East Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church who, for two days, had considered charges by Rev. George Crook, of Brandon, Vermont. It was said that the charges of disloyalty to the church were based on his refusal to publish in the Christian Advocate certain articles of criticism of the church and some of its officers, said to have been prepared by Dr. Crook.

Detailed to Battleships.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Captain Cameron Winslow and Captain Samuel W. Diehl today received orders detailing them to duty in connection with the battleships New Hampshire and Idaho respectively, which they are to command as soon as they are commissioned.

Drowns From California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Fred Heiligmann, an ordinary seaman on the cruiser California, was drowned today in full view of the whole ship's company. The California is lying at anchor in the Vallejo Straits and a strong ebb tide was runing when Heiligmann fell overboard.

Both Houses Pass Resolution.

CARSON, Nev., Jan. 31.—At the afternoon session of the Legislature the resolution asking for the President to retain troops in Goldfield until May 1, was amended to read April 1, and passed both Houses.

Appoints New Receiver.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Judge Grosscup, of the United States Circuit Court, today appointed A. H. Hughan, a banker of this city, receiver of the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railroad properties.

Refuses Shipments of Liquor.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 31.—The Louisville & Nashville Railroad will no longer receive shipments of liquor into Georgia or Alabama, which have recently passed prohibition acts.

HEYBURN TURNS LOOSE ON A MAGAZINE SOLICITOR.

Determination of Idaho Man Shown by Present Efforts to Enact Bill Codifying the Laws.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 26—A short time ago a weekly—as well as weakly—magazine of the muck-rake type, published in Washington, devoted a paragraph to Senator Heyburn, in which it handled him rather roughly. The story is one that was circulated in Idaho some time ago, and placed the Senator in a very unpleasant light.

Soon after the paragraph appeared, a solicitor for this magazine, who evidently has discernment enough to not read its columns, called on Senator Heyburn, all unaware of the attack, and urged him to furnish a photograph and sketch for publication at some future date—price $50, or thereabouts. The scene that followed can readily be pictured by those who know the slight grasp that Senator Heyburn has on his temper. It would not be proper to print what he said, but the solicitor lost no time in grabbing his hat and making a run for the door.

There is one thing about Senator Heyburn that aids him in his Legislative career. He has an unusual amount of dogged determination, and once he takes up a fight he will not let go until the fight is closed, and closed decisively. He doesn't always win, but he always has the satisfaction of knowing that he gave the other side a hard run. It was this determination on the part of Senator Heyburn, as chairman of the committee on manufactures, which finally put the pure-food bill through the Senate and on the statute books.

Now the Senator is engaged in an even less interesting fight to put through a bill to revise and codify the laws. Last session the Idaho Senator was made chairman of a special committee to take up this work, and all through the recess, and up to the beginning of the present year the Senator devoted himself to the thankless task. He now has the bill before the Senate as unfinished business. Few Senators are interested, and when the bill is called up day after day, there is a general exodus from the chamber.

Nevertheless, Senator Heyburn goes ahead, pressing the bill section by section, meeting whatever objection is made, and pushing the legislation along towards passage. It may require many weeks, but Senator Heyburn will stick to it to the end. And when it is through he won't get much credit, for very few people are interested, and the public at large will never know anything about the fight and its consequences.

Explosive Quality of Dust.

Youth's Companion.

It has long been recognized that various forms of dust, when mingled with air in certain proportions, are capable of producing destructive explosions when brought into contact with flame. This danger sometimes exists in flour-mills. A historic instance is the explosion of three flour mills at Minneapolis in 1878. It was then demonstrated, by experiment that two ounces of flour in two cubic feet of confined air, when ignited, would cause a violent explosion, and it was calculated that the contents of a flour-sack distributed through 400 cubic feet of air would cause an explosion capable of throwing a weight of 2500 tons to a height of 100 feet. Recently S. F. Peckham has shown that any dust that will burn may cause an explosion. An instance is known where sugar dust in a confectionery factory caused an explosion, and in another case dry soap dust proved equaly dangerous.

Fernie, B. C.—It is expected the strike at the Coal Creek mine of the Crows Nest Pass Coal Company will not last many more days and will not spread to other mines. The question at issue will come before an arbitration board February 10.

Goldfield, Nev.—The state and county brought suit Friday against the Goldfield-Mohawk Mining Company and the Combination Mines Company et al., for $54,300, claimed to be overdue as bullion taxes.
