SET FREE FROM DISSOLUTE EARL

Countess of Yarmouth Given Divorce by the English Court.

EVIDENCE IS KEPT SECRET

Married Only in Name, It Proves, They Separate by Mutual Consent—No Talk of Money Settlement.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Sir Birrell Barnes, president of the divorce court, today granted the Countess of Yarmouth, who was Miss Alice Thaw, of Pittsburg, a decree nullifying her marriage to the Earl of Yarmouth.

At the time fixed for the commencement of the proceedings, every one not actually engaged on the case was excluded from the courtroom. The case was practically undefended, and the hearing lasted for only half an hour. The Countess, attired in a fashionable black gown, was present, but the Earl of Yarmouth was not in court.

The papers in the case are being kept secret, and all information regarding the nature of the charges has been carefully withheld. The statement was made, however, that the character of the medical evidence to be given made a public hearing inadvisable.

Marriage Never Consummated.

Only four witnesses were examined. They were the Countess of Yarmouth herself, her maid, a doctor appointed by the court and an American lawyer who proved the marriage. The Countess gave evidence in support of her allegation that the marriage had never been consummated and the maid testified that the Earl and Countess had not been living as man and wife. According to the evidence of the doctor, the Earl of Yarmouth was capable of consummating the marriage, but counsel for the plaintiff contended that this did not affect the allegation that the marriage had not been consummated, and he pointed out to the judge that it was within the discretion of the court to annul the marriage, if it were proved that it had not been consummated.

No Stigma on Yarmouth.

The Earl of Yarmouth did not defend the case, his lawyer satisfying himself with pointing out that the evidence of the doctor removed any stigma placed on the Earl by the evidence of the plaintiff and there was no ground on which the Countess could have sued for divorce.

The judge pronounced his decree annulling the marriage without comment. In the ordinary course of events, it will be made absolute in six months.

No mention was made of a marriage settlement, and it was learned from an authoritative source that, contrary to certain published statements, the question of revising the settlement has not been discussed by the principals or their solicitors and that it is not likely to be discussed.

No Contest, Therefore Short.

The brevity of the proceedings came as a surprise to everybody except those engaged in the case. That the hearing should be short was arranged when the application was made last week. The fact that counsel of the Earl of Yarmouth decided not to contest the action of the Countess made this possible. This change from the previous intention to contest the case is said to have been influenced by the evidence given recently in New York at the trial of Harry K. Thaw, brother of the Countess, for the murder of Stanford White, with regard to insanity in the Thaw family, as well as the verdict of the jury that Harry Thaw was insane when he committed the crime.

Brings Shame to Hereford Family.

It has been well known for two years past that the domestic affairs of the Yarmouths were unhappy. The Earl's companions and his manner of living, it was said, were such that he could not give his wife the place in society which she had a right to expect. She supplied large sums of money to defray her husband's extravagances, and her friends say that she has conducted herself with dignity throughout the troubles resulting from the unhappy union and the difficulties of her brother, Harry K. Thaw. The fact that the Countess has decided definitely to seek an annulment of her marriage was made known here January 3, when she applied to the divorce court for a decree.

The Hereford family, the head of which is the Marquis of Hereford, whose heir the Earl of Yarmouth is, is one of the oldest and proudest of the British nobility. The Marchioness of Hereford has stood by her daughter-in-law throughout her troubles, and exerted herself to reconcile the couple, but in vain. The family of the Earl is much distressed at the notoriety brought upon it as a result of the action taken by the Countess.

Since her marriage, the Countess has made her home in England.

WILL ANSWER IN WRITING

FULTON DECIDES TO DEFER RETURN TO OREGON.

Will Send Written Reply to Heney's Charges and Make Speeches Later in Campaign.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 5.—Senator Fulton has decided, in compliance with the urgent advice of many friends in Oregon, not to return home immediately to answer F. J. Heney's attacks on him, but to make a written statement, which he will send to the newspapers of Oregon. He said this morning:

"Since announcing my intention of returning to Oregon, I have received a great number of telegrams from business men, urging me to continue at my post of duty, and I have concluded for the present to remain here. My own judgment and inclination were to go to Oregon and make a speech, and perhaps several, in answer to Mr. Heney's attack, but I am assured by so many citizens of Oregon that my duty is to remain here at work that I concluded to be guided by their judgment. I shall as soon as I can get some necessary data prepared and forward to the press of Oregon a written statement refuting the charges, and later, before the primary election, will probably arrange to spend some days in and deliver some speeches in Oregon."

ALL BILLS MAY BE LOST

Too Many Subtreasury Measures Before Congress.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 5.—The multiplicity of subtreasury bills introduced in Congress may prove the undoing of them all. Bills are pending providing for the establishment of subtreasuries at Portland, Or., Seattle, Wash., and Salt Lake City, Utah, not to mention one for Jacksonville, Fla., and several others affecting different sections of the country.

It is not likely that Congress, in face of the impending currency discussion, and at a time when every effort is being made to hold down appropriations, would enter upon the establishment of a series of subtreasuries. If there was but a single bill pending, or a couple of bills, something might be accomplished, but each of the interested cities will make a fight for recognition, and the probabilities are that this scramble will defeat all the subtreasury bills.

FAVORS NOTE ISSUE

Bryan Would Give Power to Government.

REMEDY FOR EMERGENCIES

Declares Control Should Be Kept From Banks, and That Special Currency Should Bear Interest to Insure Retirement.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—W. J. Bryan spoke on currency needs at the dinner of the Economic Club tonight, which was attended by over 700 diners, including many New York bankers, who listened to the speaker with careful attention. Mr. Bryan declared that there was no need to extend the note issue of the banks as an emergency currency. Mr. Bryan said:

If I were discussing the Aldrich bill I would criticise a number of its provisions and if I were discussing the Fowler bill I would dissent from its provisions, but the point I desire to make is this: that we do not need to extend the note issue of the banks. The Government can meet the needs simply and quickly and I believe provision should be made for the issue by the Government of the United States of notes like our greenbacks in form and redemption, and that these United States notes should be loaned by the Government upon sufficient security and at a rate of interest which will compel retirement of the notes when the emergency is over.

I am opposed to any increase in the banks' control over the currency of the nation. If those who desire an elastic currency are willing to have the elasticity controlled by the Government and the notes issued by the Government there will be no difficulty in agreeing about security. Let the right of the Government to issue be granted and then we can easily agree upon security and it might be well to combine several of the suggestions that have been made.

BRYAN HOPES FOR VICTORY

Declares Democrats Are United and Republicans Divided.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—William J. Bryan's stay in New York today was a strenuous one. After a morning interview with the newspaper men he hurried to Brooklyn, where he was tendered a reception by Bird S. Coler, president of the borough, and made a speech, in which he declared that the Democratic party presented a united front and was now in position to fight the undivided enemy. He said:

"I am glad to find that we have a united Democratic party. I have suffered as much as any one from the results of a divided party and I am gratified that we are now presenting a united front. I hope for a Democratic victory this Fall. The Democratic party has taken an advanced ground and has vindicated our position. Some of our ideas have been indorsed by President Roosevelt. I emphasize the word some. In some things the President is right. Nevertheless, I do not intend to let him push me off the Democratic platform.

"We are now in a position to fight the divided enemy, for the Republican party is divided and it will take that party some time to settle the questions which have divided it. While they are doing so we can carry on the Government in their stead. I have no doubt of the ultimate triumph of Democratic ideas. The time is coming when the cup of the Democratic party will be overflowing with joy."

Mr. Bryan made a long trip to Harlem, where he addressed a meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew Association. Tonight he was the principal guest and speaker at the dinner of the Economic Club at the Hotel Astor. His itinerary tomorrow includes a meeting and a reception in Jersey City, after which he will speak in Passaic. He will speak in Newark at night.

Six hundred auditors gave Mr. Bryan an enthusiastic welcome at the meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, where he lauded the racial achievements of the Hebrews. Speaking of the Hebrews, Mr. Bryan said:

"I am not complimenting you when I say that history affords us no higher type of men than the Hebrews, both for their influence upon human destiny and upon the thought of the world. Go where you will, you will find that the Hebrew has won the highest distinction in all that concerns business in every great enterprise. In the business of banking he is prominent above every other race. I think there is less of pauperism, less of crime among Hebrews. I think it can be said deservedly of that race you represent, that in the highest walks, intellectual and political, your people have proven their capacity."

SQUADRON TO ESQUIMALT

BRITAIN WILL SEND ELEVEN CRUISERS TO PACIFIC COAST.

Large Increase in the Naval Force Marks Decided Change of Policy in London.

HALIFAX, Feb. 5.—Advices have been received here to the effect that the British North Pacific squadron is to be increased and at some time this year, probably in May, the fourth cruiser squadron will proceed to the Pacific, presumably bound for the British naval base at Esquimalt.

The fourth cruiser squadron consists of the cruisers Cressy, Euryalus, Hogue, Brilliant and Indefatigable, and six cruisers of the county class. The fortress at Esquimalt is now garrisoned by Dominion troops, as is that in Halifax.

The plan to send the vessels to the Pacific is explained by local naval officers as being a step in the direction of reviving the British Pacific squadron, which was abolished four years ago, when Sir John Fisher became First Lord of the Admiralty, and a policy of contraction was adopted. The North Atlantic squadron was withdrawn from Halifax at the same time and became a part of the home fleet in the British Channel.

When the Pacific squadron was cancelled, the best ships were attached to the large China fleet at Hongkong, the others being recalled to England. Later two ships detached from the China fleet were sent to Esquimalt, and at present they are the only British vessels in those waters. They are the Algerine and the Shearwater, light armored cruisers.

Two of the ships of the British cruiser squadron detailed for the Pacific trip—the Indefatigable and the Brilliant—have been on the West Indian station. The other three—the Cressy, Euryalus and Hogue—have never been in North American waters. All five ships have recently been overhauled and recommissioned. They each carry two 9-inch guns and 12 6-inch guns, besides subsidiary armaments.

Esquimalt is the British naval base on the Pacific Coast, strongly fortified and supplied with arsenal, drydocks and dockyards. It possesses a fine harbor at the southern end of Vancouver Island, and commands the approach to Puget Sound.

The British naval organ here, in a fervid editorial on the plan, says the government and admiralty are to be congratulated on their decision.

WILL GO TO JURY TODAY

Suit Against Standard Oil for $5000 Damages Near End.

The suit against the Standard Oil Company to recover $5000 damages for the death of Victoria Beatrice Peterson at Troutdale, brought by Ernest Peterson, the administrator, will probably go to the jury in Judge Bronaugh's department of the Circuit Court today. The 15-year-old girl met her death by burning on March 19, 1906, having started to light a fire with the aid of what she supposed was kerosene, but what is alleged to have been distillate.

George C. Flanders, when placed upon the witness stand by the defense yesterday, and questioned by the attorney for the plaintiff, positively denied that Milton Fox, the grocer at Troutdale, had ever made a complaint to him in regard to distillate being shipped to Troutdale under the label of 120 degree fire test kerosene. He was then handed a letter written to Fox over Flanders' signature, which admitted that distillate had been so shipped, but excused it by saying there was a mistake in tagging the drum in which it was shipped. Flanders said that was his signature, and when asked how he harmonized the letter with his statement, said, "Oh, I sign hundreds of letters of which I do not know the contents."

ALL IN EXCEPT VERDICT

CLOSING ARGUMENTS IN STOESSEL COURT-MARTIAL.

One Lawyer Pictures General as a Coward, Other as Hero—Judgment Will Come Today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 5.—The court-martial of Lieutenant-General Stoessel is not yet finished. Today Deputy Smyrtlanoff, counsel for the defense, made an eloquent plea for the acquittal of Port Arthur's commander, picturing the heroic resistance offered by the defenders of the fort under the most trying conditions and declaring that not until it was inevitable did the fortress fall.

"General Stoessel is an old and invalid soldier," he said, in closing, "and he faces his judges today asking only for justice."

In his summing up yesterday, General Gursky, the Judge Advocate, demanded that the court impose the death sentence upon Stoessel, Fock and Reiss; upon Stoessel as the responsible agent for the shameful surrender of the fortress and the cowardly ending of its glorious defense, and upon Fock and Reiss as the men who inspired and abetted him.

Final judgment in the case will probably be given tomorrow.

CUPID ATTACKS CHOIR

Seven Alto Singers Marry in Two Years in Albany Church.

ALBANY, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—To sing alto in the choir of the United Presbyterian church in this city is evidently to invite matrimony. In less than two years six young women who were alto singers in this choir have been wedded, and the marriage of Belle Ward to David Froman, Jr., at Halsey this afternoon makes the seventh of this series of coincidences. Although the United Presbyterian church has a chorus choir Cupid has kept it almost devoid of alto singers.

Suit Thrown Out of Court.

The suit of the Columbia River Door Company against W. T. McIntire was thrown out of court yesterday, when Judge O'Day sustained the defendant's objection to all the testimony of the Columbia Company on the ground that it did not show facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. The suit was being tried in the Circuit Court to recover $500 alleged to be due on a number of sticks sold to McIntire. There was no proof, however, that the Columbia Company has ever attempted to collect the money. Upon the defendant's objection being sustained, the plaintiff took a voluntary nonsuit.

This is the day of the gentle in medicine. Cascarets have supplanted physics. They act in a natural way, not with harshness.

Most of our dull days are due to inactive bowels.

Nearly all of our minor ills could be avoided by a little candy Cascaret.

Also, half of our greater ills.

Isn't it foolish to suffer, when there is such a pleasant way to avoid it?

Cascarets save the hours.

They save the time that we waste if we are not at our best. They bring good cheer. For the blues and ill temper rarely occur when the bowels are properly helped.

They make the breath sweet, the complexion clear, the eyes bright.

All this for ten cents per week.

In the old days, people let matters run until they needed a large dose of physic.

Then they took something severe—like castor oil, salts or cathartics.

That meant abuse to the bowels.

These are the days of the gentle and natural—the days of Cascarets. Carry a box always with you. For the right way to take them is one at a time—just as soon as you need it.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure you get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50c, 25c and
