

BISHOP SCANDLING ONCE MORE

Says Possibilities of Success of Anglo-Roman Merger Plan-Are Small.

NO SUCH TENDENCY HERE

Episcopal Church in America Has Never Professed Anything Else but Catholic Faith, Declares the Bishop of Oregon.

With Father James Paul Francis at the head of the movement, a society known as the Anglo-Roman Union is holding sessions in New York, with a view of uniting the Roman Catholic and Protestant Episcopal churches. The World newspaper, of that city, yesterday sent a telegram to Bishop Scandling, of the Episcopal Church in Oregon, asking for his views on the proposed union. The telegram reads as follows:

New York, Feb. 12, 1906. Bishop Charles Scandling, Portland, Ore.: The Anglo-Roman Union, a society seeking to unite Protestant Episcopal and Roman Catholic churches, organized here this week. Various well known Episcopal clergymen participated; recognition of the primacy of Rome advocated. Father James Paul Francis, general of Protestant Episcopal Order of Atone-ment at the head. We respectfully urge you to telegraph your views on the proposed union of the two churches. We make this inquiry purely in the spirit of disclosing the prospects for the ultimate success of the plan. Bishop Scandling sent the following reply:

The Editor of the New York World: The possibilities of success of the Anglo-Roman Union plan are infinitesimally small. There is no movement that way in this diocese. There is not a churchman from New York to Portland who will deny the Catholicity of our church, though he may prefer the label "Protestant Episcopal." Our church in America is Catholic and has never professed anything else but the Catholic faith.

The head of our church, its settled liturgy, its decent and reverent forms, its tons of practical reality, these are being felt more and more and are winning thoughtful and devout people. The country is overwhelmed by a Catholic and Protestant of the strange names and theories. Amid the madness of these waves our Episcopal church holds its anchored position. It is to be a witness for God and truth. The immediate duty of members of the Episcopal Church is by their sincerity, loyalty and devotion to contribute to the growth of which we are in possession.

The type of Catholic Christianity which is ingrained in the Latin and Greek world will never be, or fitted, with this other world of another race to which we belong. The small section among us who are upon the verge of a Roman type of devotion will remain a Latinized minority. We take our stand upon our book of common prayer which is Catholic and in English. To live and be wrong the Episcopal Church must bring out her own principles with clarity to all. Our banner must be ordered "Anglican." Treat with Apostolic Order—The Gospel in the Church, and without faltering steps let her remain true to her ancient traditions. CHARLES SCANDLING, Bishop of Oregon.

WALTON EXPECTS FREEDOM SAYS FIRST CONVICTION WAS ILLEGAL

Alleged Highwayman Confident That Second Trial Will Result in Acquittal—No New Evidence.

Charles W. Walton, who is held in the County Jail pending a second trial on a charge of shooting Policeman Ole Nelson in holding up a Willamette Heights car, more than three years ago, professes to believe that he will be acquitted when he again faces a jury.

"If you railroaded through when I was tried three years ago," he said yesterday, "and it was for that reason that I was never given a chance to plead, they were recalling some evidence after so long a time" he was asked.

"Perhaps so, but I believe all my witnesses are still living here. Of course, their memory may not serve them in recalling some evidence that occurred that night, but I know I shall tell just the same story that I did when I was taken before the jury before. That's all I can do."

"I was in the Penitentiary for more than three years, and I was held for several months awaiting trial before I went there, but in case I am again convicted that time will not count."

"I think I shall have a jury this time which will try me impartially. I had a hard time in securing a jury at my first trial; the newspapers did not give me a fair deal. Facts were misrepresented and statements twisted. The jury had formed an opinion in regard to the case before it came to trial."

"The first trial was held before Judge Cleland, but the demurrer in the case was argued before Judge Pease. That was how the plea came to be overlooked. They were so anxious to get me convicted that they set the case for hearing then and there, without giving me a chance to plead. I was sent up for five years on the assault charge and for 30 years on the charge of holding up the car."

"You see, I still have the scar where I was knocked down and run over on the car," said Walton, pointing to a white mark on his forehead. "I hope this trial will be over quickly."

Walton has not yet been arraigned, and the date of his trial has not been set.

POLICE JUDGE MANDAMUSED Herman G. Burkhardt Demands That Court Impose Sentence.

A writ of mandamus to compel him to pronounce sentence at once upon Herman G. Burkhardt or appear in the Circuit Court before Presiding Judge Cleland on February 17 at 2 P. M., and show cause why he has not done so, has been issued against Judge George J. Cameron, of the Municipal Court, by Judge Cleland. The writ was filed with the County Clerk yesterday.

this he done, but on February 3 Judge Cameron overruled the motion and refused to pronounce judgment.

E. B. HENDERSON FACES A JURY

Alleged Burglar on Trial for Robbing Frohman Art Store.

E. B. Henderson is on trial before a jury in Judge Gantenbein's department of the Circuit Court, charged with stealing $1250 worth of jewelry and art goods from a gold nugget to Louis Cohen, of the Cascade Hotel. The stolen goods belonged to Mrs. H. Frohman. Henderson is said to have sold 23 atkins, a cigar case and a gold nugget to Louis Cohen, a news agent on the Southern Pacific, for $45, soon after the burglary.

An attempt was made yesterday by the defense to get the defendant to testify on the crime upon Cohen, in whose possession the goods were found. Cohen said he bought the goods as a business proposition from Henderson in the latter's room at the Cascade Hotel. He said he did not know then that the goods were stolen.

Yuka A. Kiyoma, a Japanese clerk employed at the store, identified the stolen property. The trial will be continued this morning.

Marquam Case Up Again. Presiding Judge Cleland of the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon listened to the arguments of the attorneys in regard to the application of P. A. Marquam for a commission to take certain depositions, and took the matter under advisement. Mr. Marquam seeks to secure the depositions of the officials and former officials of the "Title Guarantee & Trust Company," under advisement.

Ross, T. T. Burkhardt, George H. Hill, E. C. Mears, W. M. Ladd, E. B. Senbrook, W. A. Mumby and W. M. Gregory, to be used in the trial of a suit to enforce the sale of the Marquam building under a mortgage foreclosure. The attorneys for the defense allege that there is no need for taking the depositions. The parties connected with the suit are without reach of the court, should the case be brought before it again.
