HONOR TO LINCOLN

Political Clubs Give Banquet in Commemoration of Martyr's Birthday.

JUDGE LOWELL IS ORATOR

Pendleton Man Talks on "The Humanity of Lincoln"—Reference to Hughes of New York
Evokes Great Applause.

Judge Stephen A. Lowell, of Pendleton, was the principal speaker at a banquet at the Club last night, given to commemorate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. Reference to Governor Hughes of New York, by Judge Lowell in his address on "The Humanity of Lincoln," was greeted with thunderous and prolonged applause, far surpassing that which followed the mention of Roosevelt or Taft by the preceding speakers. This incident was a feature of the banquet. The banquet was given under the joint auspices of the Union Republican Club and the Republican Club, both of this city, and was attended by 150 of the prominent Republicans of Portland and the state. The Hughes address was followed by the suggestion by Judge Lowell of the availability of New York's Governor as the man required to succeed President Roosevelt. Thereafter, the speaker commended the vigorous policies of President Roosevelt, which, he said, stand for political decency and commercial honesty and reflect the sentiments of the average American citizen. The successor to President Roosevelt, declared the speaker, must be a man who will stand on the eternal principles of equal rights, conscience, hope and faith in the average man and for which Lincoln stood.

Lincoln Was the Greatest.

Judge Lowell introduced his remarks by referring to Lincoln as the mightiest yet representing the possibilities of American manhood. He said in part:

The lust of Lincoln's fame comes not from avarice. His occupancy of the Presidential chair, as a crucial chapter in the Nation's history, his emancipation proclamation, his martyrdom, and the impelling of the Presidents could be accorded all these and still leave the name of Lincoln's stature in the public heart today. It is the supreme humanity of the man, his lowly origin, his self-education, his personal honesty, his absolute justice, his kindness of heart, his unwavering loyalty to duty and faith in the common people, his reliance upon them, his loyal Americanism, which, added to the tragic drama of his public career, makes his memory dear, places him upon a white pedestal as the model for America's youth and will make the name of Lincoln immortal.

The average man possesses all these qualities in greater or less degree, and he can appreciate them in Lincoln. We all regard him as one of our Washingtons, an aristocrat, a politician, a literary genius, a statesman, a financial prodigy, an entrancing orator, a brilliant strategist. These men are beyond us; they were specialists; but Lincoln was not, and he accomplished the things that we do in everyday life. He typifies a government of the people and the people.

As Lincoln was honest and faithful to duty, so he was true to the principles of the Nation. The dishonesty in public life, the spectacle of crushed industries and broken laws, the rampant greed, the business industry, which was rampant during the last years of the century, when the Nation was wandering in a wilderness, the mammon, served to keep his memory green, as in the night, he was a reminder of the average man, helpless, silent, prayed for another Lincoln—a recurrence of the reign of righteousness.

Moral Pulse Beats True.

The moral pulse of the people has always been true. Never, yet, has the majority been upon the wrong side of any moral problem when it has presented for their solution. The Nation's present chief Executive, in his mighty battle for political decency and honesty, reflects only the sentiment of the great mass of the people as it has always existed. They would at any time have gladly followed the lead of a courageous President along those lines as they are now following him. The masses never failed Lincoln in his life. They will never forget to honor him in his death. Undone by the child of the people, the average man great because his opportunities were great, his life dignified, his equality of justice and the supremacy of right, is the great commoner of our age and race.

Can Stand Criticism.

"I yield to no one in my regard and admiration for Lincoln, but I think we pay him a poor compliment when we give him only adulation. He was too great a man for fulsome praise. He can stand criticism. He was the greatest politician, in my opinion, who ever lived, in the sense that he formulated a great policy and carried it to a successful conclusion. He was not a technical methodist, but a statesman, after all, is only a method of carrying out political policy."

Willie S. Dunaway, State Printer, was assigned the toast "The Young Man in Politics." He urged the young men having political aspirations to have an ideal which it should be his ambition to reach, actuated always by worthy motives. Lincoln was lauded as the ideal, the speaker considering that the assassin President was the highest type of man the Western world has known.

"At all times," said Mr. Dunaway, "whether a rail-splitter, legislator, advocate, member of Congress or President, Lincoln was the same—the manly, manly character whose unwavering integrity made him the man he was."

In discussing the "New Emancipation," D. Sells Cohen said the people, who demanded emancipation, not from the slavery that Lincoln had abolished, but from the emancipation of toilers and laborers from yellow peril, four times greater than the yellow peril of Asia, the lust for gold. Mr. Cohen denounced the purchase of foreign titles with American gold when hundreds were dying for bread. He charged that there existed a prevailing disregard for the rights of the laborer and producer, and declared that if the Republican party is to survive, it must divorce itself from all other interests save those of the common people.

"There is a general demand among the people," said he, "that this burden be removed and equal rights and privileges afforded all, and this service must be performed by the Republican party, or it will prove unworthy of the heritage we claim for it tonight."

An eloquent tribute to "The Men of

It was paid by Wallace McCann, who recounted the noble struggles and remarkable achievements of the Army of the West and the Army of the Potomac. It was the sacrifice by these defenders of our country, said he, that made possible the United States of today, the wealthiest and most powerful nation in the world.

CENTRAL SALMON HATCHERY

GROUND IS LEASED ON TANNER CREEK FOR PONDS.

Building and 20 Ponds Will Be Ready for Next Fall—10,000,000 Eggs Can Be Handled.

ASTORIA, Or., Feb. 12.—(Special).—Master Fish Warden Van Dusen received from the O. R. & N. Co. a lease to the property on Tanner Creek, near Bonanza, which the State Fisheries Department desires as a site for the establishment of a large central salmon hatchery, and of a system of retaining ponds, where the small fry can be fed and kept until large enough to protect themselves against their numerous natural enemies before being turned out. The lease was forwarded today to Attorney-General Crawford for examination, so that it can be submitted for approval at the next meeting of the State Board of Fish Commission. The property comprises 12.91 acres, and the lease is for 10 years, with the option of renewal for another 10 years, and the rental is merely $100 per year. The intention is to begin work on the construction of the proposed hatchery building and about 20

PORTLAND SHOWS GAIN IN BUILDING.

In the last tabulated statement of building permits in the principal city of January, compiled by the American Contractor, Chicago, the figures compared with the corresponding month of 1907 show that Los Angeles lost 98 per cent. Salt Lake City 54 and Seattle 39 per cent. while Spokane gained 10 per cent. According to the report of Building Inspector Spencer this city made a gain this January over January of 1907 of nearly 4 per cent, the totals being for last January, $604,475 and January of this year, $623,545.

retaining ponds immediately after the approval of the lease, so that they will be ready for use next fall. Later about 20 additional ponds will be constructed. The hatchery building is to be 106 feet long and 50 feet wide, and will contain troughs for handling about 1,000,000 eggs. The water will be pumped from the other state plants. Just what the dimensions of the retaining ponds will be has not yet been decided, but each will be about 100 feet long, and will accommodate about 100,000 small salmon, making 2,000,000 which can be fed there next season. The water to supply the plant is to be brought in a flume about 2000 feet in length and carrying 2500 gallons per minute, and the retaining ponds will be supplied with its own supply and waste pipes, separate from the others, so that should the fish in one pond become affected with disease, the disease cannot be communicated to the others.

DEATH OF CHARLES ANSON

Local Traffic Manager of Western Union Passes Away.

Charles Anson, local traffic manager for the Western Union Telegraph Company, died at midnight Tuesday in St. Vincent's Hospital from apoplexy. Mr. Anson was suddenly stricken in his office at the telegraph company at 7:30 o'clock and remained unconscious until his death.

Mr. Anson was 39 years old and, until his death, had always been in the best of health and spirits. He is survived by a widow, who is the daughter of Mrs. W. H. Legies, and one little daughter. There is a brother also, Franklin Robert Anson, who lives in New York City.

The deceased was a member of Multnomah Camp, No. 77, of the Woodmen of the World. He had lived in Portland for the past 12 years, having come here in 1885, when he began work for the Western Union as an operator. He quickly rose to the position of night chief and has always held important positions with the company since that time. He formerly lived in Duluth, Minn., where he was engaged as an electrician. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but probably will be held Friday from the Anson residence.

Name Patrol Sergeants.

City Attorney Kavanaugh has decided that the City Council has no authority to create the rank of police sergeant, and has advised that the Executive Board appoint officers as detectives, who may, he holds, then be designated to act as patrol sergeants. This will be done at once, it is said. The pay of the position will thus be made $115 a month, and many policemen are anxious for appointments. Five names will be named, according to present plans.

The charming American actress, Miss Grace George, will begin an engagement of three nights at the Heilig Theater, Fourteenth and Washington streets, at 8:15 o'clock. This celebrated star will present Sardou's brilliant comedy, "Divorcees." This is the same play in which this young actress captured both New York and London and this is one of the first cities to be visited by George. She has the advantage of being exceedingly well supported, for in the cast are numbered such well-known players as H. Reeves, William Ricciardi and Douglas Germond. "CHARLEY'S AUNT" AT BAKER Great Farce-Comedy Doing Its Usual Immense Business.

A picture of that famous mascot cat and the comedy "Charley's Aunt" are enough to cause a perfect storm in the direction of the theater where it is being presented, which in this instance happens to be the Baker, where nearly all the good things occur. "Charley's Aunt" is packing this popular theater to the doors at every performance this week and it never fails to get its 425 laughs, and often more.

"As Told in the Hills."

Children will be interested in the big Teddy Bear machine, which will be given at the Empire Saturday afternoon, when a large, handsome bear will be given the one under 12 years of age nearest to the correct number of persons in the audience. The play this week is also a most interesting one, being a story of a pretty young Indian girl, whose parents were killed while she was yet an infant, and who was reared and educated by white people.

"The Lawyer and the Lady."

There will be a matinee today at the Lerie at which the Allen Stock Company will present "The Lawyer and the Lady," in which it has scored a wonderful success. There has never been a more enjoyable offering at the Lerie than this one, and all those who have seen it are enthusiastic. Remember the matinee today.

"In the Bishop's Carriage" Next.

The first Portland stock production of "In the Bishop's Carriage" will be given by the Baker Stock Company all next week, opening Sunday matinee, and the advent of this play, the best and highest-class of all late plays, coupled with the opening of Miss Letitia Jewel's limited engagement as leading woman, makes next week one of more than ordinary interest for every theatergoer in this city.

NONE INJURED BY BOMBS

Americans Escape Anarchist Plot as by Mere Accident.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Feb. 12.—Reports of the explosion at the Santa Rosa mining camp, 18 miles south of here in Sonora, probably have been exaggerated. No one was injured when the two separate charges of dynamite were exploded Saturday evening, wrecking the commissary and part of the boarding-house. That all of the Americans in the camp were not killed or maimed, however, is due to the fact that the explosion occurred at a time when they were grouped some distance away. A half-hour fuse and a heavy charge of dynamite were found later under the house occupied by Foreman Fagan.

The work is believed to be that of Mexican Anarchists such as operated in Sonora. The Mexican government is making special efforts to ascertain the guilty ones and has passed the word along that they must be apprehended. Colonel Kostertitzky and a troop of Rurales and officers from nearby Mexican cities, together with special attorneys, are working on the case. Mexican employes, about 50 in number, are under close surveillance. No arrests have been made. The Santa Rosa mine is owned by the Calumet & Arizona interests.

Gentlemen—I want to add my testimonial to those of your satisfied and benefited patients. About two weeks ago I contracted a very bad cold, which settled on my lungs. My wife went to the drugstore and purchased a bottle of your Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey, and four doses stopped the cough and I had the first good night's sleep in two weeks.
