Cuts Out Wireless Interference. SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 24.—What is known in wireless telegraphy as a "wave tuner," a recent and costly appliance, was installed at the Point Loma station today. It is the only one of its kind on the Pacific Coast. It can be so adjusted as to eliminate interference, and no matter how many stations are operating, the man at the Point Loma station can select any one he pleases and communicate with it without interference. Two operators using the "wave tuner" can receive at the same time messages from widely separated points.
