Myers Did Not Want Son-in-baw to Have Handling of One Cent From the Estate-Hearing Will Be Resumed This Morning.

The Myers will contest was continued at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Judge Webster of the County Court listened all the afternoon to the testimony of witnesses who knew the late Mr. and Mrs. George T. Myers. The most of the testimony went to show the condition of Mrs. Myers before her death and what Mr. Myers said regarding her condition at that time and subsequent to her decease. deerge T. Myers, Jr., one of the heirs, was placed on the stand during the afternoon, and corroborated the testimeny of other witnesses. He identified a number of letters introduced by counsel for Mrs. Frances Stevens, his sister, who is contesting the will. These letters were written, for the most part, during 1972, the year the will was made. The the year the will was made. The largest part of them were addressed to the daughter. Myers testified that his father had written to Senator Mitchell at one time, to inquire what wort of man Dr. Robinson was. Mitchell and Dr. Robinson was.

In another letter, written from Seattle, Myers wanted to have a phone put in at the "Pratt home," Mrs. Myers was stopping, that he might talk to his wife. He says, "I know the doctor will suffer, as he will

Mrs. Francis Testifies.

Mrs. Francis was the first witness called yesterday afternoon. She testi-fied as follows:

"I knew Mr. Myers before he was married. I lived in the family from the time Mrs. Myers married him, or very soon afterward, until just before the birth of George Myers, Jr. I was also in the family between June, 1901, and April 1903. It was downer the last week April, 1903. It was during the last week in June, 1901, that Mrs. Myers became

Were you with Mrs. Myers at the she fainted in the bathroom?"

"Yes, I walked with her to the bath-room the Sunday after the 4th of June, and she fainted. She complained at that time of a pain in her side. Dr. Robin-son always said she had intermittent fever. I heard him say that many times.

"When Mrs. Myers went to Ashland I was in St. Vincent's Hospital. A few days after she came back to Portland I came back from Scattle, where I had gone after she left the city. "The Monday before she died she was taken ill with a chill. Dr. Robinson and Dr. Rockey went into the room together. I suppose they made an examination. Before she died Dr. Rockey came back again several times.

"After his wife died I had a number of conversations with Mr. Myers at his erning the causes leading up to her death. He said, 'I was a coward, or I would have called another doctor.' The only thing I ever heard him say regarding the improper treatment Dr. Robinson had given his wife was that he didn't know what was the matter with Mrs. Myers. He called the doctor an old

Mrs. Prentiss Called.

The witness was excused and Mrs. F. S. R. Prentiss called to the stand. She said she had visited the Myers home a number of times, and was there in June. 1961. She said she was also there from June 10 to the last of October. "I had been down in Southern Oregon and Northern California, and came up at Mr. Myers' request to visit his wife.

"Mrs. Myers was not very well then, was ahe?" asked Judge Pipes.

"No, but she was more distressed men-tally than anything else."

The witness then testified that she saw Dr. Robinson at the Myers home in June. She said that when she first went there Mrs. Myers had a fever almost every day, and that at the time they took Mrs. Myers to Ashland it was almost continuous. Yes, I think she did. I knew she had quinline in the house, and had taken it formerly. After Mrs. Myers had been sick for four or five weeks. Mr. Myers became very much worried because she didn't improve. He asked his wife if she would like to have Dr. Morrow. She did not want to cross Dr. Robinson. However, one day when I was treating her she looked up and said, 'Oh, If I had had Dr. Morrow or Dr. Darr I would have been out of here long ago.' Dr. Robinson made the remark once that If she didn't get better soon he would call in another physician and give up the case."

Under cross-examination Mrs. Prentigs said her name was Kelly when she was at the Myers home. She had married since. She said her home is now in San Francisco. She said Mr. Prentiss is engaged in the observers of the said gaged in the photographic paper business
