OREGON LIFE ELECTION
Insurance Company Chooses Directors and Receives Reports.

The annual meeting of Oregon Life was held at the company's office in the Corbett building yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large. Besides the city members, the outside districts were represented by delegates from Klamath Falls, Wallowa County, The Dalles and other districts. The annual address and report on the company's condition was read by President A. L. Mills and enthusiastically applauded. Everything about Oregon Life was found to be in a most prosperous condition. The showing made in 1907 was regarded as unparalleled. General Manager Samuel came in for a good share of cordial congratulations.

After electing a board of 29 directors and generally discussing plans which will still further increase the usefulness of Oregon Life, adjournment was had to March 23, when the officers to serve for the ensuing year will be selected from the elected directors.

OPENS CAMPAIGN TONIGHT
George S. Shepherd Will Make First Speech at Astoria.

George S. Shepherd, candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket, left last night for Astoria, where he will open his campaign tonight. He will deliver his opening campaign speech at the opera house and will show lantern-slide views of the Columbia River bar and maps showing the improvements; also pictures taken in the Orient and other places while he was a sailor before the mast.

It is Mr. Shepherd's intention to stump the state, and he will, after speaking in Portland, make a tour of Eastern Oregon, going later into the southern counties. The views he will show will give a comprehensive idea of what has been done toward deepening the Columbia River bar and the maps will show the needed improvements.
