NO TRACE OF W. C. TORCH

YAKIMA MAN HAS BEEN MISSING SINCE TUESDAY.

Whole Country Joins in Search. Friends Fear He is Suffering From Dementia—Wife Ill.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., March 5.—(Special.)—Weldon C. Torch, a draughtsman in the United States reclamation service at Sunnyside, this county, disappeared mysteriously after leaving his office for his home Tuesday noon. No trace of him can be found, and search was abandoned this afternoon. Mayor Tiffany, of Sunnyside, and members of the reclamation service there have offered $100 reward.

Torch went to Sunnyside a few days ago to accept the position of draughtsman in the reclamation office at that place. He went to work Monday morning and continued in his usual mood until next day at noon. His failure to appear at the office during the afternoon and at his home at supper-time, recalled the mysterious Niagara incident of last May, in which the community was inflamed almost to the point of bloodshed between the Prohibition and contending factions, the community turbulence being allayed in August by the discovery of Nicolai near Seattle. Posses were organized immediately to search for Torch. No trace of him was found. Mrs. Torch, who accompanied her husband to Sunnyside, is prostrated over the mystery. She will return to her Seattle home tomorrow. Torch is 28 years old, dark, of medium size and possesses a very nervous temperament. It is feared he is suffering from dementia.

IMPORT BURROS FOR MINERS Shipment of Pack Animals Reaches Grants Pass From Texas.

GRANTS PASS, Or., March 5.—(Special.)—Eighty-six burros or jacks for packing miners' supplies into the hills were received here this morning by E. R. Stewart and George Reed. The little animals were shipped from El Paso, Texas, and spent 14 days on the road. They came through in fairly good condition, except in one instance in Arizona, where they were kept for 80 hours without water. The burros are considered a safe and reliable animal, and are exceedingly strong and well designed for pack animals in the brush and through the mountains.

Hoskins, a former employe, who resigned to complete a course in the University of Oregon, will again become the bank's bookkeeper.

HOLD-UP GAME IS CHARGED

NEW YORK OFFICIAL ACCUSED OF BLACKMAIL.

Bank President Declares Nathan Vidaver Demanded $1500 a Month to Quiet Newspaper.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The charge that he agreed to pay $1500 to Nathan Vidaver, an attorney, last November, to bring about a cessation of newspaper attacks upon the Hamilton Bank after Vidaver had said "he had no doubt he could fix it with Jackson to have the attacks stopped," was made by William R. Montgomery, ex-president of the Hamilton Bank, in an affidavit filed in the Police Court today. The affidavit was a part of the complaint against Vidaver, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of extortion preferred by Mr. Montgomery. Montgomery declares in his affidavit that newspaper attacks were stopped instantly upon his agreement to pay $1500 to Vidaver. Up to the time of his arrest yesterday Vidaver was one of State Attorney-General Jackson's special deputies. Montgomery declares in his affidavit that for some time after his agreement to pay the $1500 he was repeatedly called upon by Vidaver and Moses Grossman, another attorney, concerning his neglect to pay the money; that he persisted in his refusal to pay the amount and that soon afterward a letter from Attorney-General Jackson to District Attorney Jerome concerning the Hamilton Bank appeared in the newspapers. Montgomery, in his affidavit, says: "Two or three days before Frank White, the temporary receiver of the Hamilton Bank, issued the preliminary report on the affairs of the bank to the Attorney-General, Grossman and his partner, Vorhaus, met me in the office of Searing & Co., at No. 7 Wall street. I had told Grossman that Searing had advised me not to pay the $1500, and Grossman came over to argue the matter with Searing. Grossman stated to Searing and myself that I had placed him in a very embarrassing position with Vidaver and had placed Vidaver in an embarrassing position with the Attorney-General for my neglect to pay the $1500. Grossman telephoned for Vidaver, and Vidaver came over to Searing's office in a few minutes. Vidaver told me that the Attorney-General's office believed that I was 'four flushing' about the $1500; that they believed I had been giving Vidaver a 'con' and that the people in the Attorney-General's office were pretty hot about it. He said to us that he could not hold them off any longer, and until I put up the money he would not be responsible for what was said about me and the Hamilton Bank in the newspapers."

McMinnville Bonds Sold. McMINNVILLE, Or., March 5.—(Special.)—Of the authorized bond issue for improvement and increase of the municipal water system, $10,000 and not to exceed $23,000 10-year 5 per cent bonds have been sold to Morris Bros., of Portland, at about par. The funds thus obtained will be expended under the supervision of the Water Commission, for the purchase of additional mountain springs, the water from which is to be piped to the reservoir two miles west of town. Work upon this improvement will be begun at once.

PUT BLAME ON HUSTON Capitol Graft Defendants Say He Was Real Conspirator.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 5.—The plea for acquittal of ex-Auditor-General Snyder and ex-State Treasurer Mathews, two of the defendants in the Capitol conspiracy trial, was made today by Lyman D. Gilbert, their counsel, who contended that they had honestly followed honest advice given by ex-Governor Pennypacker. Architect J. M. Huston was characterized as the real conspirator in the contract scandal, but, said Mr. Gilbert, there was no conspiracy to defraud the state except in the imagination of people on the other side of the case.
