

STEVENSON JURY SAYS NOT GUILTY

George S. Raymond Acquitted of Charge of Murder for Killing George Dunn.

CASE IS HARD FOUGHT

Exonerated by Coroner's Jury, Raymond is Prosecuted by Friends of Dead Man—Shooting Followed a Saloon Row.

STEVENSON, Wash., March 6.—(Special.)—George S. Raymond, who killed George Dunn in a saloon row in Home Valley, this morning was acquitted in the Superior Court here of the charge of murder. The trial began Wednesday before Judge McCredie and the case was in the hands of the jury by midnight last night. The jury reached its final verdict at 7 o'clock and reported in court at 9 o'clock, when the prisoner was released and greeted cordially by his friends, Emilia Willard was foreman of the jury.

This criminal case was one of the hardest fought trials ever held in Skamania County. R. M. Wright, prosecuting attorney, was assisted by McMaisters & Black of Vancouver, and Fred W. Whigham of the firm of Menefee & Wilson, of The Dalles, defended the accused man. There were frequent stormy clashes between the attorneys.

Story of the Killing.

George Dunn, who was killed, was a member of the North Bank track-laying crew and it was through the insistence of his friends that Raymond was prosecuted. Much ill feeling had been aroused over the killing, but the final outcome of the trial is generally received with satisfaction.

Raymond owns a saloon at Home Valley. On the night of February 4, members of the track-laying crew were engaged in a dice game in the saloon. A dispute arose over payment for the drinks. One man finally laid down a dollar on the bar. Another removed it. This angered Raymond, and a row followed. According to witnesses, Dunn sought to strike Raymond with a lead bar. At this juncture friends tried to intercede, but Dunn made further threats and picked up a whiskey bottle from the bar. With his arm drawn back, Dunn was on the point of letting fly at Raymond when the latter whipped out a revolver and shot Dunn dead on the spot. The bullet passed clear through the body, close to the heart.

Cleared by Coroner's Jury.

A jury impaneled by Dr. T. C. Avery, coroner, returned a verdict next day of justifiable homicide, and exonerating Raymond. Friends of the dead man were displeased, and authorized the swearing out of a warrant charging Raymond with murder. Raymond was in The Dalles, but hearing of the charge against him, came to Stevenson and surrendered to Sheriff James Haffey. Bail was not allowed, and Raymond languished in the county jail until released by the verdict of the jury this morning.

Twelve or 15 witnesses were examined at the trial. Raymond based his case on the plea of self defense. Dunn was a British subject, a former member of the English Navy. His real name is believed to have been George Smith. He was 23 years old.

George Bourhill to Contest With Bowerman for Senator.

The outcome was that George Bourhill, of Grass Valley, made his announcement to run for Senator for the three counties. The Bowerman men are jubilant over the choice, as they claim Bourhill cannot carry his own precinct and is not popular in his own county. They also claim he cannot poll one-tenth of the votes in Wheeler and Gilliam counties. The race for District Attorney lies between J. A. Collier, D. R. Parker and J. B. Burdett, with J. A. Collier a favorite.

BIBLE SCHOOL IN SUMMER

Albany College Plans New Feature for Vacation Work.

ALBANY, Or., March 6.—(Special.)—A Summer Bible school, with a new feature in religious work in Oregon, will be held in Albany this summer and, according to present plans, will be attended by many people from Albany and other Willamette Valley cities. Plans for the school are being arranged under the supervision of Albany College, which is being assisted in the enterprise by a committee of 20 members of local churches, including almost all of the ministers of the city. The school will be held for ten days, from July 17 to July 27. It is now planned to devote the mornings to Bible study, the afternoon sessions to the various problems of religious work and all church work, and the evenings to mass meetings which will be addressed by prominent speakers on various phases of civic righteousness.

The committee which is in charge of the arrangements for the school met today and elected President H. M. Crooks, of Albany College, chairman, and Professor A. M. Sanders, superintendent of the Albany public schools, secretary. Special committees were appointed on programme, grounds and finance.

A site for the school has not been chosen, but it is planned to hold most of the sessions out of doors. A large hall may possibly be erected for the purpose.

It is planned to put forth active efforts for this enterprise, and if it succeeds it may become an annual feature. It is a new experiment in religious work in this state, and President Crooks says it will combine some of the elements of Chautauque work and of a campmeeting, but will be different from either.

KLINE WILL CONTEST ESTATE

Heirs Defeated in Effort to Secure Portion of Vast Estate.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 6.—(Special.)—The heirs of Lazarus Kline lost today in their initial fight to obtain possession of a $400,000 portion of the estate of Caroline Kline-Galland, recently deceased, which Charlotte Kline, the separate estate of Lazarus Kline, the first husband of Mrs. Kline-Galland, and lawfully decedent to them by will many years ago.

Judge Morris heard arguments on the demurrers in the case three months ago, and today rendered his decision sustaining the demurrers, to the effect that there was a defect of the parties plaintiff and that the court had no jurisdiction of the subject-matter. The result of this will be to knock the Kline heirs out of court and probably finally dispose of their contention. If there is any further litigation it will have to come through the beginning of a new action.

Mrs. Caroline Kline-Galland left a fortune appraised in excess of $1,000,000 to benevolent purposes, among them the establishment of a Caroline Kline-Galland home for old people, bequests to existing charitable institutions and a $30,000 nucleus for the establishment of a tuberculosis hospital in Seattle. The devise of this magnificent fortune to charity inherited the larger portion of her worldly goods from Lazarus Kline, her first husband.

FIRE DRILLS IN THE SCHOOLS

EUGENE, Or., March 6.—(Special.)—The disaster at North Collingswood caused the people of Eugene to look into the condition of the public schools. Under the orders of Superintendent Alderman, the children are so well up in their fire drills that each of the four schoolhouses of the city can be thoroughly cleared within two minutes or less after sounding the alarm. One school was emptied in 1 minute and 37 seconds.

In the High School the alarm was given at 10 o'clock. The building filled with smoke introduced through the fan that forces the air into the different rooms. There was no chance for any one to know of the plan, and yet no confusion resulted, and the march was made out of the building in record time. In all the buildings, with the exception of one back door in the Geary building, opened outward, and this one is being repaired today.

A complete fire alarm system is being installed, so that the alarm may be given from the basement or any floor of the building, and the fire-fighting apparatus has been made more perfect.

memory" concerning the schedule of fees in force in the Secretary's office during Dunbar's term, and the court ordered that Mr. Koser be replaced upon the stand and given a chance to tell what he knows. In the event that counsel for defendant fails to produce Dunbar, as required by the court, the court intimated that proceedings for contempt would be immediately instituted against him.

Counsel Fulton gave the court notice that he would contest the order to the extent of an appeal to the Supreme Court, but this threat had no intimidating effect upon the court.

Dunbar Got $100,000.

It has been shown by the evidence thus far produced that Dunbar has collected approximately $100,000 in fees during his eight-year term, of which he turned over about $20,000 to the State Treasury under the law which requires him to turn over 80 per cent of the license fees collected from insurance companies, which would leave balance of about $80,000 to his credit and unaccounted for. In his statement, this afternoon, the court held that the provisions of the state constitution are supreme in the eyes of the court, and that any defendant, bound, under oath, to observe its restrictions, notwithstanding the acts of the Legislature to the contrary or the practices of his predecessors.
