GIVES HIS LIFE TO AID LEPERS

Father Conrardy Will Establish Colony for Afflicted in China.

PLANS ARE WELL DEFINED

Missionary Is Thoroughly Equipped by Eight Years Spent With Leper Colony on the Island of Molokai.

Father L. L. Conrardy, M. D., missionary to the lepers, is in Portland. He will speak at the Catholic Cathedral, probably next Sunday morning, when he will tell of his work among the lepers of the Hawaiian Islands, during the eight years he was on the island of Molokai. He is now on a tour to raise $45,000 to establish a colony at Canton, China, for the lepers of that region. He has succeeded in raising $28,000 of this amount, and looks to the charitably inclined to give him the remaining $17,000. Upon securing $45,000, Father Conrardy will place it where it will draw 5 per cent interest, and will thus have an annual income for the colony.

Following a carefully laid plan he will purchase a piece of ground at a low price, and proceed to erect three buildings, for the men, women and children. These are not to be after the order of the elaborately furnished hospitals to be found in America, but will be merely clean and comfortable huts, where the unfortunate human beings may live without being subjected to the filth and stench and squalor incident to a leper's life in China and India. Two other buildings will also be erected, one for the four nurses and physician who will sacrifice their lives with Dr. Conrardy for the benefit of the worthy cause, and another for himself. These will be simple in construction, Dr. Conrardy said yesterday that for himself he would be satisfied with a one-roomed structure. The parochial residence will probably cost $25, and the chapel and nurses' dormitory $75.

Sisters Will Nurse Lepers.

Three sisters, who are trained nurses, and native of Belgium, are to assist Dr. Conrardy in his work, in addition to a male nurse from Belgium, and a physician from England. The physician is also a priest, who entered the ministry after having lost his wife and children.

Dr. Conrardy expects to be able to purchase a suitable piece of land for $5000, and from this amount to be able also to erect his buildings. He intends to pay his doctor and nurses $500 a year. The land will raise bananas and rice, but not in sufficient quantities to feed the multitude who will come to him for succor. As the Chinese government will do nothing for them Dr. Conrardy figures that it will cost him at least $1 a month to feed each leper, and that it will cost $5 a year additional to provide the necessities for those upon whose bodies the disease has long been at work. It will thus cost him $1500 a year to provide for 100 lepers.

"The Chinese government does absolutely nothing for its lepers," said Father Conrardy yesterday. "I intend to pay a visit to the viceroy at Canton, and shall endeavor, with the assistance of the American Consul, to interest the government in the work of providing suitable shelter and food for these poor creatures who are never washed or fed, but treated worse than cats and dogs in America. Formerly many of them were burned or buried alive every year, and this treatment was sanctioned by the government. In some cases even the children of leprous parents would be burned alive, although they often had no taint of leprosy upon them. In India, however, where the prevailing conditions are much the same as they are in China, the English government has put a stop to this inhuman practice.

Not Necessarily Contagious.

"Leprosy is not as contagious a disease as many suppose, in fact, it is almost impossible to contract it unless one is innoculated. If one has a cut or abrasion of the skin, however, and washes the lepers' sores with the hands in this condition, or handles the tools with which they have worked, there is danger that he may contract the disease. It is not hereditary, many children of leprous parents being entirely free from the disease. Many such children live on the island of Molokai, in the Hawaiian group, and it is the intention of the sisters there to place them where they will be away from the danger of contracting it. Although they do not have the disease, the children of leprous parents usually die before they reach old age.

"While I was on the island of Molokai, where I went to take up the work laid down by Father Damien, who contracted leprosy through handling the carpenters' tools used by the lepers, I knew of a woman who would not desert her husband, when she found he had the leprosy, but came to the colony with him. She lived with him until he died, but did not contract the disease. She married another leper, and was still uncontaminated when I left the island."

Father Conrardy was born in Belgium, also the home of Father Damien, in 1841. Early in life he had a desire to give his life for the lepers, but he studied for the priesthood in the usual way, being at last appointed a missionary to India. He labored there successfully for a number of years. His health broke down under the heavy strain or arduous study in an enervating climate, and he came to Oregon the following year. He was here for 14 years, during which time he graduated from the medical department of the University of Oregon. For several years he worked among the Oregon Indians as a missionary.

Offers to Succeed Damien.

Hearing of the noble work which Father Damien was doing among the Hawaiian lepers, and that he would soon die, as he had contracted the disease, Father Conrardy reconsecrated his life to work for the lepers, and offered his services to Father Damien. For several years his proffered aid was rejected, but at last Father Damien wrote for him to sail for Molokai, which he did.

He worked among the lepers for eight years, but among the changes incident to Father Damien's death he was succeeded in 1896 by Father Pamphili, of the congregation of Picpus, who was a brother of Father Damien. He then went to England to personally thank an Anglican minister who had given $5000 for the cause of the colony while Father Damien lived. Father Conrardy was about to give up his work, but was persuaded by the Anglican minister to turn his attention to the neglected Chinese lepers. Dr. Conrardy was taken to Cardinal Vaughan, who commissioned him to begin work among them.

When Father Conrardy reached Canton the bishop at that place would not accept his services, and as he had no funds he could not begin his work. He saw enough, however, to convince him that there was need of just such a work as he expected to undertake. He returned to Oregon, took a four years' course in the medical department of the University of Oregon, and graduated. Then he set about raising funds for the colony and has raised three-fourths of the amount needed. When a change was made in the Canton See, Father Conrardy was warmly welcomed to his work there.

He is to visit his friends in San Francisco and Hawaii on his way to his new field of labor. He said yesterday that unless something unforseen should happen, he will sail March 17 or 24.

HEATING OF SCHOOLHOUSES

Correspondent Points Out Objections to Hot-Air Furnaces.

PORTLAND, March 8.—(To the Editor.)—The schoolhouse catastrophe near Cleveland, O., can and should be taken into minute consideration by the school directors of Portland and other cities.

Outrageously true, but still very evident, is the fact that school directors all over the United States are placing the lives of hundreds of thousands of the younger and older children of this country in a state of continual jeopardy for the sake of saving a few dollars. This is proven by the facts that ancient and antiquated hot air furnaces are being used in school buildings to offset the prevailing frigid weather. Year after year, in the above-mentioned system, cold air is passed over red-hot iron heaters, which devitalize and destroy the health-giving constituents of the air. This latter is then conveyed through tin ducts, which turn and twist through wooden partitions, thus having an abundant opportunity to dry and season these partitions to an inflamable state. Under these conditions, it is obvious that only a very small spark is needed to show what the furnace and hot air ducts would do to constructive materials in such buildings, at present utilized as centers of education. North Collingwood, O., experienced the above, which resulted in the death of 175 school children. Fire drill to a-thigh degree of perfection, could not overcome the narrow-mindedness and non-far-sightedness of man.

Should this be allowed to continue in our city, when within our reach there are heating systems of the steam and hot water styles, which furnish absolute safety from fire?

It stands to reason that with our public buildings and thousands of private homes scorning antiquated heating systems, and installing modern methods for their health-protecting qualities and as a protection against fire and because of economy in operating, our schools should be equipped with up-to-date heating systems. But no! Instead of being up to date and protecting our younger citizens, we allow them to sit daily in jeopardy, for the sake of saving a few dollars.

NOT DUE TO HEPBURN LAW

Bonaparte Comments on Failure of Western Maryland Road.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 8.—Attorney-General Bonaparte was asked today whether he thought the Western Maryland Railroad receivership was due to the so-called commodities clause of the Hepburn law.

"As to the cause of that receivership I know no more than your readers generally," replied the Attorney-General, "but as the 'commodities clause' is not altogether operative until May 11, I cannot see how its effects can have prevented the company from meeting its obligations on April 1.

"The cause of the receivership does not seem to me, at first sight, especially mysterious. Apparently the property could not earn enough to meet the charges with which it was burdened, and therefore the corporation was virtually and indeed, literally, insolvent."

DESIRE HIRSUTE GROWTH

Idaho Young Men Organize "Mustache Club" With Big Penalties.

TROY, Idaho, March 8.—(Special.)—With heavy penalties for breaking the agreement, 15 young men employed in banks, stores and offices have organized a "mustache club." The members bind themselves not to shave the upper lip for a period of three months. Violation of this agreement will be punished, it having been agreed that the guilty member shall be compelled to buy a $5 hat for each of the other members. The member making the poorest showing during the three months will entertain the club at a stag dinner. The member showing the most luxuriant and silky mustache will be given a handsome prize.

Improve Centralia Fire Department.

CENTRALIA, Wash., March 8.—(Special.)—The Centralia City Council is considering a complete reorganization of the Fire Department. The city has grown to such size that pushcart hose wagons propelled by man-power are no longer adequate. It is probable that a team of fire horses, and a combination hose, chemical and ladder wagon will be purchased, and that a new fire headquarters will be provided and several firemen employed. The initial cost will be $5000. A special meeting of the Council will be held next week to consider the proposition.

Tomorrow (Tuesday) will positively be the last day for discount on West Side gas bills.

SUSPEND THE RULES

Bill for Life-Saving Service Up Next Sunday.

PASSAGE TO BE HASTENED

Salaries of All Employes Will Be Increased—Oregon Coast Has Six Stations—More Men Are Needed for the Work.

House bill No. 17,710, being a measure to increase the efficiency of the life-saving service of the United States, will come before Congress Monday, March 16, under a suspension of the rules. The act provides for the increase of the salaries of superintendents, captains and surfmen in Government employ.

Men in the life-saving service lead strenuous lives and the pay is inadequate. The bill which will come up for passage next Monday carries a provision for the increase of salaries along the entire line of employes, and also for the protection of widows and orphans of men who are killed or disabled in the service.

There are now six stations on the Oregon coast and two more in process of erection. Competent men are hard to secure for the hazardous service at the salaries now being paid, and it is of the utmost importance to shippers and seafaring men that the bill go through. Captain D. F. Tozier, of the Revenue Cutter Service, is active in the matter, and has been instrumental in getting the matter before Congress on a suspension of rules.

TAKE FLOUR TO WEST COAST

Norwegian Steamer Mathilda Will Load at Tacoma Wharf.

TACOMA, March 8.—The Norwegian steamer Mathilda, under charter to W. R. Grace & Co., arrived from British Columbia, where she has been bunkering. The steamer will load about 600,000 feet of lumber at the Tacoma mill in addition to a large shipment of flour for delivery at West Coast ports. The Mathilda has a part cargo of redwood laden at Eureka.

The British steamer Aeon will be in port Wednesday to load about 1,000,000 feet of lumber for Australia and New Zealand.

Tomorrow the Norwegian steamer Henrik Ibsen will be here to take a shipment of flour for Vladivostok.

Later in the week the German steamer Wangard will come to Tacoma to load flour and general cargo for North China.

The British steamer Ningshow, which leaves here March 18 for Liverpool, via the Orient, is taking some shipments of selected lumber for delivery in Great Britain and on the Continent.

CAPT. BURKLAND ENTERTAINS

Master of Norwegian Ship Colonna Keeps Open House.

Captain Berkland, master of the Norwegian ship Colonna, entertained a number of friends on board his vessel yesterday. Countrymen and countrywomen of the skipper crowded the decks and cabins of the craft all the afternoon and all were entertained in the manner of the country. An orchestra played Swedish and Norwegian airs on the quarter deck and in the cabin tea and coffee were served.

The Colonna is a smart vessel and beat the Verbena on the voyage north from Callao by nine days. She is an iron craft and is fitted a trifle different from the ordinary wind-jammer which enters Portland. She carries three masts and is square rigged throughout. She is under charter to carry wheat to the United Kingdom or the continent.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

During the last 12 hours there has been a slow but steady fall in pressure over the North Pacific States, but fair weather still continues on the Pacific Slope and the temperatures have risen everywhere slightly. In Montana and the Dakotas it is much warmer. The indications are that the fair weather will last over Monday in this district and by Monday evening cloudiness will increase and be followed by rain along the Coast. The temperatures will remain nearly stationary, being below normal in the early morning and above normal during the afternoon.

FORECASTS.

Portland and vicinity—Monday, fair; north to east winds.

Western Oregon and Western Washington—Monday, fair, except increasing cloudiness followed by rain near the immediate coast; easterly winds.

Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and Idaho—Monday, fair.

EATING WITH HIS STOMACH

That's what the man who bolts his food without thoroughly chewing it, tries to do.

This is particularly true when he uses soft, starchy foods, which seldom get the necessary digestion by the saliva, as nature intended, because most people swallow such foods as quickly as possible. This leads to weakened digestive organs, fermentation, imperfect nutrition, and sometimes appendicitis.

Grape-Nuts

must be chewed, and for this, as well as other reasons, this food has saved many from chronic intestinal troubles and all the misery that means. If there's one thing about Grape-Nuts of greater interest than its scientific food qualities, it is its remarkable practical adaptability to all weakened conditions of the digestive organs and its power to build them up quickly.
