LIVES IN FEAR OF "ROLLER" LEADER

Father of Esther Mitchell Urges Arrest of Hurt, the Notorious.

HELPED KILL CREFFIELD

Charles Mitchell Willing to Testify to This Charge—Says Sect Is Reorganizing—Sounds Warning to Avoid More Bloodshed.

SEATTLE, March 9.—Charles Mitchell, father of George Mitchell, the youth who shot and killed Joshua Crefeld, leader of the Holy Rollers, and of Esther Mitchell, who in turn shot and killed her brother George, has written to Sheriff L. C. Smith, warning him that the Holy Rollers have re-organized and that O. V. Hurt, father of Maud Crefeld, wife of Joshua Crefeld, who was arrested in connection with Esther Mitchell's crime and who subsequently committed suicide in the Kink County Jail, is to be leader of the re-organized sect.

Mitchell charges that Hurt incited George Mitchell to commit the murder, and says that he furnished the gun with which the crime was committed. Further, Mitchell charges that his entire family has been threatened of late by members of the Holy Rollers. Mitchell asks for the arrest of Hurt on the charge of complicity in the death of Crefeld stating his willingness to testify at such a trial. Esther Mitchell is now in the State Asylum at Stellacoom.

"I now beseech you to use any means possible to further avert bloodshed and the wrecking of families by crushing this Holy Roller re-organization and arresting its leader before they cause more trouble," he says in conclusion. The letter was written at the home of Mitchell in Mount Vernon, Ill.

EXPLAINS LEWELLING DEAL

U'Ren Says He Doesn't Worry About What Others Say of Him.

OREGON CITY, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—William Simon U'Ren does not appear to be concerned about the published reports relative to his relations with the Lewellings at Milwaukie. When asked for his side of the story, Mr. U'Ren grinned.

"I have never posed as a trance medium in my life," he said. "Such stories are foolish, and all of these things were handed out to me in the campaign of 1898, when I was running against George C. Brownell for the State Senate.

"I have never bothered other people with my religious beliefs, and I have never been concerned about the religious feelings of others. If I am anything, I am a Spiritualist and I have never tried to conceal it, and I don't suppose the people of Oregon care anything at all about it.

"As for the statement that I used $4000 to promote the initiative and referendum, it is not true. The Lewellings did furnish some money, possibly a few hundred dollars. I attended to their business as if it was my own, and I did it without pay, for I saw that the business could not succeed. The Lewellings had a three-year contract with me, with an option of a three-year renewal, and when the first three years expired, it was they who insisted on renewing the option. No finer men ever lived than Seth Lewelling and Alfred Lewelling.

"In the campaign of 1898, Mrs. Lewelling and J. D. Stevens flooded the county with literature in denunciation of me, and a Portland paper gave me whole pages at a time. But the people of Milwaukie and my neighbors in Oregon City do not believe the infamous reports that have been circulated against me, and I can't help what my enemies believe.

"You can say for me that I have issued a challenge to G. W. Stapleton, of Portland, who is anti-Statement No. 1, and who favors a party statement, to meet me in joint debate at the adjourned meeting of the Republican Club in Portland next Thursday night. I hope the antis will not repeat their ill-smelling performance of last Thursday."

EXTEND TWIN FALLS SYSTEM

Plan to Make It Largest Irrigated Tract in the World.

BOISE, Idaho, March 9.—(Special.)—News was given out today that plans have been well advanced for the further reclamation of lands under the Carey act in the Twin Falls region. The parties so successful in past projects in that section are interested in the new development, which, when completed, will give this section the largest area of irrigated land in the world.

The feature of this prospective work is the carrying of the south side Twin Falls canal across the Salmon River for the irrigation of some 800,000 acres of choice land lying between the Salmon and the Bruneau. Some idea of the magnitude of this system is gained from the figures showing the size of the individual tracts:

Twin Falls, south side, 220,000 acres; Twin Falls, north side, 200,000; Twin Falls, Salmon River, 150,000 acres; Twin Falls pumping plans, 50,000 acres. Total Twin Falls tracts, 1,420,000. Idaho Irrigating Company, 110,000 acres; Glens Ferry Company, 20,000 acres; grand total, 1,550,000.

FIRM STAND FOR VARSITY

Pendleton High School Indorses University Appropriation.

PENDLETON, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—Pendleton High School today went on record in favor of sustaining the appropriation for the University of Oregon by adopting a resolution which closed with the following paragraph:

"Resolved, That we, the Associated Students of the Pendleton High School, take a firm stand for the University of Oregon and deplore any attempt to hold up or limit the appropriation, and that we exert such power and influence as we may have to encourage the voters of the state to give the university their hearty support, and that we solicit the co-operation and support of other high schools throughout the state in our endeavor to uphold the standards of the University of Oregon."

COLONISTS RUSH TO COAST

Over 1000 Have Reached Spokane in Last 24 Hours.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 9.—(Special.)—Over 1000 colonists reached Spokane in the last 24 hours. Of this number about one-third stopped off at Spokane, while the remainder went through to the coast. It has been the heaviest travel since the reduced rates went into effect March 1, the travel heretofore being light. Yesterday some of the trains on the Northern Pacific carried extra cars, and even standing room was at a premium. On this train there was scarcely breathing space till Butte was reached, where many were going to work in the mines that have recently resumed. Most of the colonists are from Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas.

FORGER MAKES GOOD CLEAN-UP

Stranger Passes Four Bad Checks on Baker Saloons Saturday.

BAKER CITY, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—Four saloons of this city were cleverly victimized for $16.50 each, Saturday night, when a smooth forger cashed bogus checks at the various places. He began about 9 o'clock at the Resort Saloon and worked the Log-cabin, Idle Hour and the Club, passing checks on the First National Bank of this city with the forged signature of John J. Gleeson, a plumber here. The imitation was very clever, and was not discovered until the checks were presented at the bank this morning.

The man gave his name as F. Madden, and appeared to be a mechanic or plumber. He is about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds, appears to be about 45 years old, wore a soft hat and a dark suit. He is of dark complexion and seems nervous when he talks. The four checks were all passed within half an hour, and it is very likely that the man left on the eastbound train at 10:15.

ONE FIRM PAYS $61,000 TAX

O. R. & N. Promptly Meets Heavy Assessment in Umatilla County.

PENDLETON, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—Taxes to the amount of $61,000 were paid today by the O. R. & N. Co. through its local agent, F. J. Quinlan. This is the largest tax payment ever received at the local Sheriff's office, as the assessment is higher this year than ever paid before. This is also the first time the railroad company has ever paid promptly and secured the rebate of 3 per cent. The railroad is assessed at $160 a mile, and its single line of telegraph at $120 a mile.

CAKE OPENS CAMPAIGN

SPEAKS TO LARGE AUDIENCE AT FOREST GROVE.

Explains Advantages of Popular Indorsement of Candidates and Urges Fealty to Party.

FOREST GROVE, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—Masonic hall was filled tonight by those who desired to hear H. M. Cake, of Portland, in the opening speech of his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

The Senatorial aspirant was introduced by Walter Hoge, City Recorder. The meeting had been advertised, but the crowd was much larger than was expected. Mr. Cake declared that the opening of waterways of Oregon and practical development of the vast possibilities of this state should be made real issues in the campaign rather than the efforts of machine politicians to resort to the old methods. His explanation and advocacy of the primary law and Statement No. 1 were heartily received.

He began his address by showing the record of deadlocks that have occurred in various states under the old system of electing United States Senators. In not less than 15 years he showed that in seven states charges of corruption have been put forward with enough of evidence to make a National scandal. Investigation by the United States Senate showed that evidence of the corrupt use of money was conclusive. His showing, he said, did not include charges which have been made by the Legislatures that have never been brought before the Senate.

He showed that early efforts were made for conventional indorsements. This was in 1858, when Douglas was indorsed by the Democrats and Lincoln by the Republicans. He quoted constitutional provisions for the election of Senators by the people.

Mr. Cake explained his reasons for appearing on the platform. He indorsed Republican principles and the policies of Roosevelt; urged fealty to party, and showed that Republican policies were in accord with the interests of the state.

Mr. Cake refrained from acrimonious discussion and his address was free of abuse or condemnation of any other candidate.

U'REN MAY YET WITHDRAW

Clackamas Candidate Says He Will Know Definitely Within Week.

OREGON CITY, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—The report is still current here that W. S. U'Ren will soon withdraw from the race for the United States Senate. Mr. U'Ren himself has denied the story, but when seen tonight admitted that it was a possibility.

"People have different views about my candidacy," he said. "Some of them believe that with Mr. Cake and myself in the field the Statement No. 1 vote will be divided and that will lead to the nomination of Fulton. I talked to several of my warm friends this afternoon and they told me Fulton is an impossibility and that Cake is a weak brother, and advised me to stay in the race."

It was suggested to Mr. U'Ren that his withdrawal should come soon, if at all.

"I shall know definitely within a week," he replied.

PASTOR SPRINGS A SENSATION

Finds He Can't Agree With Wife, So He Quits the Town.

CATHLAMET, Wash., March 9.—A sensation was created at last night's services at the Congregational Church at the close of the sermon, when Rev William Snape, the pastor, announced that that would be his last appearance in a Cathlamet pulpit, simply giving as a reason that there were differences between himself and Mrs. Snape which were unreconcilable and that he would leave the community. His action is the talk of the town and all sorts of rumors are rife. Mr. Snape accepted a call here last October and his pastorate has been popular and acceptable to a vast majority of the people, who regret this affair.

FORMING CLUB AT ROSEBURG

Commercial Interests Get Together for Boosting Campaign.

ROSEBURG, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—A meeting is being held in this city this evening at which organization of a commercial club is in progress. Many business men have already subscribed their names as members, and tonight a permanent organization is being affected and officers elected. A great deal of work awaits the new club, as the street paving and advertising campaigns are just inaugurated.

ORCHARD IN COURT

Self-Confessed Assassin to Answer Charge Today.

MAY STAND ON OLD PLEA

Orchard's Attorney Professes He Is Unable to Say Whether Prisoner Will Demand Trial or Ask for Court's Sentence at Once.

BOISE, Idaho, March 9.—(Special.)—In the District Court for Canyon County, at Caldwell, tomorrow, the case of Harry Orchard, charged with the murder of the late ex-Governor Steunenberg, will be called, and there is much speculation as to what Orchard will do when arraigned. Frank Wyman, Orchard's attorney, confesses that after a number of interviews with the man who has so often confessed to the terrible crime, he now has no idea whether Orchard will allow the plea of not guilty to stand or will plead guilty.

From a statement made by Mr. Wyman it seems that Orchard is inclined to plead guilty and take his punishment. Mr. Wyman said he had learned within the past few days that influences had been working on Orchard to let his plea of not guilty stand. It is not known that Judge Wood, who will sit in the court, will allow Orchard to change his plea, even if he so desires. When Orchard was first arraigned he stood mute and the plea now entered of not guilty was then ordered by the court.

Under the old law a prisoner was not allowed to plead guilty to a charge of first-degree murder, but it is now permissible if the court does not rule otherwise. Should Orchard plead guilty, all that will remain will be for the court to sentence him. Should he stand on the plea now recorded, a trial must follow and the time will probably be set for its beginning.

From the penitentiary word is received that Orchard is perfectly calm in the face of circumstances, that his mind is fully made up as to what will be his fate, and that he expresses himself as willing to face the punishment.

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE EUGENE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Charles S. Williams.

EUGENE, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—Charles S. Williams, who was this evening unanimously chosen president of the Eugene Commercial Club, has been identified with the organization since its birth. He has served as its vice-president during the past year. He is a member of the Eugene Mill and Elevator Company and is interested in farming and fruit-raising.

The esteem in which he is held by the 250 members of his club is shown by the fact that he was their unanimous choice, his selection being largely due to the efficiency with which he has filled the office of vice-president.

WHEN WIFEY WAS LONESOME

She Accepted Other Company and Now Husband Is Jealous.

TACOMA, Wash., March 9.—(Special.)—Yesterday W. A. Nesley, of North Yakima, complained to the police that City Controller Meads was trying to win his wife's affections and that, though he had come to Tacoma to see her, he could not find her. Another reason for thinking there was something wrong, he explained, was a letter he received at Yakima from his wife, in which she said: "Mr. (you know) is getting "buggy" about me. He wants to write to mamma and ask her if he can't have me." Nesley jumped at the conclusion that his wife meant the city controller.

Today Mr. Meads admitted that he had taken Mrs. Nesley to the theater and afternoon dinners and that it was with full knowledge of her husband, and even by his invitation. Mrs. Nesley corroborates Meads, and adds:

"When my husband was at home we entertained Mr. Meads and he entertained us. We went out together then. When Mr. Nesley left for North Yakima he gave his permission to receive Mr. Meads, knowing that I would be lonesome."

Meads is a candidate for renomination as controller and the Democrats are preparing to use the Nesley matter against him.

SINK OIL WELL AT DALLAS

D. M. Watson Gets Lease and Will Start Drilling at Once.

DALLAS, Or., March 9.—(Special.)—R. F. Whitaker, a farmer residing near this city, has leased a portion of his property to D. M. Watson, of Portland, who will begin drilling for oil on the premises immediately. The terms of the contract give Mr. Watson eight days in which to begin the work, and four months to complete the first well. After that time, the lease shall continue for ten years, or during such time as the wells continue to produce oil in paying quantities. It is claimed by experts who have examined the premises, that the indications of the presence of oil are exceedingly good. An effort to sink a well was made about four years ago, but was finally abandoned because of the lack of financial backing.

Denied Right to Release Larks.

TACOMA, Wash., March 9.—(Special.)—The Secretary of Agriculture has refused Dr. McCutcheon permission to release in and about Tacoma the English skylarks which he received several days ago from the old country. Dr. McCutcheon, who is a lover of birds, has imported songsters on several other occasions, but this is the first time that permission was denied him to release the warblers.

Dr. McCutcheon today wired an appeal to President Roosevelt.
